

UPRISING IN MANCHURIA

Mohammedans Are Becoming Active in That Territory.

CHINESE METHODS OF TORTURE

Japanese Prisoners of War Are Burned at the Stake and Boiled Alive—The Apache Warriors Surpassed by the Ingenuity of Mongolians.

By the United Press.

London, Dec. 23.—A dispatch from Tientsin to the Central News says it is reported there that an uprising has taken place among the Mohammedans in Manchuria.

San Francisco, Dec. 23.—A private letter from Tokio says that there will be no peace until the Japanese enter Peking. From an official high in authority the correspondent learns that if a Chinese embassy should come to Japan with overtures of peace the Japanese would insist upon the occupation of the Chinese capital as one of the terms, and the Chinese will agree to this. It is learned from good authority that, besides the indemnity already indicated, the Japanese will demand the peninsula on which Port Arthur is situated and the island of Formosa. The Chinese will agree to this, as they are powerless, and they also fear a revolution by the two big secret societies, the Kailao Hui and the White Lily.

The foreign advisers of Viceroy Li-Hung-Chang made a fortune in supplying arms to the Chinese army. Most of the Chinese rifles captured by the Japanese were of antiquated make, and the ammunition did not fit the guns. It is said that Detring and Von Hanneken will be able to retire with several millions apiece at the close of the war.

Other correspondents at Tokio give some details of the taking of Port Arthur. The writers say they cannot give many details, as they are horrible for publication. Capt. Barstow of the Japanese steamship line, which runs along the coast, tells of many instances of Chinese barbarity to Japanese prisoners of war. Just before the capture of Port Arthur a number of Japanese scouts were captured by the Chinese, who tortured them. Some were burned at the stake. Others were boiled alive in big vats of hot water.

When the Japanese entered Port Arthur the sights they saw maddened them. The Captain says no pen can describe the fearful mutilations practiced upon the Japanese captives. He says an American who saw much of Apache warfare in Arizona declared that the Chinese excelled those savages in hideous ingenuity and in infamous mangling of the dead.

Over 500 of the Chinese garrison of Port Arthur were put to the sword before they could escape, but the captain declares that there is no foundation for the statement that shopkeepers were shot. Some 200 soldiers and officers of Li-Hung-Chang's force escaped in a body from Port Arthur to Shan Hai Kwan on the main land, but the Chinese residents, infuriated because of the loss of Port Arthur, killed the officers, and then tortured to death all the common soldiers.

Li Hung Chang is Italky.

Washington, Dec. 21.—It is reported that Moukden has been deserted by the populace in view of the license exercised by Chinese soldiers. There is also news that Manchuria is overrun by plundering deserters and that utter anarchy prevails. Another report is that Li Hung Chang has refused to return to Peking from Tien Tsin to assist Prince Kung and Prince Ching in the administration of the war. The statement is also made that arrangements were completed in the latter part of November for moving the Chinese court from Peking. If the Japanese troops showed any disposition to reach the capital, the emperor was to leave at once. The probable place of retirement is given as Chang Chia Ken.

Congratulatory demonstrations over Japanese victories have been held in Japan. Patriotism is still rampant and the noble families of Japan are making contributions to the war fund.

Do You Know

That no one in the city but Davidlow Bros. can sell you a set of solid silver teaspoons for $2.50?

DOWN TO A BUSINESS BASIS.

From the Detroit Free Press.

He stepped out of a doorway on Monroe avenue, the other night and confronted a pedestrian to say: "Time is money and I will detain you but a moment."

"That's right—what is it?" was the query.

"You have no money for such as me?"

"No, sir—no, sir!"

"Because I would make for the nearest saloon and spend it for drink."

"That's it, exactly."

"But, on the other hand, you are a humane man and would not see me in want of food?"

"I might be willing to fill you up at a restaurant, but I'm not buying beer for tramps."

"Certainly not. We now come to business. To fill me up at the cheapest restaurant in this town would cost you from $5 to $8, as I have eaten nothing for a week. On the other hand, you can buy me off for 15 cents in cash. Sentiment does not enter into the question. You either pay out at least $6 or only 15 cents. It is for you to say which. Owing to the hard times you—"

"Here's your 15," said the pedestrian as he jingled two coins in his palm.

"Thanks—that's business."

"But as you have consumed 30 cents"

"Of my valuable time I'll replace it in my pocket and send you a bill for the balance. Straight business—no sentiment—good night!"

And the tramp watched him out of sight and heaved a long sigh and whispered to himself:

"That's a horse on me, and I guess I'd better look around for a saddle or harness!"

INDUSTRIAL TOPICS.

The Central and Lehigh Valley railroads have compromised their crossing dispute at Allentown.

The Davis & Thomas Co., of Cataqua has just been chartered to manufacture iron and steel.

The Leisport furnace, which has been idle three years, has started up, giving employment to about sixty men.

