The housewife may be persuaded to try another kind, but if she has used Cleveland's Baking Powder once, she remembers how light and flaky her biscuit were; how her cake kept moist and fresh and she will return to Cleveland's and stick to it.

CITY NOTES.

Registry lists are now ready in the county commissioners' office, where assessors are requested to call for them today and tomorrow.
Elks desiring extra invitations for Sunday evening's Lodge of Sorrow can obtain them from Secretary W. R. Gould, or Committeemen D. E. Delaney, J. M. Harris and Alex. Dunn, Jr.
A chicken and waffle supper held by the Woman's auxiliary society of Calvary Reformed church last night was a great success, and netted a considerable sum toward the building fund of the church.
The greatest crash in the history of David's theater visited that house last night. Every inch of standing room was taken and many persons were turned away. Manager Davis advises his patrons to visit the theater afterwards this week to avoid the rush.
At the regular meeting of the Central Prohibition league held this evening at Conservatory hall, several objections to the methods of the Prohibition party will be presented and answered. There will be special music rendered by the Young Men's Christian association Glee club, and a most interesting time is expected.
Street drunkenness was conspicuous by its absence yesterday. In the central city only one arrest was made for over-indulgence in Thanksgiving turkey and trimmings. The prisoner was a well-dressed Hungarian who was so stotiv and noisy after his arrest that it was necessary to chain him to the bars of his cell.
The diagram for the Tableau D'Art company will be open to holders of the Young Men's Christian association student and course tickets today and to the general public tomorrow. The fact that the Young Men's Christian association is giving this entertainment in the Frothingham instead of their own hall has proven how highly they estimate the attractions of the entertainment. The company consists of twelve beautiful young ladies.
Pabst's Milwaukee Beer, cool and sparkling, at Lohman's, Spruce street.
ELK'S LODGE OF SORROW.
To Be Held With Appropriate Ceremony Sunday Evening.
On Sunday evening the Elks will hold their annual lodge of sorrow. All the lodges of Elks throughout the country set aside this day to commemorate departed brothers.
A magnificent programme has been arranged for the occasion. Wednesday evening the papers were closed between C. M. Truman and J. C. Vance, of Binghamton, transferring to the latter the leasehold of the Westminster hotel on Wyoming avenue. Mr. Vance assumed control of the house yesterday.
He is experienced in the business, having been general manager and steward at A. P. Mitchell's Watkins' and hotel for a number of years. He also acted for a time as a steward at Schoonmaker's Elmhurst hotel. In 1874 he was proprietor of the Bristol House, in the North End and he sold out, going to the Ward House in Towanda, which he conducted until 1876, when that house was destroyed by fire.

Mr. Truman leaves today for Columbus and will return in a week to take steps regarding the prosecution of the Meserves, who recently bounced him.

THANKSGIVING CONCERT.

Great Musical Treat at Elm Park Church Last Night.
Almost 3,000 persons were crowded together in the Elm Park church last evening when one of the best selections of vocal and instrumental music placed before a Scranton audience was rendered by Professor Carter and the church quartette.
Miss Ella Maria Draeger, the contralto, who has become a favorite in Scranton, sang an Italian song by Mattei, and an intermezzo by Mascagni. Professor Carter demonstrated his ability upon the organ in his four selections, which were all masterpieces of composition. They were "Pilgrims' Chorus" by Wagner, "Tannhauser March" by Wagner, third overture and wedding march, "Lohengrin," by Wagner, and "The Storm" by Lemmens.
Alfred Wooler received an ovation after his rendition of "My Queen" (Finetti), and Richard Thomas, Llew Herbert, was heartily applauded in the bass solo, "The Watcher" (Geibel).
Miss Lillian Guthrie, the newly appointed soprano, sang Professor Rockwell's song "Dancing Helene," and was well received. Rev. Dr. Pierce presided during the evening.
Owing to a defect in the electric supply arrangements the last number, a quartette, was not given, as the power was disconnected from the organ.

IRISH SOCIETIES MEET

An Interesting Session of Oratory and Song at Sheridan Armory.
SPLENDID ADDRESSES MADE
Speeches by Attorney T. V. Powderly and John Devoy of Chicago The Latter Stands as an Apologist to Physical Force.

