Opera Scored a Success

Chimes of Normandy Sung in an Excellent Manner at Academy.

ROLES CLEARLY INTERPRETED

Professor Richard Lindsay Has Reason to Feel Proud of the Fine Work That Was Done by His Young People Last Night.

The Scranton Oratorio society, under the direction of Professor Richard Lindsay, scored a distinct success at the Academy of Music last evening in the "Chimes of Normandy," a very tuneful opera.
Owing to the frequent encores and the delays incident to a first performance by an amateur company the curtain did not drop on the last act of the opera until after 11 o'clock. The large audience received the opera in a most enthusiastic manner, as it deserved to be, for the work of Scranton's amateurs, assisted by Mme. Louise Natall and Henry C. Peakes, was superior to that of members of any other professional companies who have sung the opera in this city.
Taking into consideration that the chorus was almost, if not wholly, made up of amateurs, with practically no experience of dramatic music and the fact that the members of the chorus of the opera last evening in such an excellent manner adds materially to the praise showered upon the chorus and their talented conductor. The ladies, particularly, were most efficient in their pieces and quick to catch the spirit of the opera. It was not an easy matter to discover traces of the amateur in their actions.

Mme. Natall's Fine Work.

As Germaine, Mme. Louise Natall acted her part to the least detail. She is evidently imbued with the spirit of that role and sang and acted it faultlessly. Her sweet voice was displayed to great advantage in the pretty music. Miss Julia Allen exceeded even the expectations of her friends as Serpolette, a part full of difficulties to the amateur. Her interpretation was splendid, the dramatic talent she displayed being a revelation to the audience.
Henry C. Peakes, as Gaspard, the miser, has established a reputation in connection with this part and he sustained the same last night every respect. As Henry, Marquis of Cornwallis, John T. Watkins was an ideal marquis and scored a great success in the rendition of his solos. Although suffering from hoarseness, he displayed great power in interpreting operatic music. His solos were heartily encored.
John J. Gleason was successful in the role of Grencheux, although he only had a few days to study the part. A man who was rehearsing that part with the company having been taken sick, Daniel Jordan, as the Bailiff, and Will Coyne, as the Notary, made a most favorable impression in these characters. The other roles were also in competent hands.

DEATH OF THOMAS L. MORGAN.

He Was a Noted Welsh Author and One of the Most Respected Residents of the West Side.

Thomas Llyfwrth Morgan, the Welsh author and writer, died very suddenly at his home on Jackson street yesterday morning at 2:30 o'clock. Very few knew of his illness, which in any event had been considered but slight, and his sudden death was a shock to all that knew him. To the Welsh literary people of Wales and this country he was well known, for he has been a writer to the Welsh press, a noted essayist and historian and a leader in eldosted matters for the past forty years.
He was born in the quaint village on Monknash, near the ancient castle of St. Donat, on the English channel, in the vale of Glamorgan, South Wales, on May 24, 1831. Always active and young, for he refused to be an "old man," full of good nature, a true friend, never known to refuse a kindness if in his power to grant it, it is no wonder that he had hosts of friends, who sincerely mourn his death.
He was the father of Tallie Morgan, of this city. The other children are Professor J. L. Morgan, A. L. Morgan and Lynn Morgan, of Forest City, and Cass, Cadivor, Emrys, Golyddan and Miss Gwen Morgan, of this city. The funeral will take place from the family residence on Jackson street tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. R. S. Jones, of Providence, officiating.

WILL OPEN MONDAY NIGHT.

Food Exposition Promises to Be a Great Success.

On the coming Monday evening the doors of the large drill room at the armory will be thrown open to the Scranton public for the first pure food exposition ever held in this section of the state. The floor space is being laid out into broad avenues down which the visitor can walk and inspect on each side the booths and goods displayed.
The entire affair is under the direct management of Louis W. Buckley, originator of these expositions and general manager of the food exposition circuits. It is held under the auspices of the Press club, and, as in other cities, is sure to prove a society far long before its doors close on the weeks' stay. Miss E. W. Cross, principal of the International Cooking school, of Washington, D. C., will be present each afternoon and evening and will deliver practical cooking talks. In securing the Imperial Hungarian Court orchestra the management have made an excellent choice to please the lovers of music in Scranton. Amongst the selections will be the overture "William Tell," "Intermezzo," "Cavallera Rusticana," "Princess Bonnie" selections, Hungroise La Belle Russe, together with many popular airs of the day.
The exposition opens at 7 o'clock on Monday evening, and the management have very wisely fixed the price of admission at the popular one of 25 cents. In addition to the many features and samples that will be given out, each lady purchasing a ticket in the afternoon from 2 to 6 will receive free a large box of Atlantic City Salt Water taffy, New England peanut brittle, or French bon bon, being allowed their choice of each.
There will be special days, and the first two nights members of the Retail Grocers' association will hold high level, being present as guests of the wholesale grocers and exhibitors.

Funeral of Mrs. Dunning.
The funeral services of Mrs. A. D. Dunning were held yesterday morning. At 9 o'clock a brief service was held at the residence on Main avenue, at the close of which the remains were taken to Elmhurst, where another service was held in the Presbyterian church, both of them being conducted by Rev. D. M. Kintner. The body was interred in the family plot in the Elmhurst cemetery.

MEETING OF PROTEST.

Citizens Asked to Take a Stand Against Armenian Outrages—Proclamation of Mayor Council.

