Edward O' Malley, of North Washington avenue, sustained a sprained ankle on Wednesday by slipping on a stairway in his home.
Those who took part in Professor Lindsay's "Chimes of Normandy" will meet in the room of the Music store at 8 o'clock tonight.

John Brown, of 714 Eyon street, was yesterday admitted to the Moses Taylor hospital to receive treatment for a sprained ankle. Brown, who is employed as a driver in one of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western mines, met with an accident some time ago, and owing to a relapse it was deemed advisable to take him to the hospital.
The annual meeting of the Association of the Home for the Friendless will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the rooms of the Young Women's Christian Association. It is desired that all friends of the Home will attend this meeting, which for many reasons will be the most interesting one held for many years. Clergymen are especially requested to be present. Election of officers will be held.
Ex-Judge W. H. Stanton yesterday filed an amended affidavit of defense in the assumpsit case of the heirs of Liguor Dealer L. Strouse, of Philadelphia, against Joseph Rudewick, the South Washington avenue merchant, lately deceased. The suit is for a claim of $512.23 with interest. Mrs. Helena Rudewick deposes that she is the executrix of the estate of Joseph Rudewick and desires to be named as the defendant in the suit.

The Weston Mill company's bread baking contest, to be decided tonight at the food exposition, has attracted considerable attention. The judges will be Mrs. E. W. Cross, Mrs. A. L. Buckley and Miss Josephine Koons. They are impartial and will make their choices in strict privacy. The result will be announced from the booth of the company at 8:30 o'clock. The contestants should send in their loaves today. Receipts for the bread will be given at the booth.

COL. BURSCHELL'S DEATH.
An Old and Well Known Resident of the City.
Colonel Peter Burschell died Wednesday afternoon at his residence, corner of North Main avenue and Dean street. He was 78 years of age and came to Dunmore from Germany in 1848.
The Keystone brewery, the first establishment of its kind in this county, was established by Colonel Burschell. He was made a colonel in Governor Packer's staff in 1858, and was elected jury commissioner of Luzerne county in 1865. He survived a large family and was twice married. His second wife was Mrs. Charlotte Volkerath, of New York.

CAUCUSES IN THE SEVENTH.
Thomas Clark Nominated for Common Council at a Meeting in St. John's Hall, District Officers Named.
Democrats of the Seventh ward held a caucus in St. John's hall last night and nominated Thomas Clark for common council. It was largely attended and the proceedings were conducted in a quiet and orderly manner. M. J. Kelly was elected chairman and James Padden secretary. In a brief speech Mr. Kelly stated the object of the convention and urged those who participated in it to be true to the candidates nominated.

He then called for nominations for common council and James Gillette named Thomas Clark. Patrick Thomas placed Patrick Murray in nomination. A vote resulted as follows: Clark, 80; Murray, 28. On motion of Mr. Murray the nomination was made by acclamation. The following district officers were nominated:
First district—Judge of election, Anthony Gillard; Inspector, James Cuth, Jr.; register, James Reddington.
Second district—Judge of election, Patrick V. Scanlon; Inspector, Michael Davis; register, Michael Corby.
Third district—Judge of election, Brian Dolan; Inspector, Anthony Loftus; register, Michael Xonon.

Mr. Clark, the nominee for common council, has resided in the ward since boyhood and is at present engaged in the plumbing business there.
Another Caucus Held.
Between the hours of 4 and 7 another caucus was held at the various polling places of the ward, which was attended only by those who were favorable to the candidacy of M. J. Gilroy, in whose interest that particular caucus was called. No one attempted to oppose him, although a few votes were cast for Mr. Clark. It was held that the caucus was illegal and was, therefore, ignored by the majority of the Democratic voters of the ward. Gilroy's friends claim that he received 161 votes against 3 for Clark, but watchers of the balloting which would indicate that less than seventy votes were cast altogether in the entire ward at these caucuses. The district officers nominated at the Gilroy caucus were:
First district—Judge of election, John Malloy, Jr.; Inspector, James Maloney; register, Terrence Rafferty.
Second district—Judge of election, Patrick V. Scanlon; Inspector, Michael Davis; register, Michael Corby.
Third district—Judge of election, Thomas Gerrity; Inspector, Edward McAndrew; register, John Xonon.

Gilroy is unpopular with the voters of the ward and his candidacy would be unworthy of the dignity of consideration were it not that he has enlisted several well known citizens of the Seventh in his support. The voters of that ward can in all probability be trusted to allow Gilroy to remain in obscurity. He would not shine as a city father.

