FRED KNEW THE LAW.

A Bright Taylor Youth Who Did Not Spend His Time in Court for Nothing.

At the last term of quarter sessions ourt Fred Young, of Taylor, was tried for assault and battery upon a little boy named Hugh Flannery. The jury acquitted him but directed him to pay the costs, which was quite a formidable bill, as three generations of the prosecutor's friends were in court to testify. When Young was not convicted the presecutor consoled himself with the thought that the bill of costs would put a big hole in Young's wallet.

But he went into court yesterday and availed himself of the insolvent laws, and there was an outburst when the Flannerys heard of it. Mrs. Flannery demeaned herself in the clerk of the court's office with the air of a tragedy

SOME DAINTIES FOR DESSERT

Miss Cross Explains Several Toothsom Postdinner Dishes-Over One Thou sand Dollars in Samples Given Away Daily.

When last night the armory doors had closed on the third day of the Food exposition, the management and the officers of the Press club, under whose auspices the exhibit is being given, were satisfied with the attendance and prosdays, which bespeaks success for the enterprise. It is estimated that the fifty enterprises or firms represented in the exposition give away $1,000 worth of samples daily, which will reach a total of $12,000 when the show closes. When in addition to these figures are considered the other expenses of the exhib-itors some idea may be gleaned of the cost of advertising and the magnitude of the display.

During the day a number of Pittston people and Wilkes-Barre grocers were at the exhibit, and got more than a little fun and enlightenment to pay them for their trip. Manager Buckley is trying to arrange for special railroad rates which, during the remaining days, will bring large numbers of visitors from

Talk About Deserts.

Yesterday's cooking lecture between and 4 o'clock was devoted to deserts. Judging from the interest displayed by the audience, this feature of the exposition promises to be very popular. Miss Cross, the lecturer, has a happy and concise way in explaining technical cooking processes and through her good humor and a desire to please has won deserved compliment from many of her hearers. In speaking of deserts she stated that they are not really necessary and for that reason should be as plain and wholesome as possible. Americans, she said, are peculiar in their desire for some sweet and tooth some diet with which to conclude a dinner, but are content with some plain article. Miss Cross gave the recipes for and cooked the following:

Velvet Cream-Soak & box of gelatine in a quarter of a cup of water for half an hour; put into a farina boller with ½ pint of cream and stir until the gelatine is dissolved, then add ½ cup of sugar and ½ pint of cream; as soon as the sugar is dissolved add 1 gill of sherry and turn into a mold to harden.

Little Caramel Custards—Melt ½ cup of granulated sugar, add 2 tablespoonfuls of warm water; cover the bottoms of greased custard cups with this caramel; for the custard break four eggs without separating, beat them and add a cup and one-half of milk, ¼ cup of sugar; fill the cups, put into a baking pan partly filled with hot water and bake in a moder-alled with hot water and bake in a moderate oven for 25 minutes.

Omelette Souffle—Take the whites of 6 eggs, beat them to a stiff froth, add the yolks of three and 3 tablespoonfuls of pulverized sugar, the Juice of half a lemon: heap into a greased baking dish and bake in a quick oven for ten minutes.

Compote of Pears—Cut slices of bread the shape of the pear, toast and butter; make a syrup of ½ cup of sugar and a cup of water; let it come to the boiling point, turn in the pears and as soon as they are turn in the pears and as soon as they are thoroughly heated place each on a piece of the tonst; in the center place a slice of conserved pineapple and cherries that have been soaked in sherry; moisten one easpoonful of corn starch with a little cold water, add it to the syrup, let it cook until the starch is clear, flavor with vanilla and pour over the fruit,

Subject for Today's Lectur Miss Cross will lecture this afteroon on meat cooking, and will gige some useful points on broiled. Hainburg and larded steaks and mushroom

There is no extra charge for the penefits of the lectures, which are extremely practical from the fact that the dishes are prepared while the recipes are being given, and when cooked are sampled by the audience.

Conspicuous among the novelties of the exhibition are the Bohemian glass blowers and Pleasants, the man who, with a pair of scissors, makes a silhouette likeness of you while you wait Each attraction is novel and attracts considerable attention.

One enterprising visitor from Olyphant yesterday took all of her samples out of a large paper bag given her by the Petti-john people and took an account of stock, to the evident amusement of the exhibitors. She proudly displayed a package of Beck's breakfastina, a box of London cream biscuits, a sample bag of Worcester salt, bags of Bensdorp's cocoa, Kelly's crackers, box of Pettijohn breakfast food, sample of orange sugar, two cakes of soap, a small sack of Caravan tea, samples of chocolate, a box of Atlantic City salt water taffy, besides numerous novelties and all the hot biscuits, cakes and cups of cocoa and various drinks.

TWO ON THE ALDERMAN.

Fitzsimmons, of the Eighth, Is the Victim of Jokers.

Alderman Fitzsimmons has been the victim of two well-planned jokes. Apropos of his candidacy for re-elec-tion as alderman of the Eighth ward, he yesterday received and paid expressage, on a package, apparently from New York, which contained a toy outfit of a soldier's accoutrements, cluding cap, gun, knapsack, etc. When the alderman opened the package he was probably forcibly reminded of his Republican opponent, W. S. Millar, adjutant of the Thirteenth regiment. A certain woman with headquarters at the city hall might know something of the sender's identity. A demented woman called at the alderman's office during Tuesday. Some-one had told her the office needed cleaning and that she should not take "no" pects. A much larger number of visi- for an answer, but to clean out the tors were present than on the preceding place whether the alderman was willy or nilly. To make the case more imperative she was given a letter of introduction. Alderman Fitzsimmon's office is, as a matter of fact, scrupulously clean and after a half hour's heated conversation he succeeded in ridding himself of the obnoxious visitor. The woman returned to the persons who had sent her and accused the alderman of being a Baptist, a German and an anarchist.

