SCRANTON, NOVEMBER 2, 1894.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

- State. Governor.....D. H. HASTINGS. Lieut. Governor.....WALTER LAYN. Auditor-General.....AMOS H. MYLIN. Sec'y Internal Affairs.....JAMES W. LAITY. Sec'y of Education.....W. H. HOPKINS. Commissioner of Agriculture.....GEO. P. BROW. Congressmen-at-large.....JAMES A. GROW.

THE SCRANTON OF TODAY.

Come and inspect our city. Elevation above the tide, 740 feet. Extremely healthy. Estimated population, 129,103,000. Registered voters, 20,390. Value of school property, $750,000. Number of school children, 12,000. Average amount of bank deposits, $10,000,000. It is the metropolis of northeastern Pennsylvania. Can produce electric power cheaper than Niagara. No better point in the United States at which to establish new industries. See how we grow: Population in 1890.....5,233. Population in 1870.....35,000. Population in 1880.....45,500. Population in 1890.....75,215. Population in 1894 (estimated).....103,000. And the end is not yet.

The Oakford alley sewer eagerly fathers the most ridiculous lies and the Democratic committee now supporting it ought to close it up for the sake of decency. It will drive away hundreds of Democrats; but as the committee-men appear to like it, we would suggest an afternoon edition also. Bring in the fifth. Let it be unconfined.

They're on the Run.

Despite all the simulated confidence and flattered brag of the local Democracy, it is on the run, and every hour adds to the panic of its flight. Already the fight has been abandoned except in spots; and the fighting in one of these spots—the judgeship—is conducted by friends of the Democratic candidate upon the principle of anything to beat Archibald. Offers to trade three votes for one are as plentiful as fallen leaves, but the very eagerness of these political brokers to go back on their other candidates at once gives their case away, and we are happy to say that few genuine Republicans are entering into any such deals.

Another element of disappointment to the Democrats has been the utter collapse of the much-talked-of bolt on the part of certain Republicans who, having been fairly defeated in the convention of their own party, have volunteered their services to the political enemy and sought to carry over a personal following with them. It deserves to be said in grateful recognition of the sterling loyalty of the Republican masses that this conspiracy of envenomed pique has signally failed of its purpose. Not a corporal's guard of malcontents remain on the outskirts; and these will be less than a drop in the bucket compared to the new converts who have been literally driven out of the Democratic party by the insufferable filth and nastiness of the imported Bourbon organ-grinders in their campaign of mud-throwing and unaccountable lying.

The situation today is full of hope for honest and reputable Republicanism in this county. Spurred by Democratic desperation to the necessity of harmonious and centralized work, the party of clean principles and clean candidates has begun to put forth its best efforts; and the momentum of its forward progress will literally sweep the field on Tuesday next. Let no faint-hearted Protectionist be deceived by the profuse brag and bluster of the paid clackers of the opposition. The Republican ticket in this county is going to win. It is going to win from congressman down to jury commissioner. It is going to win by majorities reaching up to the unprecedented vote for Gusha A. Grow; and in its victory there will be no hint of treason nor scent of treachery.

Circulars bearing the signature of John F. McDonald, of Carbonate, secretary of the Liquor Dealers' association, are being distributed in the Fourth Legislative district urging the recipients to vote for Michael Turnover Burke because "it has been decided to be for the best interests of the liquor dealers" that he should be re-elected. Is this the same Burke that was so prominent at St. Paul, a few months ago, as a temperance advocate?

The annual prognostications of the goose bone prophet are at hand. The bone is nearly white this year, according to readers of the goose, which is an indication that snow will mantle the earth from December until April. Corn husks are thicker than usual; chipmunks and woodchucks are fat enough to kill, and their fur is more dense than that of an Alaska seal. It is announced that they, too, will predict cold weather by seeking winter quarters before the foot ball season is fairly on. Everything considered, we are in for a roaring old winter calculated to make the few teeth that remain in the jaws of the oldest inhabitant chatter in remembrance of the pioneer days of Sloum Hollow. Under existing conditions Scranton can afford to look upon the predictions of the goose bone prophets with feelings untinged with regret. Continued cold weather means increased activity in our mining industries and attendant good times in local business circles. The most gruesome prophecies of the goose bone student will inspire no terror among the hustling residents of the Electric City.

