ELOQUENCE OF FAIR WOMEN

Many Bright Speeches Delivered by Convention Delegates Yesterday.

OBJECTS OF THE Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. William Boyd's Address at the Elm Park Church-An Impressive Farewell Service-Those Who Spoke in the Churches of the City.

Women's Christian associations resumed the sessions on Saturday morning, when the report of Mrs. H. M. Boles, state chairman; was read by Mrs. Everhart. The report was an excellent summary of the work accomplished by the state committee, and dealt with the nine city and twenty college associations in the state. Mrs. Boles made the following suggestions: That the secand Thursday of October be observed as a special day for prayer: suggestions as to systematic Bible study; that the members in their daily devotions bear in mind all the officers of the association; that the question of sending delegates to the summer school be condered as soon as possible; that the nembers subscribe for the Evangel; that a monthly letter be compiled at the state headquarters, in which items of nterest to the associations generally be ecorded; that international training of the Bible school be commended; that the ity associations understand clearly a symmetrical development, physically and mentally, as well as religiously; and that $2,500 be raised for state work. The treasurer, Mrs. H. J. Carr, presented her annual report, which set forth the total of revenue at $1,136.14, and expenditure at $1,117.81, leaving a balance in hand of $15.33. The state secretary, Miss Mary S. Dunn, also preented the annual report relating to her department, showing that she had traveled 8.073 miles and had attended eleven board meetings, conducted sixty sectings, and participated in forty three meetings.

Bible Study Lesson. Professor J. H. Gilmore continued his esson in Bible study and showed the members how to prepare to teach a Bible lesson. His remarks and suggestions were very interesting and were followed with great interest. The afternoon session opened with a roll call, after which Miss Agnes Hill, secretary to Madras, India, discussed the subject "Answered prayer in Association Work." Mrs. William Boyd, of Evanston, Ill., read a well-prepared paper on "The Evan-gelical Basts and Our Relation to the Women's Christian Association," which excited great admiration from the large number of ladies, who were deeply in-terested in both subject and paper. Miss R. F. Morse, chairman of the state executive committee of New York, conducted a "question drawer," and her

Mrs. Carr, of Scranton; Mrs. Bevier, ganization of the Scranton Greutli-verein of Pittsburg; Mrs. Kirk, of West Chester, and Mrs. Colvin, of Scranton, were re-elected members of the state committee Yesterday morning Miss R. F. Morse conducted a meeting for personal blesslog at the Young Woman's Christian Association hall, and sermons were preached in several city churches in the corning appropriate for young women. In the afternoon a gospel meeting was conducted by Mrs. William Boyd in the Penn Avenue Baptist church, when a large number of ladies attended.

Services Last Evening.

In the evening addresses were de livered by ladies attending the convention in the following churches: Elm Park Methodist Episcopal, Mrs. William E. Boyd, Evanston, Ill.; Penn Avenue Baptist, Miss M. H. Taylor, state secretary, New York; Second Presbyterlan, Miss Agnes Gale Hill, Madras, India; Grace Reformed, Miss R. F. Morse, New York; Providence Presby terian, Rev. Guild's, Mrs. L. D. Wishard, New York; Dunmore Presbyterian, Miss Sarah Kirk, West Chester; Providence North Main Avenue Baptist, Miss Van Nort, Bethlehem; Green Ridge Baptist, Miss McGranaban, general secretary at Williamsport; Hyde Park, Welsh Congregationalist, Miss Emma Hays, general secretary at Pittsburg; Park Place Methodist Episcopal, Miss Carlotta Codding, general secretary, Wilkes-Barre; Providence Methodis Episcopal, Mrs. Underwood, M. That we will pray and labor for the extension of our work feeling that it is our duty to give to others the same opportunities and benfits that we enjoy in the helpful asociations and mutual service of the Young Woman's Christian association."

The following ladies then delivered hort farewell addresses: Mrs. E. H. Ripple, Mrs. Gates, Miss Morse, of New York; Miss Hannah, of Bucknell university; Mrs. Kirk, of West Chester; Miss Agnes Hill and Miss Pence, of Pittsburg, after which the state committee, delegates and local members formed a circle which spread itself along the entire church, and then joining hands sang the hymn, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," after which Rev. Dr. C. E. Robinson pronounced the benediction, which concluded an eventful and epoch-making convention in the history of the association.

fusely beamed down. The evening services were specially prepared by the paster, Rev. August Lange, in honor of the patriotic order; a special programme of music was arranged and the sermon was in keeping with the purpose.

Director John Lentes played an organ prelude and Rev. Mr. Lange delivered a fervent invocation. The congregation sang "Jesus Lover of My Soul," and Pastor Lange read from the Scriptures. Psalm 103. A chorus by the choir and followed by prayer preceded the singing by the congregation of the stirring hymn, "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus. Following this came the sermon from the following text from Psalm exxxvii "If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning. If I do not remember thee, let my tongue deave to the roof of my mouth; if I refer not Jerusalem above my chief

The sermon was in English and was very powerfully delivered. The pastor drew a beautiful allegory between the patriotic devotion of the psalmist to his adopted country and the avowed levotion of the Sons of America to their adopted country. It encouraged the members of the society to still further effort and urged them to guard jealously the priceless boon of freedom. The sermon introduced a wide range of patriotic feelings and left a deep impression on the congregation and the ions of America.

After the sermon the Lord's prayer was said and the choir sang another chorus. A hymn was sung and then an offering taken up. The hymn"America" was sung, benediction was given by the pastor and the chanting of the Doxology concluded the services. The ushers were John Fruechtel Theodore Schmidt, Fred Weinz and
