

GORMAN'S GRAND DEPOT. Matchless Coat Values

Another Rare Opportunity Is Presented This Morning in Stylishly Made Ladies' Coats--The Prices are the Lowest of the Present Season.

Right from a maker who was glad to avail himself of our offer. He had too many garments and too little money, and thus we purchased upon our own terms. Each wrap is exquisitely made and trimmed in the latest fashionable style; the materials are the best and such as have found great favor among the ladies of taste. Such offerings as these have not been shown in Scranton this year. 48 inches long, double-breasted, large sleeves and tight-fitting.

$7.50, $8.50 and $9.50 the Garment Regular prices until now were $12, $17, and $20.

USEFUL CHRISTMAS GIFTS HANDKERCHIEFS.

Remarkable varieties and values have been brought here for the holidays. The prices are conspicuous for their smallness, while the qualities and styles occupy the highest place known to Handkerchief manufacturers.

NEWS OF THIS VICINITY TUNKHANNOCK.

Frank Hawke is home from Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Hiller, of Carbondale, will take their Christmas dinner at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage.

The proposed new bridge to span Tunkhannockcreek, near T. G. Walter's residence, will doubtless be of iron and a modern and creditable structure. The abutments will have to be entirely rebuilt, as the old ones are of loose, shelly, red shale, and the wonder is that the old bridge has stood as long as it has. The courts have not yet passed upon the new bridge, but as it is such an obvious necessity, there is no doubt but that it will be granted.

Miss Eva Sicker, of Binghamton, N. Y., is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. E. Billings.

Mrs. Fred Hewitt, of Towanda, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kiefer.

A number of friends from here will go down to Ashley tonight to attend the wedding of Nicholas Fox to Miss Kate Geissler. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. Morvin Custer, pastor of the Presbyterian church, at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Fox will spend the honeymoon slighting in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington.

High mass was conducted by Rev. Father Lafferty at the Catholic church at 6 o'clock this morning, after which he went to Nicholson, where like service was held.

Christmas eve was celebrated at the various churches last night as follows: At the Episcopal church a tree, with an accompanying talk by the rector, Rev. William Coney, interspersed with appropriate singing. Candy and oranges were distributed to the children. The school is small and the programme was simple, yet very enjoyable, and the church very tastefully decorated.

At the Baptist the tree was supplemented by a Santa Claus, snow banks, three reindeer and a pretty programme of anthems, choruses and speaking. The decorations were very effective and the programme was in charge of Clarence Asheld. Candy was distributed to the scholars.

The Methodist Episcopal exercises were in charge of the Sunday school superintendent, S. Judson Stark, and were unusually attractive. The archway in the auditorium and the class room was decorated, and a chorus of gilded bells among the evergreens rang out, "Glory to God in the Highest." The programme of music and recitations was rendered by the young people, assisted by the choir. Candy and oranges were divided among the classes.

The Presbyterian church parlors were beautiful with tree and trimmings. A cantata, "Santa Claus on Time," with bright, catchy music, was rendered by the juveniles and two or three older people, as follows: Guthrie Thompson, Gussie Hepburn, Ruth Leighton, Marion Leighton, Bessie Leighton, Eleanor Metcalf, Mame Williamson, Leslie Chase, Lena Avery, Helen Terry, Fred Wolfe, Albert Northrop, Fred Shook, Charlie Hepburn and Harry Lewis. Miss Mame Shook was largely instrumental in getting it up, and to her, as well as to the choir, who ably assisted, is due the success of it. The whole school received confectionery and the juniors books and "Brownie" spoons.

The Evangelical people postponed their exercises until tonight, when they will render a programme of singing and responsive services, prominent features of which will be an organ voluntary by the pastor, Rev. Omer Butler, and a solo, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," by Miss Frona Luckenbill. They have a tree and gifts of confectionery.

No visitors will be allowed at the jail today.

Kumor has it that a new building will be put up on Toga street, next to Woodward drugstore, and Ball's meat market removed thereto.

Quite a number of the town people are under obligations to Landlord Nelson Lee for a generous invitation to partake of Christmas dinner at the Keeler House today. Such as had not made previous engagements will accept of his hospitality.

Presiding Elder J. G. Eckman will preach at the Methodist Episcopal church Friday evening, after which the quarterly conference will be held. Communion service will be observed Sunday morning, and the elder will preach in the evening.

Dr. Herbert McKown is up from Pittston hospital on a visit.

Charlie and Jae McKown have returned from Waynesboro, Pa.

Last Saturday's edition of the DeKalb, Ill. Chronicle, a souvenir number, contains excellent pictures of E. C. and Morris K. ARCHBALD.

Some of the residents of Church street were greatly worried on Saturday and Sunday over a case of diphtheria with which a young lady named Eva Parfrey was afflicted. The father and brother of the young lady are boarding on Church street and she came to visit them from a hotel in Carbondale. She was ill when she came here and Dr. Van Doren was summoned to attend to her. He found that the young lady was suffering from a mild form of diphtheria and so informed the family with whom she was staying. They had such a fear of the disease that it was considered best to remove the patient from the house, and she was taken to the borough building, where she was cared for during Sunday. Some of the people living near the borough building objected to its being used as a hospital and called on the burgess to have the patient removed somewhere else. Before he could take action on the case the father of the lady came for her and took her to the home of a relative somewhere up the valley.

The fair of St. Thomas' congregation re-opened on Saturday evening, the attendance having been very large. It was also open yesterday afternoon and will also be today. It is expected to close finally next week.

Several of the young men here have arranged to hold a banquet and social at Moyle's hall on New Year's evening. Christmas will be observed with special services at all the churches here.
