Electricity Kills.

There is no good reason to believe that under ordinary conditions a sudden shock of electricity such as is appiled in New York penitentiaries in the case of criminals condemned to the electrical chair does not produce death. The stir which has been occasioned in the newspapers by the Syracuse physician who has questioned the decisve ness of electricity thus administered, comes altogether from those who are charmed by the novelty of Dr. Gibbons' contention. It does not represent a serious and general scientific doubt.

The first electrocution practiced in New York state was that of Kemmler, at Auburn. The electrical apparatus upon that occasion was new and the work done was bungled. Nevertheless, Dr. Clayton M. Daniels, of Buffalo, who conducted the autopsy, testifies that Kemmler's heart, where perfect combustion was possible, after months of preservation in hermetically sealed glass jars, was watery and thin, and under the microscope gave no evidence of corpuscles; whereas the imperfectly oxygenized blood on the right side of the murderer's heart was only partially destroyed, showing that the arterial, or vital flow of blood, was not only suspended by the shock but unqualifiedly stopped for all time. Dr. Gibbs, of New York, who conducted the autopsy in the case of Murderer Johnson, makes substantially the same assertions with reference to that case, To make sure that the blood had been disentegrated. Dr. Gibbs made an inblood came. Dr. Carlos F. McDonald, who has written a careful report of the first seven executions by electricity in New York state, speaks favorably of Dr. Gibbons' enterprise in calling this don't say that it is impossible to resuscitate a person shocked to death by electricity/ as I would thus make out that I am infallible. I saw the first seven cases and made a careful examination of each body, assisted by several very able scientists, and I assure you that the method of dispatching criminals by electricity is the surest and least painful of any yet adopted. I am satisfied that the current renders the subject unconscious in an infinitesimal fraction of a second and destroys both conscious and organic life in a

In order, then, to establish his position Dr. Gibbons will have to overcome the disintegration of the arterial blood, the absolute collapse of the heart and lungs, and the paralysis of the heart's action and of the nerve centers. To do miracle as any which is recorded in sacred or profane history. Any declaration as to the consequences of his experiment prior to its occurrence would be purely conjectural. It is, of course possible that the shock to be applied to Murderer Charles F. The law, in recornizing the propriety of capital punishment, leaves little margin for fine discrimination as to the particular method of death. It sanctions the principle of a life for a life; and a good many persons of average deceny and intelligence appear to be quite content to let it go at that.

> The experiment of a penny afternoon newspaper, which seems to be hopeless in Scranton, with its 105,000 population, has succeeded so well in Altoona, a city of only 20,000, that the enterprising Gazette of that city has just been forced to enlarge to a neat eight-page form. The Forest City correspondent of a Carcondale paper advances the following interesting reasons in favor of a new county with Carbondale as the county possible for the projectors to be success There are reasons for this. We have to go to Scranton and then up the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and then switch off over a branch from Alupon the marshal. By the by, what are ford. But this is not the worst. We have a set of commissioners who will not allow full mileage, who hold back as long as they can before they will pay a bill, who wherever possible, pay less than any other commissioners in the state for the same kind of work; in fact men who will squeeze a cent as if they wanted to make it a five dollar gold piece with an eagle on it. They kick on so many prisoners being sent over from here; they kick on allowing the constable his proper they kick on election bills, and they kick on everything that does not benefit Montrose." We do not know what truth there is in this line of argument. We merely give it as one of the curious developments

A sheet of munic costs, on an average from 30 to 50 cents. Sometimes it is worth it and sometimes it is not. Generally speaking, it is not. But there are exceptions. One really good piece of music is worth many times 50 cents. It is invaluable. Recognizing the extent of the demand for new music of a popular yet not worthless character, The Tribune has contracted for the appearance, in its special Saturday edition, of one entire number of music each week, by the best of living composers. One week's number following week's selection will be for the voice. Not all of these selections, we dare say, will please all our renders all the time; but some of them will charm them exceedinly; and as the cost to each person is only 2 cents per number, with the best that orders for extra copies of the Saturday Tribune should reach this office not later than Friday noon.

THE NEW COUNTY IDEA.

Luzerne and the northern part of Schuylsons are found in the remoteness of the present counties more to govern these re-mote portions of their respective autonomics than the territory in question yields to the county treasuries in taxes. The inaccessibility of the courts and the consequent reluctance of people to appear as witnesses is said to be largely responsible for the well-known lawless ness of the Hazleton region. For these reasons, which it must be admitted are strong ones, The Tribune says that the Quay or Hazle county movement stands upon an entirely different footing from those schemes of politicians to create of lices and opportunities for themselves and their friends. At the county seats of the old counties there is any amount of rail-lery, lanuendo and open denunciation of the new county movement. But it must be remembered that originally there were only Philadelphia, Bucks and Chester counties in the whole commonwealth. All the rest have been created as the need for them grew. If there he a real need for the new county of Hazle or Quay, as there seems to be, it will come.
