W. S. MILLAR'S CIRCULAR. Addressed to the Republican Voters of the Eighth Ward.

W. S. Miller, who has been making such an energetic canvass for the Republican nomination for alderman in the Eighth ward, has addressed the following circular to the Republicans of

To the Republican Voters of the Eighth

Ward:
The Republicans of the Eighth ward, pursuant to a call of the vigilance committee, will hold a caucus Wednesday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 7 o'clock at the respective polling place of each district. The polling place of the First district, which comprises the terri-tory south of Penn avenue, is located in Raub's undertaking establishment, Spruce street, near Washington avenue, and that of the Second district, which comprises the territory north of Penn avenue, is located in Johnson's paint shop, Spruce street near Penn avenue. I am a candidate for the important office of alderman of this sterling business ward and most respectfully solicit your vote in the coming caucus. It was my aim during the brief canvass which I have made, to personally call upon every Republican in the ward and ask his suffrage, and for fear that I may have missed you (owing to a lack of time) I take this means of pre-senting to you my cause. I assure you I will be most grateful and will appreciate your help should you deem it consistent with your good judgment to support me. I pledge myself, if not nominated, to heartily and earnestly support at the polls next February the candidate who may be onored with the nomination, whoever he I further pledge, if nominated, to us all honorable means to be elected, and i elected I will honestly, conscientiously and faithfully perform the duties of the office to the best of my ability.

Please go to the polls and vote as soon after 4 o'clock as possible, and not put it off until the last hour. Hoping for your kind consideration, I remain very respect fully, your obedient servant, WILLIAM S. MILLAR.

An excellent picture of southern life An excellent picture of southern life was presented at the Frothingham last pickly be the "South Refore the War" He and his art were recently commented night by the "South Before the War" company. It is thoroughly realistic and gives an exact reproduction of old time plantation melodies. It pictures the darkey as he was h the days before the war; in his sorrows, his joys, his daily toil, his contests for prizes, his love and merrymaking. Through it all there runs a story o deep, romantic interest. The whole is G. Cook, is already a favorite with a large intensely picturesque and enjoyable. Lecture by Miss Cross.

The attention and interest displayed by many women who listened to the afternoon lecture by Miss Cross on oyster cooking bespeaks success for that feature of the exposition. A space has been arranged for the lectures at the rear of the hall, where domestic women may sit and listen to Miss Cross' lectures each afternoon at 3 o'clock. Her recipes and instructions are illustrated by actual cooking demonstrations, and during yesterday's talk there were numerous questions asked and answered.

Miss Cross first surprised her audience by saying that a steel or iron fork should never come in contact with oysers, which are largely composed of phosphorous, and whose flavor is affected by anything but a wooden or silver fork. She then announced a number of recipes, illustrating each by a cooking process. The recipes in detail are as

Pan Roast-Prepare the buttered toast by squaring and cutting off the crust, and place in individual dishes; drain the oysters well, wipe them with soft cloth, and place about six on each dish of toast; dust with sait and pep-per, add small pieces of butter and moisten with four tablespoonfuls of cream; place dishes in a baking pan half filled with hot water; bake for ten minutes in a quick oven, and serve a dish for each person.

Oysters in Other Styles.

Frieassee Oysters-Place in chafing dish one tablespoonful of butter and when it melts add one tablespoonful of flour, stir around to a smooth paste; add one-half pint of milk, one-half tea-spoon of salt, dash of pepper and twenty-five oysters well drained; as soon as the gills of the oysters curl add the yelks of two eggs and two tablespoonfuls of madeira or sherry, and serve immediately.

Welsh Rarebit-Have ready about four squares of tesat on a hot platter, English dairy cheese grated, a little tion held by the district owing to the sait and a dash of cayenne and four fact that it is to be held at the home of tablespoonfuls of ale or beer; as soon as the cheese melts pour over the but- Rev. tered toast, and serve immediately. Oysters a la Chamberlain-Put inte soon as it melts pour in twenty-five oys-ters well drained and allow the gills to just begin to turn; add one-half teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne, two tablespoonfuls of butter and four tablespoonfuls of cream. When the oysters are done put out the lamp and idd two tablespoonfuls of sherry. Miss Cross' lecture was somewhat curtailed and her demonstrations hamperred because of a delay in erecting the stove. A gas fire had to be used. The arrangements will be more perfect today when the cooking subject will be dainties, and Miss Cross will lecture on stuffed dates, fondant, cream fruits and English cheese straws. There Will Be Prize Contests. A number of prize contests are an-nounced, which should attract attention from good cooks and others. The Weston Milling company has inaugu-rated a bread baking contest for $20 in prizes for loaves baked from their Snow White patent flour. The first prize is $10. The contest closes Friday, when competitive loaves should be left at the booth. Judges are to be selected by the Press club and Manager Buckley. W. H. Baker & Co. will give a $5 gold piece for the best baked chocolate cake, the icing of which has been made of their Premium chocolate. The Press club will give a prize of $5 for the best made jelly cake; the cakes to be brought to the Press club booth by Tuesday of next week. A box of goods, valued at $15 and contributed by the exhibitors, will be given to the person who, on Friday night, makes the best guess upon the number of seeds in a gigantic pumpkin, to be located near the door. Notes of the Exhibit. Last night the Royal Russian orchestra was attired in native fancy Russian dress. Visitors will be given souvenirs by the Press club on one or more evenings of the exhibit.

