The fair of St. Thomas' congregation losed finally on Thursday evening. The bleycle contest was decided and the plano, parlor suite, bedroom suite and sideboard were disposed of. Folowing a musical programme rendered by Miss Daly and the Misses Maxwell, of Carbondale, the parlor suite was won by Agnes Grogan; the sideboard by Aggle Lynett, of Green Ridge; the dining room suite by James Quinn, of Jessup, and the bedroom suite by Mrs. John Maeen, jr. Interest centered in the contest for a bicycle by six acolytes of St. Thomas' church, on which they had been engaged for the past three months. Michael Sweeney was the winner, he having collected $452.35; Richard Foote, $371.85; Michael Duhigg. $342.25; Joe Miller, $181; Willie Gilrdy, $157.85, and James Cawley $140.90, the total receipts from this contest alone being $1,646.20. The fair has been successful to an unexpected degree and the crastinate. Bargains wait for no fund for the building of a parochial residence, for which the fair was designed, will be very largely increased. Much credit for this is due to Father Comerford and his able assistant, Rev. Dr. Lucas, and the ladies and gentlemen who helped them.

TUNKHANNOCK.

Nicholson borough starts the nev year with a lot of good resolutions in the shape of a health ordinance. The boys improved the skating on Tunkhannock creek last night by at-taching the fire hose to the nearest hy-drants and flooding the ice. Some of the old vets are agitating the organization of a camp of the Sons of Veterans and a Woman's Relief corps here. The sons of veterans did organize a few years ago and ran along pretty well for a few weeks, but their patriotism soon soaked in the ground and that was the end of it. Some of the vicinity newspapers are rediting the correspondence of the Scranton Tribune to J. Wood Platt. In justice to that gentleman, we would say that he isn't guilty of the charge.

Doubtless, he is thankful. A new time table is to take effect on the Lehigh Valley on Sunday next. In all probability the only change will be the sending of the night flyer over the cut-off between Lackawanna and Bloomsburg junction and Fairview, to essen the distance between New York and Buffalo. The schedule of the day trains will not be disturbed.