Certain influential citizens are arranging for a public meeting in this city to enter a protest against the persecution of Armenians by the Turkish government. Among the leading spirits in the movement are mentioned Rev. Dr. James McLeod, Alfred Hand and A. W. Dickson. Upon the request of Dr. McLeod Mayor Council has issued the following proclamation:
To the Citizens of Scranton:
The reports of the recent outrages and crimes which are reported to have been committed against the lives and properties of the Christian subject of the Sultan of Turkey in Armenia, and believing the course of the Turkish government in this matter to be cruel, barbarous and a direct blow at the Christian belief entertained by the majority of its subjects, we most suggest that steps be taken to call a public meeting at which our citizens may have an opportunity to utter their earnest protest against these atrocities and against the further countenancing of the same by the authorities of Turkey.
(Signed) W. L. Connell, Mayor.
Scranton, Pa., Jan. 4, 1895.
It is probable that the meeting will be held next week Saturday night in the Elm Park church.

OLD OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

Treasurer T. H. Jones Was the Only Exception.

D. M. JONES WILL SUCCEED HIM

Annual Report Read Showing the Receipts and Expenditures of the Poor Board During the Year—Improvements in Buildings at Farm.

The poor board held its meeting yesterday at which all of the old officers except Treasurer T. H. Jones were re-elected and the annual reports read. The officers elected were: President, W. S. Langstaff; secretary, E. J. Lynett; treasurer, D. M. Jones, in place of T. H. Jones; solicitor, John F. Scragg; tax collector, Arja Williams; superintendent of Hillside Home, George W. Beemer; matron, Mrs. Boemer (whose salary was raised from $300 to $500 per annum); resident physician, Dr. Benjamin F. Evans; out-door physician, Dr. W. A. Paine, Dr. Gunster, Dr. Donnis, Providence; Dr. J. R. Murphy and Dr. Manley, of the South Side. All of the above were chosen unanimously. President Langstaff, on motion of Mr. Gibbons, was tendered a vote of thanks for his services during the year. Director Murphy acted as chairman while the reorganization was taking place.
The statement of account for the past year showed the disbursements to be as follows:
Salaries and services.....$13,095.43
Out-door relief..... 11,897.47
Supplies..... 18,946.71
Improvements and repairs, 26,433.31
Printing and stationery..... 575.69
Furniture..... 1,159.29
Miscellaneous..... 2,528.73
Total.....$73,917.39
The receipts showed a balance in hand at beginning of year of $17,943.57 and total receipts, $85,850.86, leaving a balance in treasury of $12,903.87. The directors presented the following statement:
Statement of Directors.
Several important improvements have been made during the year, and others are under way. The new fire-proof building for sane women, in course of construction at the time of our last report, has been completed and is now occupied. The conduit, through which steam pipes run from the boiler houses to the buildings, has also been finished, and though the expenditure for this item may seem large, it was not only necessary, but will ultimately prove a work of economy by the lesser cost of repairs of pipes, and by avoiding the danger of damage in making excavations for such repairs. The men's building (formerly women's) was the first building erected at Hillside Home after its acquisition by the district. It had fallen into bad repair, and the plumbing and steam fitting were not such as sanitary officers would approve. We have made extensive improvements on it during the year and it is now almost ready to be occupied.
The necessity of more farm land has long been felt by the directors. The district had for many years been leasing pasture for its cattle at a cost of $300 a year, and the board felt inclined to increase the number of horned cattle so as to give a larger supply of milk for the Home. We have purchased during the year forty acres of land at $40 per acre, and hold under contract 100 additional acres at the same rate. The price is low, the other proposals to sell land contiguous to our farm approximating $100 an acre. The fertility of the farm will be judged from the fact that we harvested 200 bushels of potatoes an acre from this season.
The increase in the expenditure for outdoor relief over last year is accounted for by the decisions of court, rendered early in the year, which greatly increased the class of cases in which outdoor relief may be legally given over what was held during the year preceding. Our system of administration of outdoor relief is highly commended by the best authority, as being calculated to prevent fraud upon the district, and in no case is relief granted until a searching investigation has been made into the merits of the applicant.
A Very Sad Case.
Mrs. Nettie Vandermark, a refined looking lady, told the board a pitiable story. She had been married fourteen years ago and her husband, who was a prosperous carpenter, deserted her three weeks ago, leaving her and three children absolutely destitute. Director Murphy was requested to give the necessary assistance.
Superintendent Beemer reported that there were 154 in the Home as compared with 148 last month. Four inmates had died since the last meeting. Dr. Evans reported that there were 63 sane patients and 51 insane. Total in the Home, 268.
The Home committee reported that they were engaged in preparing new rules for governing the insane department and it was decided to hold a special meeting of the board on Tuesday to consider the report. The outdoor physicians, Drs. Gunster, Paine, Murphy, Donnis and Manley submitted their annual and monthly reports. Mrs. Swan drew attention to the increase in disbursements for drugs from $400 to

Neither Dead Nor Sleeping.

The Scranton Business College is neither dead nor sleeping, but on the contrary is very much alive and very wide awake. Enrolling new students at the rate of 100 per month make things lively, indeed, about this popular institution. The success that is attending this new school is not to be wondered at when it is remembered that many hundreds of ladies and gentlemen, who have been filling lucrative positions for several years, owe their success to the instruction they received from Professors Beck and Whitmore. Then, too, it is now a well known fact the members of the faculty in the new college were selected with such judgment that no changes have been necessary, and that no instructor of less than eight years' experience is employed. The new year opened very auspiciously.
