CUT HER THROAT.

Mrs. Amelia Westergaard Becomes Deceased and Commits Suicide. By the United Press. Philadelphia, Dec. 12--Early this morning Mrs. Amelia Westergaard was found dead on the floor of the kitchen of her house at 1823 Mount Vernon street, with her throat cut from ear to ear. A bloody carving knife with which the unfortunate woman had killed herself was found beside her. Mrs. Westergaard was 54 years old and was the widow of Lars Westergaard, a prominent ship broker and for many years consul at this port for Sweden and Norway. Mrs. Westergaard had been subject to fits of temporary insanity for some time past, and it is supposed, she killed herself while in this condition.

ROW IN STATE BALL LEAGUE.

Secretary Diddlebock Dances Out of the Meeting in High Dudgeon--Zerr Will Fight the Organization. By the United Press. Reading, Pa., Dec. 12--A stormy meeting of the base ball magnates of the Pennsylvania State league clubs was held at the Congdon hotel, this city, this afternoon and evening. It was said to be a special conference meeting, the special object being to form a circuit for next season. President John J. Hanlon, of Hazleton, occupied the chair and Secretary Diddlebock, of Philadelphia, was on hand with the minutes. After he had proceeded to read them, President Hanlon said that this was the annual meeting. Secretary Diddlebock denied this. He said that it was a special meeting and that the constitution provided that the annual meeting should be held in January. A lively war of words followed in which harsh language was used, accusations being made that some one was not telling the truth.

It ended by Diddlebock saying, "Well, I'm done with you," as he took up his papers and walked out of the room. Manager Randall, of the Philadelphia club, coincided with him and marched out also. The meeting then proceeded with its regular business. President John J. Hanlon was then elected secretary and treasurer in addition to his present position and his annual salary fixed at $1,000. Allentown was admitted as a member in place of Philadelphia. The other clubs recognized as members of the league are: Pottsville, Lancaster, Hazleton, Harrisburg, Shenandoah, Ashland and Reading.

It was decided to ask the National League protection and a telegram to that effect was sent to President Young. Just before adjournment Carbondale and Easton were admitted, making it a league of ten clubs. Manager Zerr, of Reading, was very much chagrined over his loss of the Reading franchise which was given to W. A. Whitman, and as he walked out of the room gave notice that he was going to fight this league. Manager Randall stated that today's meeting was a gross violation of the constitution. A meeting will be held at the regular time the first Monday in January in Philadelphia and a league will be organized composed of Philadelphia and the best base ball cities in several States.

Manager Zerr will organize a rival club in this city, but whether it will be a member of the proposed interstate league, or the new Schuylkill Valley league, is not known. At certain stages of today's meeting considerable bad blood was developed.

A Voluntary Statement.

Mrs. Ella H. Nolan, of 209 State street, Auburn, N. Y., says: For the past seven years I have been a great sufferer from rheumatism and rheumatic gout. My ankles, feet, wrists and hands were swollen to an enormous size and I was unable to bend a joint of them. I was compelled to crawl on my hands and knees. A great part of the time I was confined to my bed, unable to help myself in the least. I had the best medical attendance, but obtained only temporary relief. One day a gentleman calling upon some business, seeing my helpless condition, said:

"If you will get some of Dr. Potter's Rheumatic Pills, I think they will cure you." I did not have much faith, but I was in such a helpless condition, could scarcely move about, could not close my hands at all, got up and down stairs sideways, that I thought I would try the pills. Accordingly, I got two boxes of Dr. Potter's Rheumatic Pills, and after taking them three days, the pain all left me and has never returned even in the dampest weather. Of course I was encouraged and kept on taking them, and an entirely cured. I have now taken six boxes, and can do all my own household work without the least pain. The swelling is all gone, can move my joints naturally and feel as well as ever I did. I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Potter's Rheumatic Pills to all who suffer from rheumatism.

They are a radical cure for rheumatism, inflammatory rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, both acute and chronic, and all diseases depending upon and having their origin in the uric diathesis. Price, $1.00 a box. For sale by Matthews Bros., wholesale and retail, Scranton, Pa.

REVIEW OF METHODISM

William Connell Speaks of the Work Done Forty Years ago.

CONTRASTED WITH PRESENT

Added Responsibilities Have Come with the Great Increase of the Church in Numbers and Influence--Other Addresses Heard Last Night.

An enthusiastic meeting was held last night in the Elm Park church lecture hall to celebrate the first anniversary of the church. Rev. Dr. Pearce conducted the opening services and called upon Mr. Davies, one of the oldest members of the church, to offer prayer. The pastor then explained that to make themselves happier and remove the restraint of set speeches the meeting would be informal, with brief addresses from the church officers. He called upon William Connell, president of the board of trustees, to address them upon "The Yesterday and Today of Methodism in Our Midst." Mr. Connell, after congratulating them upon the auspicious occasion, which they were celebrating after the sad recollections of the difficulties in the past, said: "The 'yesterdays' of Methodism of forty years ago were very different to the 'today' of Methodism in many respects. While those of today are indebted to a great extent to the Methodists of forty years ago, there are many who have a habit of saying that the latter days are better than those early days. The men of the early days were heroes who made sacrifices the younger portion of our churches today cannot properly appreciate and know very little of. I could, with a pretty distinct recollection, go back sixty years in the history of the Methodist cause, but of thirty-eight years I am able to speak with clearness.

Methodism of the Past. "It is thirty-eight years since I came into the Lackawanna valley and located at Taylor, then called Lackawanna, where I worshipped in the little church which was known as the Union chapel. The Methodist churches of Hyde Park, Taylor and the Brick church were then very few in number. I preached to us at Taylor alternately with the other churches. These memories bring to my mind that we had to travel a mile to attend service, and on one occasion, when we had prayer meeting in the forenoon, there were only two of us present, and I said to myself, 'Well, there are enough of us to claim the promise,' and we accordingly held a prayer meeting, and I well recollect what a good time we had."

"This naturally brings me to my subject, the early days of Methodism. Many things were differently conducted in those days. We had the delightful class meeting, which has now almost gone out of date, although we have other services which, to a large extent, supplant it, but no other service can supply the place of the old-fashioned Methodist class meeting. It was the family place of the church, where all anxieties and cares were made known. In our present day meetings, when men stand promiscuously, they have other services which, to a large extent, supplant it, but no other service can supply the place of the old-fashioned Methodist class meeting.
