In 1893 the rate per 100 bushels for drawing coke was 55 cents, while in 1894 it was 43 cents, a reduction of 22 per cent. Some of the coke companies are now paying 70 cents per 100 bushels for mining.

Each year increases the opposition of the railroad companies to giving re- M duced rates to ministers. Opponents of this custom say they are paid N usually good salaries and are able to pay full rates as well as others. The Indianapolis Journal thinks it is probable it will end in giving reduced rates to ministers only on the initial road at the point they officiate as clerygymen, but they will not be able to go from sheet nastiness.