The Delaware and Hudson company proposes to extend its Adirondack branch thirty miles, from North Creek to Long Lake.

Rabbi J. Leonard Levy, of Philadelphia, has started coal yards to supply the poor with fuel at cost. A bucket is retailed at 5 cents. The usual price at this season of the year is 8 cents a bucket. The work is constantly on the increase. In the brief period of operation, nearly 15,000 buckets of coal have already been sold.

A doubt as to the re-election of President Harris, of the Reading railroad, has been dispelled by the official announcement from the Reading office that proxies representing 300,000 shares had been received in support of Mr. Harris, and that proxies representing from 50,000 to 60,000 shares more were in sight. It is further stated that since the stock books closed fully 150,000 shares had become disfranchised by reason of transfers, leaving about 650,000 shares that are entitled to vote.

That President Harris will secure a large majority of these there appears to be no longer any doubt among the best-posted men on the street.

Philadelphia Stockholder: "The belief is now general that despite opposition, the present Lehigh Valley management will be maintained in power. Handicapped as it has been during the last few years it has, however, been able to accomplish much good for security-holders. The so-called protective committee in opposition to the present management makes the announcement that a public meeting of stockholders will be held in this city this week, when it is contemplated to fashion a ticket to be voted upon at the ensuing election—a ticket which it is further stated will include several members of the present board of directors. It is significant in connection with the opposition that City Treasurer McCreary, who was somewhat active at the beginning of the contest, has withdrawn from further participation in it."

Philadelphia Inquirer: "The companies are maintaining tidewater prices firmly, and are even getting a few orders at the new circular, but a considerable quantity of coal is being peddled out by middlemen who charge largely before the advanced prices were established. The individual operators are not doing much. Complaint is made by customers of the Lehigh Valley that they find great difficulty in getting deliveries over the Reading tracks, as much as three weeks being required to get coal through. The Lehigh Valley, Lehigh Navigation and shippers over the Jersey Central have practically suspended mining operations for the year. The Reading will work three days this week, as it has not yet filled its quota for the month. The New York companies are generally arranging to observe the allotment strictly. The aggregate output, however, continues in excess of the actual consumption."

"It might be supposed," says the New York Sun, "that railroads which bear usually geographical name would show by their titles what points they connect, but there are many exceptions in this respect and some of them are surprising. The St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, for instance, might be supposed to run from St. Louis to San Francisco. Actually it runs 227 miles west of St. Louis. The Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad would appear to run from Minneapolis to St. Louis. It actually runs from Minneapolis to Angus, Ia., about half way to St. Louis. The Omaha and St. Louis railroad does not run from Omaha to St. Louis, but from Omaha to Pattonsburg, Mo. St. Louis is 267 miles further east. The Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City railroad (or "Clover Leaf," as it is more generally called) runs from Toledo to St. Louis, which is the western terminus of the road. Kansas City is 325 miles away. The Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad does not run from Toledo to Peoria, but from the Indiana state line to Warsaw, Ill. The New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad (or Nickel Plate) is it is universally called) does not run from New York to Chicago and St. Louis. It runs from Buffalo to Chicago, and a passenger upon it coming east and landing at Buffalo would be over 400 miles from New York, while a passenger upon it going west and landing at Chicago would be 300 miles from St. Louis. The Philadelphia and Erie railroad runs from Sunbury, Pa., to Erie. The Pennsylvania, Poughkeepsie and Boston railroad is ninety-six miles long, from Slatington, Pa., to Campbell Hall, on the Ontario and Western. The Fort Worth and Denver City railroad is wholly in Texas, does not touch Denver City, and does not run into Colorado. These peculiarities in railroad nomenclature are supplemented by another. All the coal-carrying roads running latitudinally in the eastern states have as part of their title the words "and Western." Here are some of them: Delaware, Lackawanna and Western; the New York, Lake Erie and Western; the New York, Ontario and Western;

the Lake-Erie and Western; the Norfolk and Western; the New York, Susquehanna and Western; the Pittsburgh and Western. The quantity of coal transported by these railroads collectively amounts to more than 50,000,000 tons in a year. The Sun overlooks one queerly named road, the New York, Pittsburg and Chicago, which, so far from traversing the 900 miles suggested in its title, runs from New Gallie, Pa., to East Liverpool, O., a distance of seventeen miles.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

By the United Press.

New York, Dec. 23.—Trading at the stock exchange was exceedingly light and the changes confined within narrow limits. There was very little in the way of news to affect prices. Electric light stocks were the most prominent feature of the market. Sugar was weak, but only fell from 90 to 89 1/2. The variations in the stock market were merely fractional. The market closed about steady in tone. Sales, 12,000 shares.

The range of today's price for the active stocks of the New York stock market are given below. The quotations are furnished by G. du B. Dimmock, manager for William Lusk, Allen & Co. stock brokers, 412 Spruce street, Scranton.