Smith's friends are offering to give three votes for Republican candidates to one for the Judge. How do the other Democratic nominees like this?

What Democracy Has Done.

Reports received by the American Economist from 320 different employers of labor say that these employers are this year only able to find work for 20,800 fewer hands than in 1892. They paid almost $8,000,000 less money for wages and their output, or the amount of business which they transacted, was nearly one-half less than during the first six months of 1892. The average earnings of each wage-earner between Jan. 1 and June 30, 1892, was $250. The average earnings of each wage-earner during the corresponding six months of this year was $195. Thus there was a loss to every one of these individuals who were employed.

The McKinley census that was taken by the American Protective Tariff League in 1892 showed that over $400,000,000 of money had been invested in new or enlarged industries within two years. Also that work had been provided for 7,253 additional hands. "Now," says the Economist, commenting on this exhibit, "we are under the painful necessity of showing that 20,800 people have been deprived of work in 229 different industries. Also that those who were at work have received nearly $8,000,000 less money within six months than they did two years ago. It is further shown that the amount of business was but 56 per cent of that transacted in 1892.

"A year ago this month we published the results of our industrial census. This showed that there had been a decrease in business within twelve months of 47.2 per cent, a decrease in wages earned of 53 per cent, and a decrease in the number of persons employed in factories of about 60 per cent. We now have to report a shrinkage of 20 per cent in the number of persons employed, a loss of 45 per cent in the amount of wages earned and of 44 per cent in the output of industrial establishments. A year ago the average decrease was recorded as $2.35 per week in the wages of each employe, or $61.10 for the half year's work. We now record a loss of $55 for each person for the first six months' work this year as compared with the money which he earned during the same period in 1892.

"If we look back still further and compare present results with the census of 1890 we find on the basis of the reports that we have received that there were as many as 1,413,559 idle persons in the country this year who were actively employed in 1890. We further find that there was more than $1,000,000,000 less wages earned than in 1892. We further find that the value of the product of the factories has decreased by more than $5,000,000,000. Also that $2,000,000,000 less money has been paid for material to be used in manufactures."

Because these hard facts belie the glowing promises made two years ago by Democratic orators and editors, and render no less than just the present Republican effort to hold these false political prophets to a rigid accountability for their almost incalculable costly deceptions. Mr. Singery and other Democratic leaders today have the audacity to accuse us of "calamity crying." If there is calamity in telling the simple truth—and every voter in Pennsylvania, down in the depth of his real consciousness, knows, of a truth, that business has dwindled, that wages have fallen and that industry has grown stagnant during these Democratic times—let it no longer be calamity to the wage-earners of America, but to the party and the party leaders who have so greatly deceived the people, and who are now actively engaged in trying to repeat their bold bunco game.

A prominent Republican in the upper end was offered $250 if he would vote and work for Judge Smith. The other Democratic candidates are anxiously inquiring where the money comes from.

Judge Smith could never have had any expectation of an election except one based on the alienation of Republican votes from Judge Archibald by misrepresentations of some kind or other. On these he has banked all his hopes. The facts are now coming to the surface; misrepresentations are of no avail; political cunning has done all it can and is powerless to stem the tide now setting in toward our honored president Judge—a tide that will sweep him into office by a overwhelming majority. Judge Smith of a day or two is not preferred by the people of this county to Judge Archibald of a life time. Ten years of faithful service on the bench is better than less than one year's service by appointment.

The friends of Judge Smith are offering to sell out the entire Democratic ticket and to trade off every candidate on it to help him. His cause is clearly lost, as it ought to be.

Quinnan's Sympathy Dodge.

A determined effort is being made by the friends of John P. Quinnan, the Democratic legislative candidate on the South Side, to convey the impression that when Mr. Quinnan lost in his recent election contest he was cheated out of his pay as a legislator. Assertions to this effect have recently been made in public meetings, the obvious purpose of them being to create sympathy for Mr. Quinnan and thus, if possible, effect his re-election.

The falsity of this charge is easily demonstrated. Act. No. 386, on page 490 of the Laws of Pennsylvania, session of 1893, made an appropriation to Mr. Quinnan of $2,720; of which $1,500 was for salary in full for the entire session; $70 for mileage; $100 for postage; $50 for stationery; $500 for counsel fees in the contested election case of Okell vs. Quinnan; and $500 for personal expenses incurred during the contest.

