SNEAK THIEVES AT WORK

They Have Invaded Many Residences on the Hill During the Week.

ARE GROWING EXTREMELY BOLD

Resident of Vine Street Caught a Man Trying to Get in His Bathroom Window—Not Sufficient Police Protection in That Part of the City. The sneak thief, petty robber, and cold victual raider has been holding high carnival for the past few days in various sections of the city, but his most extensive and successful effort has been confined to the hill in the central city.

During Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of last week the sneak thief, petty robber, impudent and extortionist on the last mentioned night a gentleman residing on Vine street came face to face with a man about to climb into his bathroom window.

They Are Evidently Amateurs. The gang of thieves is evidently not composed of professionals, but they have evidently lost all fear of the consequences of their acts.

While the exact number of houses visited cannot be ascertained, the number of thieves jobs of last week is sufficiently large to cause alarm and induce the police to make a special and determined effort to detect the pilferers. On Madison avenue near Pine street two houses were visited and on Mulberry street near Monroe avenue two robberies occurred.

Amount of Police Protection. Two patrolmen are stationed on the hill east of Adams avenue. One beat is from Vine street south to Spruce street and the other extends from Vine street north to Phelps street.

MOST UNNATURAL FATHER

Joseph Hunold, Sr., of Old Forge, Accused by His Son.

HE BEATS AND MALTREATS HIM

Boy Says That the Money He Earns His Father Spends for Liquor—Dragged Him Out of the House at Midnight. Joseph Hunold, sr., of Old Forge, must be a most brutal and unnatural father and husband if the facts set forth in a petition his son, Joseph Hunold, jr., presented to court yesterday, through Attorney Taylor and Lewis, are correct.

It is further alleged that Hunold kicks and beats his boy without cause or provocation and frequently denies he is the boy's father. Hunold's cruel and barbarous treatment of his wife, the petition recites, compelled her to leave his home and she is now endeavoring to earn a livelihood for herself at Buffalo.