Representatives of Irish and Irish-American societies of Scranton and Lackawanna county at large met yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock at the armory of the Sheridan rifles, on Lackawanna avenue, and the session was prolonged until nearly 9 o'clock last evening. The hours sped along and an interesting and diversified programme was enacted.

Senator-elect James C. Vaughan was presiding officer, and after opening the meeting to order he delegated William Dawson to distribute leaflets of song and afterward announced that the assemblage should rise and sing the "Star Spangled Banner." Next was sung "God Save Ireland," and then Mr. Vaughan introduced Captain P. De Lacy as the first speaker.

Captain De Lacy cast his eyes around the meeting and complimented the Irishmen and their sons, who had shown such an earnest response to the call for the meeting. He said he understood the meaning of the meeting and all present knew that he was now connected with a movement organized to perpetuate in memory of a soldier who as a credit to the Irish race. This gallant soldier was Philip Sheridan, a son of an Irishman, but still a man who knew no race, creed or color in his valorous deeds of courage and daring recorded in the history of his devotion to the cause of liberty in the late civil war.

Sheridan was one of the best cavalry leaders the world has ever seen. This gallant soldier was Philip Sheridan, a son of an Irishman, but still a man who knew no race, creed or color in his valorous deeds of courage and daring recorded in the history of his devotion to the cause of liberty in the late civil war.

Captain De Lacy hoped that the response with contributions for the erection of a statue to Sheridan would meet with an earnestness and liberality that will be a credit to all Irishmen and Irish-Americans.

Mr. Powderly's Address.
When Captain De Lacy had finished a song was announced and William Dawson acquitted himself very capably with a tuneful Irish ballad. Professor M. J. Lovern, the inimitable artist of Irish airs on the flute, next favored the audience with a few selections, embellished with variations. Attorney T. V. Powderly was the next speaker and his address rolled over with interesting, instructing and amusing thoughts. He had just returned, he said, from a visit to the south, and while there he stood in what was a veritable city of the dead. It was a cemetery, but the bodies were not interred in the ground. Vaults above the earth are built and into these the remains of the dead are consigned. A man who was wealthy and had not long before that died was interred in a crypt or vault of marble that represented thorough quality and workmanship at a cost of not less than $5,000. All this individual had done to deserve a monument like that was his leaving behind a fortune.

When Mr. Powderly looked upon that costly mausoleum he thought of General Sheridan, the hero whose life work was on the altar of self sacrifice and whose deeds are embossed on the pages of history. The speaker reflected on the duty owed to the gallant soldier and he urged his hearers to be liberal in their subscriptions for the fund which will defray the expenses of a monument on the court house square.

Mr. Powderly drifted away from that thread of his address and spoke of what he observed on his visit throughout the south. He closed with a very patriotic appeal to his hearers to unite and become one, particularly, he said, the two associations of the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Address by Mr. Devoy.
Thomas M. Dullard, of Wilkes-Barre, county commissioner of Luzerne county, sang a song, and Chairman Vaughan introduced John Devoy, of Chicago. Mr. Devoy's address consumed more than an hour and a half in its delivery and it comprehended a most interesting history of Irish party struggles for the past thirty-five years.

Thanksgiving Day, he said, is a purely American day, one that originated with the early settlers of New England. Irishmen in America have reason to be thankful because they are American citizens, because outside of that they have very little to be thankful for unless it be the fact that God made them fighters and they have not given up the old fight yet.

The nation's holidays of our race, he said, are the anniversaries of the execution of our noble martyrs. Our first was Robert Emmet and then the Manchester martyrs, Allen, Larkin and O'Brien, and last, but not least, Charles Stewart Parnell. He died fighting for the cause of freedom of the Irish people and their right to govern themselves without dictation from Englishmen.

Mr. Devoy took the middle ground between the physical and moral forces of Ireland. "The Fenian movement," he said, ended in what looked to be disgrace and defeat, and when it went down without any bloodshed the world laughed in contempt; but although the leaders were crushed or obliged to fly into exile, the movement was not stamped out.

Must Be Backed by Force.
England is a nation of compromise and she will not listen to argument until that is backed by physical force. Without the physical force element no good would ever have come to Ireland from England. The oppression of the Irish by the English government and the revolutionary and physical force elements of Ireland are like two poles, one antipodal of the effect of the other.

