LECTURE ON POET GOLDSMITH

It Was the Fifth of the University Extension Course—Death of Mrs. Clara Brown, of North Summer Avenue. Other Notes of Interest.

The fifth lecture of the course of University Extension, given under the auspices of the Hyde Park literary and debating society, was held last evening in the Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church. The lecturer was Colonel Homer B. Sprague, Ph. D., of Orange, N. J. In the four preceding lectures, Dr. Sprague treated on Milton's life and "Paradise Lost." Last evening the subject was the life of "Oliver Goldsmith." The subject was a very interesting one. During the course of his remarks, Dr. Sprague said: "Oliver Goldsmith was born in Ireland in 1728. His early life developed in him a taste for literature but it was decided that he should become a lawyer. In this step he was not successful, and he returned home. As his mother refused to receive him, he stayed with his uncle, whom he greatly entertained by playing upon his flute and writing verses of poetry. He possesses a dreamy kind of talent, but was well versed in philosophy, mingled with abstract philanthropy. It was now decided that he should go to Edinburgh to study medicine. He started out, leaving behind him tender memories of his boy-hood days in Ireland. Dr. Sprague closed the lecture with several choice quotations.

Mrs. H. S. Brown Dead.

Mrs. Clara Brown, wife of Howard S. Brown, died at her home on North Summer avenue, at 12:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon after an illness of nearly two years. Mrs. Brown's disease was a complicated one, and baffled many doctors. Some time ago she went to Philadelphia for treatment, but to no avail. Mrs. Brown was 43 years of age, and was born on the West side. She was a daughter of George Decker, the well known veteran blacksmith of Lafayette street. Mrs. Brown possessed an earnest Christian spirit. She was a peaceful neighbor and loving mother. She was a member of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church. A husband and seven children mourn her loss. They are: Hattie, Richard, George, Grace, Howard, Frank and Harry Brown. The funeral will occur tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Services will be conducted in the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church by Rev. L. C. Floyd. Interment in Dunmore cemetery.

Every day the most remarkable phenomena is presented and such a wonderful exhibition has never been seen on any stage. It is no exaggeration to say that the oldest and most infirm cripples do arise and walk and run, and that the sick are healed and the deaf are made to hear. The names of many already cured can be ascertained. Everybody should come and see these wonderful cures made.

The doctors have permanently located an office at the Hotel Westminster, where they can be consulted daily from 9 a. m. until 8 p. m. All sick people should consult these eminent physicians at once, while everything is done absolutely free.

COAL FLEET MOVING. Eighteen Million Bushels Will Float Down the Allegheny.

By the United Press.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 3.—Both the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers are rising. From present indications about 7,000,000 bushels of coal in the Pittsburgh harbor will be on its way to the lower river markets within forty-eight hours. There are about 18,000,000 bushels awaiting shipments.

Many fleets of coal boats have already started, but the greater part will not get away before tomorrow, when it is expected there will be an additional two feet of water in the channel. Nineteen tow boats left the harbor today.

Scranton's Business Interests. THE TRIBUNE's business publishes a carefully compiled and classified list of the leading wholesale, banking, manufacturing and professional interests of Scranton and vicinity. The edition will be bound in book form, beautifully illustrated with photographs views of our public buildings, business blocks, streets, etc., together with portraits of leading citizens. No similar work has ever given an equal representation of Scranton's many industries. It will be an invaluable addition to persons of our business resources. Sent to persons outside the city, copies of this handsome work will attract new concerns and be an unequalled advertisement of the city. The circulation is on a plan that cannot fail of good results to those concerned as well as the city at large. Representatives of THE TRIBUNE will call upon THOSE WHOSE NAMES ARE DESIRED in this edition and explain its nature more fully.

Those desiring views of their residences in this edition will please leave notice at the office.

Mrs. Patrick Burns Stops Her Angry Husband's Blows by Throwing Red Pepper in His Peepers—James Ruane Relaxing Himself on Furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Burns, a young couple, without any family, live at 1315 Pittston avenue. The neighbors say that Burns does not treat his wife well. Sunday the domestic trouble broke out furiously and husband and wife were in hot water all day. About 10 o'clock Sunday night Mrs. Burns was heard screaming, and when some of the neighbors went in they found her struggling with her husband, who held her at arm's length and seemed to be more afraid of her than having any intention to do her bodily harm. She had thrown a handful of cayenne pepper in his eyes and he caught her before he got blinded with it. She stated that he was beating her and had to do that to protect herself. It required about five hours to restore sight to Burns' optics, and then he left the house threatening never to return.

James Ruane in the Tolls. The patrol wagon was sent for yesterday evening to go to Cedar avenue and convey James Ruane to the lockup. A message was sent to police headquarters that Ruane was drunk at his mother's home and was creating a disturbance and breaking the furniture. Patrolmen Lowry, Mathews and Hetzel went along with the wagon and found Ruane conducting himself as charged. When they attempted to arrest him he resisted and they had a lively time loading him in the wagon.