THEY TURNED ON THE LIGHT. Scheme by Which Residents of the North End Lighted Their Homes With Elec-

To illuminate their residences with electric light without incurring any expense must be an interesting question to many citizens, but it is one which has been solved in a very practical anner by several enterprising and economical residents of the North End, and, it is rumored, residents of other portions of the city also. Their ingenuity and economic efforts have, however, been summarily frustrated by the Traction company.

The scheme has been discussed more than once, but it remained for a man from Providence to carry it into effect. which he did, by connecting with the wire of the Traction company which conveys the electric power to propel the street cars. It is well known that the company had a system of feed-wires attached to the various poles by which the power is re-inforced at certain intervals, and that to complete the circuit it would be necessary, only, to connect with the street rails. To many minds it would be difficult to conceive how the rails could be reached by wire without arousing suspicion, but this would be unnecessary. The water pipes make an excellent circuit by which the connection can be established, hence the inventive genius of North End strung a wire from the feed wire to a harmless looking tree and from there to his residuce in a devious route which removed all traces of suspicion. Thereafter the task was easy. He purchased an electric lamp and fittings, connected up the wire and water pipe and a brilliant light illuminated his residence.

He enjoyed the privilege for some time, but was so elated with success and so proud of his immunity from gas bills that he felt like bursting with the secret, and in the most confidential manner possible imparted it to a few of his bosom friends, who, fascinated with the idea of "free lights," readily adopted the scheme and became patrons of the Traction company.

The sudden popularity of electric light in unanticipated quarters, however, aroused the suspicion of the officials of the Traction company, who requested that the lights cease to shine or the genil of North End would shine in court.

parties are unknown patrons of the Traction company, and efforts are now being made to institute a systematic Inspection of the poles, etc., with a view to detecting the offenders.

GILLESPIE FAILURE.

Stock in the Providence Store Levied on by the Sheriff.

Deputy Sheriff J. D. Ferber went to the North End yesterday and levied upon the stock and fixtures in the store of C. Joe Gillespie, the Providence merchant, whose place of business is located on West Market street, near the square. This action of the sheriff was caused by the foreclosure of three judgment notes aggregating $31,548, held by Postmaster F. M. Vandling and Wade Finn for $8,000, and Mrs. Margaret Shotten for $3,048, and by Mrs. Neille Osterhout for $20,500.

Merchant Gillespie has been in financial difficulty for some time, and it was thought by his friends that he would be able to tide himself over, but the dull times and business depression only served to increase his indebtedness. The sheriff will appoint a day next week on which the effects will be offered at public sale.

LAKE FOR NAY AUG PARK

Commissioners Are Considering an Offer from the Canavan Estate.

STREAM FLOWS THROUGH LAND

Channel Could Be Dammed and It Would Make a Beautiful Lake-Attorney P. W. Stokes Empowered to Represent Estate Before Commissioners.

Adjoining Nay Aug Park on the up-per side is a tract of land containing minety-eight acres, owned by the heirs of the late Thomas Canavan, of Susquehanna. John P. Canayan, a son of the vices will be held at the Penn Avenue deceased, is the agent of the estate Baptist church, when the subject of and lately he has been thinking of plotting the land into building lots. He engaged Civil Engineer E. F. Blewitt to draught a map of the territory, but he also has written a letter to Attorney P. W. Stokes, of this city, informing him that he would like to sell twenty acres of the land to the city of Scranton as an addition to Nay Aug park. These twenty acres are situated be tween the Delaware, Lackawanna and levy on the stock on three executions the park this strip of land would be a most valuable one. The stream winds through it and the channel is a most valuable of the channel is a most valuable one. The stream winds through it and the channel is a most valuable of the channel is a most valuable one. The stream winds through it and the channel is a most valuable one. and deep one. At a cost of not more than a few thousand dollars a dam could be built and one of the most beau-tiful sheets of pure water in this part of the state would be the result. That is why the land is of such especial value for park purposes.

Mr. Canavan instructed Attorney Stokes to confer with the park commissioners and see if they regarded the proposition with favor. The commis-sioners were well pieased with the idea of acquiring the land, but have not, however, held a meeting yet to consider the matter, but they expect to get together, perhaps, Saturday night and discuss the case fully. The price of the land was not mentioned.

Mr. Canavan, it appears, hardly knows what value to place on it. If the park commissioners decide to purchase it and an appropriation can be had to defray the cost, the price will be fixed at a very reasonable figure, Attorney Stokes said. Mr. Canavan will come on here and meet the commissioners if they decide favorably.

Colonel E. H. Ripple, one of the park

commissioners, said last night that the land is a most desirable plot for park purposes and by all means it ought to secured. A lake, such as could be built without much cost if these twenty acres were obtained, would enhance the usefulness of Nay Aug park beyond any conception. Option May Be Secured.

The only matter that makes the outlook gloomy is that councils will not, in their estimates, provide any money for the purpose. However, an option will likely be secured on the land, and in the near future an appropriation may be forthcoming. If the land becomes a part of Nay Aug park it will mean that a lake about 500 feet wide and a half mile long will be built, because the land could not be utilized for any other purpose to make it worth adding to the park. BROWNIES IN FAIRYLAND. They Will Be Seen at V. M. C. A. Hail on