Mr. Devoy ended with an eloquent appeal to the Irish to unite in all their purposes and present a solid and undivided front in all their undertakings. The next ten minutes were taken up with serving refreshments.

Thomas M. Dullard, of Wilkes-Barre, sang "The Pretty Maid" and "The Cow," and A. F. O'Boyle was called upon for remarks. He very eloquently voiced the recommendations of Mr. Devoy toward the unification of all Irish societies. F. J. Johnson sang "Irish Molly, O," and M. H. Griffin and Professor M. J. Lovern, also made brief remarks. John Power O'Connor of the Truth, spoke for the press, and said that the newspapers were always on the side of right no matter whose cause was being fought.

Chairman Vaughan announced that

CHURCH DEDICATED TO GOD

Impressive Services at New Priceburg Catholic Church.
ERECTED BY POLISH CITIZENS
Building Has Cost $8,000—Dedication Services Conducted by Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Hara—He Was Assisted by Many of the Priests of the Diocese.

Bishop O'Hara dedicated St. Mary's Polish Catholic church at Priceburg yesterday. It was a real holiday and business was suspended in that thriving and spreading little town. The Polish citizens celebrated Thanksgiving in honor of the dedication of their house of worship to God by manifestation of praise with music of bands.

All the Polish military societies of Priceburg, Olyphant and Jessup assembled early in the church, arrayed in their bright uniforms, with flashing swords, and prepared to meet the visiting societies from Luzerne county.

At 10 o'clock a procession was formed and a parade drawn up in line. The societies and the bands marched through the principal streets and returning to the church filed inside and took seats. When the congregation had occupied the church, Right Rev. Bishop O'Hara, the priests of the mass and visiting priests marched up the main aisle chanting the Litany of the Saints. Rev. P. J. Golden, of the cathedral, led in the chant.

Mass was begun by Bishop O'Hara. Father T. Klanowski, of Wilkes-Barre, was celebrant; Father J. L. Shanley, of Dickson, deacon; Father Francis Hadur, sub-deacon, and Father Golden, master of ceremonies. Other priests in the sanctuary were: Rev. P. J. Murphy, of Olyphant; Rev. B. Gramlewicz, of Nanticoke; Rev. P. Orowski, of Duryan; Rev. Andrew Zychowicz, of Glen Lyon; Rev. Joseph Zychowicz, of Pittston; and Rev. Francis Heizer, of Mill Creek. At the elevation of the host the military societies in the church arose and presented arms.

The Dedication Sermon.
The ceremony of dedication was fulfilled during the mass, after which Father Gramlewicz preached the dedicatory sermon. He took his text from St. Luke, xix, 9, "This day is salvation come to this house." He said that salvation will come to every one of them if they continue in the spirit manifested in their devotion to the church by having it dedicated to God. He wished that the spirit of grace would be always strong in them and the Holy Ghost would abide with them forever. Father Gramlewicz closed with an explanation of the sacrament of confirmation.

Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Hara then administered the sacrament of confirmation to forty adult members of the parish. The bishop afterward delivered an exhortive sermon. He congratulated the Polish Catholics of Priceburg on their religious zeal in erecting so handsome an edifice to the worship of God and said that the splendid building was an evidence of the faith that is in them.

The church of St. Mary was erected three years ago and cost $8,000. Rev. Bernard Iwanowski is the pastor and he is a young man not yet 30 years of age. To his untiring and unselfish purposes the congregation is indebted for the handsome house of worship. The congregation is one of the most flourishing in the valley.

Well Merited Success.

The phenomenal success of Lewis, Reilly & Davies, the Wyoming avenue shoe dealers, is well merited. They always aim to give their customers only the very best goods the market produces; their prices are reasonable in the extreme, and with a large corps of competent and obliging clerks, the customers are promptly and satisfactorily taken care of.

Just now the firm is displaying its complete winter stock of ladies' gents', and children's hats, and more bargains are offered. They invite all to make them a visit, and guarantee everything they sell to be just as recommended or money refunded. Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 29, their store will be closed in order to give their clerks an opportunity to give thanks, but on Friday they will open for business with renewed vigor.
