HER FORTUNE IN GERMANY

An American Baroness Will Claim Large Estate.

OPPOSITION FROM AN UNCLE

Mrs. Ida Barnekow Brunson Assisted by Her Husband Will Engage in a Legal Battle for Her Possessions Across the Water.

By the United Press.

New York, Jan. 8.—Two interesting persons have just sailed from this port for Europe. They were the Baroness Ida Barnekow and her husband, Lieutenant J. M. Brunson. The baroness is only 18 years of age, while her husband is six years older. They are going to Berlin in quest of a fortune.

The father of the baroness, who was a titled gentleman, dropped into the United States some twenty years ago and married Mrs. Kate Green. The issue of this union was one child. The marriage was not a happy one, and the child was placed in a convent, where she was educated. Her father returned to Germany, where he died, and since that time his estate has been in litigation. For a time the claims of the baroness were not recognized, but proof was sent to the German court. The girl's claim to a portion of the estate was finally conceded, and she received some money on account. Her father, Baron von Barnekow, was the owner of the island of Ruegen, and after his death this property was sold. It is said that the guardian of the baron-ess received $20,000 from this sale, but most of the money was spent some years ago. After that the girl's income was cut short, and of late she has not received any allowance

When she married Lieutenant Brunson the young man took hold of the affairs, and he has been in correspondwith officials in Germany. He claims that there is now due his wife from the baron's estate about $250,000 and that this money ought to be paid pany. The sub-committee will prepare at once. The lieutenant will carry with him some strong letters of introduction to officials in Berlin, and will ask the assistance of the American consul at that place.

Has Titled Relatives.

The baroness claims to be the granddaughter of the Countess von Moltke and when she arrives on Germon soil she will look up her titled relative and seek her advice and assistance. As the baroness is a good German scholar she does not anticipate any trouble in making the object of her mission known in person. It is said, however, that the Countess von Moltke has not heretofore taken any particular interest in her relative's affairs. The reason given for this is that the baroness was so far away and at first she was not recognized as heir of Baron of Barnekow. Lieutenant Brunson has laid out his plans in regard to the manner in which he is going to make the fight for the fortune. He has enough money to last them for a year, so that they can live in comfort during their stay in Berlin.

It is expected that he will meet with some opposition from his wife's uncle, a brother of the late Baron von Barne kow. The uncle was exceedingly anxious to secure the title of baron, but the American girl stood in the way, and under the laws of Germany, he could not inherit it from his brother while the latter's child lived. It has been stated that the uncle even offered money for the title, but this was more for the title, it is said, than she did for the uncle's gold.

Hall," is carrying out his plan of edu- delphia Press says: As there is a cating his young wife to fit her for her light demand for coal and there is a new station in life. A few days ago big stock in market, the operators have Martin, of Munfordsville, who has gone to White Hall to give Mrs. Clay lessons in deportment, music and the ordinary branches of learning. Mrs. Clay is only 15 years old and has little more than the rudiments of an education. She has absolutely no advantages of society, and is as ignorant of the graces of dress and deportment as of mathematics or sciences. Miss Martin is expected to make a finished lady of her and is to be paid a liberal salary. She is quite a young woman, but has a fine education and some experience in teaching. Her father, H. C. Martin, is a well known lawyer, who was a war comrade of General Clay.

The Clays live an utterly retired life ors, but it throws at White Hall. Mrs. Clay has been tirely out of work. visited by none of her neighbors, and have very few servants, and the young woman has been attending to the cooking just as she did before her strange marriage. Now that she is to be made a lady she will hire servants and study housekeeping. General Clay is as devoted to the girl as ever, and has lost nothing of his former eccentricity. His children have had nothing to do with him, with the exception of his illegitimate son, Lonnie Clay, who was born during his father's sojourn in St. Petersburg as minister to Russia.

It is expected that a further cessation of work will take place toward the last of the month rendered necessary by the cutting down, under agreement, of the amount to be produced.

A new method of dealing with employes in regard to carrying them over the road has been introduced by the New Jersey Central. Instead of Issuing quarterly passes a mileage book of 1,000 miles is issued to them on remittance of $5, good on all their lines. The new mothod is dooked upon with favor by the employes in general for it equalizes them and gives each and every one an opportunity of obtaining cheap rates. Philadelphia, Jan. 8.-The committee recently appointed to investigate and report upon the question of the "natural and proper distribution" of anthracite coal tonnage between the various producing and carrying companies have appointed the following sub-committee; General Manager Henderson, of the Reading Railroad company; General Manager Sayre, of the Legign Valley Coal company, and General Sales Agent Torrey, of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad and Canal comdata to serve as a basis for the deliberations of the committee as a whole.

The Manufacturers' Record in refer ring to the increase in southern rail-road mileage, says: "The railroad mileage of the south from 1880 to 1891 has increased from 20,612 miles to nearly 47,000 miles. In the same period the south has quintupled its coal production from 6,000,000 to 30,000,000 tons; increased its pig iron production from 400,000 tons a year to nearly 1,600,000 tons; the capital invested in cotton mills increased from $21,900,000 to $107, 000,000; spindles increased from 667,000 to 3,000,000; capital invested in cotton oil mills from $3,500,000 to $30,000,000; capital invested in manufacturing interests advanced from $257,000,000 to $800,000,000; the value of manufactured products turned out has risen from $457,000,000 to at least $1,000,000,000.