Marshal Kennedy Milling company oper a booth today; the company is one of the largest of its kind in the state. A handsome and costly lot of O'Connor cut glass from the Hawley manufactory has been added to the stock of the Press club booth.

F. W. Mack, of Easton, Pa., one of the leading and practical painters of the state, is constantly engaged in decorating and beautifying the different booths throughout the armory.

J. H. Pleasants, a shillouette artist, who proposes are wonderful work with the content of the co upon by the New York Tribune.

Next Tuesday afternoon Miss Cross will lecture on "Diet for the Sick," for which event an invitation is extended to doctors and nurses who will be admitted free on presenting their cards at the door.

The booth of the Bensdorp's Royal Dutch Cocoa company and its exhibit is particularly attractive. Its samples are eagerly sought, and its representative, H.

THE ADDRESS OF THE PASTOR

Congratulated the Members of the Con gregation on Extinction of the Debt on the Church Building - Speeches Made by Officers of the Church.

Penn Avenue Baptist church was crowded last evening to witness the burning of the mortgage, and the members that congregated availed themselves of the opportunity of manifesting their joy at the realization of the much-anticipated event.

Rev. Warren G. Partridge, pastor, opened the services by conducting a praise service, after which he made an inspiring address, in which he congratulated the members upon the auspicious occasion. The church was or-ganized thirty-five years ago at the residence of Nathaniel Hallstead with a membership of twenty-five; now the church mustered over 850 members. He also congratulated the charter members, four of whom were now living, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Hallstead, Miss S. C. Krigbaum and Mrs C. Q. Carmen. He dwelt upon the hardships under which the early members had worked and their eventual success.

having, since two years ago, reduced the debt of $5,000 to $3,000. He also heartily congratulated the people of the church from those who gave the smallest offerings to those who gave the large contribution in view of the success which had crowned their efforts. When he commenced the agitation in October last to wipe off the debt he was much discouraged at first, owing to the serious depression in trade, but after working for three or four weeks he was assured of success, and the result was shown that not only was $3,000 raised, but $300 above that amount was Fulfilled a Solemn Pledge.

He desired particularly to impress upon them that they were that evening fulfilling a solemn pledge made to Deacon Nathaniel Hallstead, who, in presenting them with the magnificent parsonage on Miffin avenue, made a condition that the mortgage on the church should be cleared, and he congratulated Mr. Hallstead on the consummation of his hopes,

P. B. Finley, who followed, heartily congratulated the pastor, officers and members of the church and congregation on the happy consummation of what they had so long hoped and prayed for. On behalf of the trustees, he desired to tender their thanks to all who had so nobly contributed to the fund for the extinction of the debt.

Ex-Treasurer L. M. Horton read an interesting statement of the finances of the church commencing at December. 1864, when three lots were purchased from the Lackawanna Iron and Coal company for $2,398. This liability was reduced to $800 in July 1882, when two years afterward, owing to the enlargement of the church edifice, a mortgage for $8,500 was negotiated. mortgage was executed with the Provident Life and Trust company for $10,000 and the former mortgage with the Merchants' and Mechanics' bank satisfied. In October, 1889, $5,000 was paid on ac count of this mortgage, being part of proceeds of sale of the vacant lot adjoining the church. The following were the remainder of the payments: May, 1893, Ladies' Social union, $1,000; May, 1894, Ladles' Social union, $1,000; Octo-ber, 1894, anniversary pledges, $1,000; December, 1894, anniversary pledges, $1,000, and Jan. 3, 1895, balance from pledges, $1,030,15, being in full discharge of principal and interest. The total interest paid since 1866 to date was $6,500. Mr. Kellar's Remarks. Luther Keller, president of the board of trustees, extended the congratulations of his colleagues and himself to the members of the church upon the culmination of their sacrifices and desired to impress upon them that although they had now discharged the debt upon their edifice, their obligations to contribute in the future must not be forgotten. It was true that the heavy burden of annual interest was removed, but to insure the work of the church being properly performed would require substantial contribution from members. and this was an important feature Benjamin Fillmore and Nathaniel mony was proceeded with. The following officers of the church surrounded the pastor on the platform; Deacons more, Nathaniel Hallstead, J. C. High field, H. A. Browning, Charles Henwood, J. L. Stelle and Charles Hallstead: trustees, President Luther Keller, William McClave, J. W. Browning, H. L. Hallstead, Edwin S. Williams Frederick Koehler, Daniel Langstaff P. B. Finley; Church Clerk F.