This act was introduced by a Republican member of the last house of representatives, passed both branches of the Republican legislature without amendment and was approved by Governor Pattison June 29, 1893.

Thus whatever claim Mr. Quinnan may have had upon the commonwealth of Pennsylvania has been fully and honorably cancelled; and cancelled in no mean or beggarly spirit, but generously and with a free hand. Mr. Quinnan needs nobody's sympathy. He was paid every cent that was due him for wages, was abundantly compensated for the expenses incident to the litigation over his seat in the house; and in addition was presented with a farewell remembrance of $500 in crisp, clean cash. The South Sider who shall this year refuse to vote for Alexander T. Connell because of sympathy for Mr. Connell's antagonist will simply be deluded by an unfair representation of facts.

This is what William M. Singery, Democratic candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, said on Oct. 6, before the Southwestern Democratic association of Philadelphia: "Our Republican friends are campaigning the state entirely as a lot of mourners at a funeral procession, weeping over the death of the McKinley law. Protection as a principle I do not believe will ever again be a battle-cry for either party in this country. Protection as a principle is dead. It is damned, and the damnation of its taking off was the McKinley law." Do the voters of Lackawanna county agree with this?

Why to Vote for Vaughan.

It is not merely a guess, it is almost a mathematical certainty that the next governor of Pennsylvania will be a Republican. While he will be the chief executive of all the people in this state, and will honestly and honorably fulfill the oath and obligations of his high office, yet it is simply human that he will select his confidants and advisers from among the members of his own political household; and will not go to the political enemy either with or for favors.

Thus it is apparent that a Democratic state senator, for instance, no matter what his character, ability or experience, will not, after the third Tuesday in next January, command the same influence over legislation pertaining to his district that will be wielded by a Republican senator. Instead of being, as at present, one of the few who have ready access to the gubernatorial ear he will be one of the few who will, in any legislation of a political nature at least, be the last to be consulted. The importance of this plain fact to a county with the varied and numerous interests of Lackawanna county, and to a city like our own, which has during the past few years, sprung up into state and even national reputation, will be apparent to all who shall take the occasion to think just what the "ear of the governor" signifies.

The gentleman who now represents the Twentieth district in the state senate has been unconsciously fortunate in having been the political beneficiary of an accident that gave Republican Pennsylvania a Democratic executive. Even with this almost invaluable prestige at his command he has not as yet astonished the senate by the magnitude of his achievements. But with this prestige gone; with a Republican governor occupying the position now occupied by Robert E. Pattison, what could Senator McDonald do, though he had the voice not of men but of angels? The people of Lackawanna county, as a business investment, would lose money by his re-election; they would lose money through the lack of aggressive forward legislation which a Republican senator could carry through to victory and which a Democratic senator very probably could not carry through to victory; they would lose money by losing influence, prominence and prestige.

While this matter-of-fact argument applies with particular force to the winning candidacy of James C. Vaughan, it is equally applicable to the candidacies of Alexander T. Connell and Charles P. O'Malley, the other Republicans on the legislative ticket who are seeking election in Democratic districts; and it likewise adds strength to the candidacies of Representative John R. Parr and Candidate Frank J. Grover, who would be at once in political touch with the incoming state administration. A vote for each of these men is a vote that will tell perceptibly in the upbuilding of the county as affected by state legislation.

The Times smut machine, imported for this campaign, is still at work. It had better turn its attention to the candidates on its own ticket, who have abandoned their county committee and a common cause and are each at work trying to save himself, no matter what the cost.

STATE POLITICS.

Franklin county Populists have organized a club. Editor McCarthy, of the Hazleton Sentinel, says he is ready for Hines. Pickpockets are following in Singery's wake. They are non-partisan, however. Strubinger, of York, is beaten; and so is Buckalew. Democrats themselves privately admit it. Pittsburg's crack American club will help McKinley close his Ohio campaign at Massillon and Canton next Monday. General Hastings will push his $50,000 damage suit against Lawyer Frank J. O'Connor, of Johnstown, to the bitter end. Judge Ewing has decided that a special ballot will be needed in cases where borough voters to increase their indebtedness.