Wilkes-Barre Times: "Rumors of the Jersey Central's consideration as to the building of their new Tamanend branch have been in circulation for the past few days. Knowing ones say that the company is computing the cost of constructing a new link from Penn Haven to Audenried, to form a connection with a Tresckow branch. If the reports are true the new link surveyed between Tamanend and Silver Brook will be abandoned, as the new route will serve for all traffic. It is known that a corps of surveyors have surveyed part of the new route and on their report, satisfactory or otherwise, spurned by the baroness. She cared will depend the development of the plans just proposed. The exact distance of the route is not known. This would route to haul the product of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre collieries, and when completed it may cause the line to be extended to Hazle-

This, of course, while it was the best thing to do, resulted in the crowding of the mines on the days when there was work with such a number of men that it was impossible to supply them with enough cars. Thus a great many of them were obliged to stay in the mine all day and only fill one car. A committee walted on President Edwards, of the Kingston Coal company, the other day and asked for some relief and he issued an order al lowing the miners to work without laborers. This is a great aid to the miners, but it throws their assistants en

INDIANA OUTLAWS ESCAPE

The Kidnapers of Ray Thornton Elude Their Pursuers.

RUNNING FIGHT IN A THICKET

The Bandits Are Discovered Two Miles North of Their Rendezvous but Flee Before the Posse-Stolen Goods Are Recovered.

By the United Press.

Lebanon, Ind., Jan. 8.-The excite-ment occasioned by the kidnaping of the 6-year-old son of Charles G. Wickham, of Thorntown, and his rescue from his captors who turned out to be in organized gang of bandits, eight in number, who have been a terror to this community for many months, is still intense. About 5 o'clock Monday even-ing the posse of officers who were in pursuit of the fleeing outlaws came upon them in a dense thicket two miles north of their rendezvous. The bandits at once took to their heels and a running fight ensued, during which a number of shots were exchanged, and though the officers are certain all of them could not have escaped unscathed no one was killed and the villains were soon lost in the brush. All night long the officers, who had been re-inforced by at least fifty men and boys from this city, kept up their search, but the vil-lains were evidently more familiar with the ground than their pursuers and escaped. Yesterday morning the chase was resumed with renewed vigor, but in vain, for no trace of the fugitives could be found. It is supposed they made their way out of the country during the night, and when daylight dawned were many miles away from the scene of their fight of last night.

Hundreds of excited people visited the cave on Sugar Creek, which has cheltered the gang for the past few months. A large amount of stolen property was found, as well as evidence of graver crimes. About three weeks ago Jackson Bales, a wealthy farmer, living two miles east of here, came to Lebanon and sold some hogs, receiving about $200 in cash. He left for home at dark, and has never been seen or heard from since, and it was generally supposed he had left with a wellknown woman of this place with whom he was suspected of being intimate, and who had disappeared a few days previous. It is almost certain now that the unfortunate farmer was murdered for his money, as the hat he wore when last seen was found in the woods near the cave this afternoon. If arrested, the outlaws will receive little mercy, and it is quite possible they will be tried before Judge Lynch, as the people are worked up to a state of excitement little short of frenzy.

A Strange Will Case in the Son Francisco Probate Court. By the United Press.

San Francisco, Jan. 8 .- A will just filed for probate, leaving the estate of Mrs. Jennie Parsons to Minnle Adams Brooks, concludes a strange case. Mrs. Parsons was one of the Mandeville singers well known on the stage a number of years ago. She was one of the passengers on the steamer Pacific, which was lost off Cape Flattery in 1875. She left $5,000 in bank, which amount was turned over to the public administration.

Relatives of the woman's husband had established a claim, when Mrs. Brooks came forward with a photographic will which was found in a botthat had been washed ashore from the wreck. The will is in the form of 4%c.; do. dark, in bbls, 4%a4%c.; cakes, 5c. a letter to a daughter by her first husband, and has just been found.

The Inhabitants of Soumen-Chang Without Shelter in Zero Temperature. By the United Press.

London, Jan. 8 .- A dispatch to the Central News from Shanghai says that reports have been received from New Chwang stating that during the assault of the Japanese upon Soumen-Chang, the town was set on fire and destroyed. rendering 10,000 inhabitants homeless in temperature of forty degrees below the freezing point.

The Japanese are cutting off the retreat of the 15,000 Chinese soldiers commanded by General Sung, and the Taotal, of New Chwang, fearing desertions, has ordered that all soldiers who attempt to run away shall be shot.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

New York, Jan. 8.-The trading at the Stock Exchange today was extremely limited, the total sales footing only 85,-385 shares. The undertone of the market was firm ,a belief prevailing that congress will take favorable action on currency question. There were a few stocks which helped relieve the mo notony of the day, notably Chicago Gas and Jersey Central. The former touched 75. Jersey Central sold as high as 914. General market, while dull, was firm and higher prices were record ed. Missouri Pacific declined to 224 and later rose to 23%. # TO OUR PATRONS:

Washburn-Crosby Co. wish to assure their many pat-rons that they will this year hold to their usual custom of milling STRICTLY OLD WHEAT until the new crop is fully cured. New wheat is now upon the market, and owing to the excessively dry weather many millers are of the opinion that it is already cured, and in proper condition for milling. Washburn-Crosby Co. will take no risks, and will allow the new wheat fully three months to mature before grinding.

This careful attention to every detail of milling has placed Washburn-Crosby Co.'s flour far above other brands.