A. J. Colborn, according to the Philadelphia papers, is tearing the Wilson bill to shreds, down in the Quaker City, and casting the shreds to the breeze. While speaking for McCullis Wednesday night, Philadelphia City Chairman Maurice F. Wilcox, Dem., said McClellan should have been nominated. Governor Pattison is reported to have got tired of traveling with the Singery party and to have concluded he has done enough volunteer service in a hopeless cause.

Slip, in trying to get Democrats to make trades for him, has got into hot water with the remainder of the Democratic candidates and will be unmercifully knifed. The Republicans of Dauphin county have, it is said, been doing some heavy work in the past two days and will keep it up until next Monday night in an effort to make Hastings' majority 5,000. One of the amusing things of the moment is Senator Faulkner's assertion that Pennsylvania Democrats will actually gain two or three congressmen in addition to holding their present strength. Billy Hines is great on making libel suits bluffs, but he is the last man in Luzerne county to support his vaunted record to a judicial trial. His suit will be dropped quicker than a live coal after election.

Protection as a principle is dead and damned," according to William M. Singery. The people will discuss this proposition on Tuesday, and we advise the general commotion to keep his eyes on the returns.

Assistant Secretary of the Interior Bay-bolds, the man who has helped Hoke Smith to heap contumely on the heads of deserving Union veterans, has injected himself into the Pennsylvania campaign, and will make hundreds of votes for Hastings.

Now that Billy Hines sees a possible $100,000 dangling before his enraptured vision in the form of damages from the Hazleton Sentinel he will concern do to call him a poor man. A man with a $100,000 character is a rich and racy novelty in politics, these days.

These are great days for libel suits. First Judge Reeder sued Howard Mutchler. Next General Hastings sued Lawyer O'Connor, of Johnstown. After that, Billy Hines sued the Hazleton Sentinel for $100,000 and now George Hintick of Waynesburg, sues Ernest F. Acheson, the Republican editor-candidate in the Twenty-fourth district, wanting $50,000.

If it is any consolation to Representative M. T. Burke he is welcome to the knowledge that he is not the only candidate for reelection who is encountering trouble by reason of his opposition to the Farr free book for state senator. T. Merrick and Jerome B. Niles are kept busy up in Toga trying to explain their respective votes. They, however, are not likely enough to admit what they did. They are not trying to skulk out of it.

Judge A. O. Furst, who has upon occasion presided in the local courts, has decided to resign the president judgeship of the Forty-ninth judicial district on Nov. 15, in order to resume the practice of law. His record the past ten years has been so remarkable by a careful estimate it appears that he has disposed of 3,000 cases in the district during his term of office. These do not include numerous orphan's court cases that came under his disposal. Hon. Morgan B. Williams has published the following in the local papers in making a gallant fight for the office of state senator from the Twenty-sixth senatorial district, and will without doubt be elected by a large majority. As a member of the house of representatives from 1882 to 1888, Mr. Hardenberg made a record which entitles him to the confidence of the voters of Wayne and Susquehanna counties. The Archibald Citizen pays Mr. Hardenberg a merited tribute as follows: "Edmund B. Hardenberg, Republican nominee for state senator in the Wayne-Susquehanna district, is universally respected and beloved by all classes and creeds. He is always found on the side of right, and of the oppressed, and has earned a reputation for honesty and true in every relation of life that he may be safely trusted with the best interests of the people of that district in November."

Hon. Morgan B. Williams has published the following in the local papers in support of John Leisenring, who defeated him for the Republican congressional nomination in Luzerne county: "The election on Tuesday next is a most important one, as important and vital as any held for a great many years. The principle of protection to American labor and American capital is at stake. To the victor could be fraught with deeper significance, for upon it depends the continued peace and prosperity of the nation. Individual disappointments and interests must pale before considerations like these. I should be untrue to myself and my country if I permitted the election to take place without warning my friends to stand shoulder to shoulder with the army of voters who mean to cast their ballots for John Leisenring and the entire Republican ticket. I shall vote for Mr. Leisenring willingly, because I believe it to be absolutely necessary to redeem this congressional district from Democratic misrule and to put it in line with all the other districts that are represented at Washington by Republicans, and I hope my friends will do likewise."