AT DAVIS THEATER.
Blacklisted a Powerful Melo-Drama Successfully Presented.
"Blacklisted," a melo-drama full of realistic scenes of every-day life, was presented with great success yesterday at Davis' theater. The first act opens with a scene in the foreman's room in a mill, where the delegates assembled to meet the employees and order a strike. In the second act the strikers meet the militia in the village street, and afterward the destruction of the mill is given with splendid effect. The drama afterward develops into more intricate details, which are worked out and followed with deep interest by the audience.
The company is a powerful one and they present the play in a splendid manner, and the absorbed attention of the audience yesterday testified to the excellence of their work.

FAMILY GATHERING.

A pleasant evening was spent at the rooms of the Excelsior club on Wyoming avenue last night by the members of the Schiller lodge, of Free and Accepted Masons, and their friends. The occasion was the annual "family gathering" of the members, when the German citizens have an opportunity of meeting at the festive board and discussing the traditions of Fatherland.
A banquet was served at 10 p. m., when about 150 guests were entertained, after which patriotic toasts were proposed and responded to. Schmitt's orchestra discoursed splendid music, to which the large number of guests danced until the early hours of this morning.

SEVERAL PRIZES OFFERED
For Bread and Cake Bakers and Good Guessers.
AT THE FOOD EXPOSITION
Three Impartial and Competent Judges Have Been Selected—Miss Cross Gives Some Points on Meat Cooking. Notes of the Exhibit.

Wet and inclement weather yesterday failed to keep a large number of women and some men from the Food Exposition in the armory. New faces are seen every day, but there are many who have made the second and third visit and not grown tired of the extensive display.
Interest in the exhibit has been increased by the prizes offered by the Press club, Weston Mill company, the Baker's Club, the company and the management. The three former will give valuable money prizes for bread or cakes, while the management offers a box of samples valued at $15 to the best guess on the number of seeds in a pumpkin to be located at the door this afternoon and evening.
When Miss Cross introduced her cooking lecture in the afternoon by saying that coarse grained meats could be made quite as palatable as the fine grained and succulent broiled tenderloin, many among the audience of women expressed surprise. During the lecture, however, Miss Cross prepared several tempting meat dishes and gave many useful hints on the different qualities of meat and how they should be prepared.

She said that only tender meat should be broiled and that there are several proper ways of preparing meats with coarse fibres. Tough meat can be made tender, she says, by letting it stand several hours after the three tablespoonfuls of olive oil mixed with one teaspoonful of lemon juice is poured over it. French cooks frequently resort to this method.
Good and tender meat for cooking can be selected by its dark purple color when first cut and which changes to red. The eye can detect tender meat by its fine grain and firm yellowish white fat. Meat should be soft and moist to the touch. Miss Cross explained and prepared the following recipes.

The Recipes Given.
Larded Steak—Should be selected from a flank or round steak and weigh about a pound and a half. Cut the fat make the filling by taking one cup of bread crumbs, a tablespoonful of melted butter, a tablespoonful of chopped celery, a teaspoonful of onion, a dash of teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper; spread this over the steak, roll up tight and tie it. Pieces of larding pork which have been cut in small strips and have been dipped with a cloth and fitted into the larding needle; take a stitch of about one inch through the meat leaving an end on each side; connect the ends and have a few lardons, place in a baking pan with half cup of hot water, a half teaspoonful of salt and pieces of the steak fat that have been tried in a hot oven for ten minutes for thirty minutes, basting every ten minutes.
Hamburg Steak—Take 1 pound of lean meat chopped in small pieces, add 1/2 grated onion, 1/2 teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper; moisten your hands in cold water and make into balls; a pound of meat will make 10 balls. Place in a hot platter, dust with salt and place about a tablespoonful of butter on the steak and garnish the dish.
Mushroom Sauce—Place into the saucepan 1 ounce of butter, allow it to melt and add 1 tablespoonful of brown flour, 1/2 pint of stock and allow it to boil; if you are using fresh mushrooms pour 1/2 pint and let them simmer for 10 minutes; add 1 tablespoonful of mushroom catsup, 1/2 teaspoonful of salt and pour over the larded steak; if they are canned mushrooms you are required only to heat them in the sauce.

Concerning Broiled Steak.
Broiled steak is a very simple and quite clear and grease your broiler; the steak should be at least an inch thick; place it over the fire and turn it frequently; it should be broiled in about 10 minutes; a hot platter, dust with salt and place about a tablespoonful of butter on the steak and garnish the dish.
Mushroom Sauce—Place into the saucepan 1 ounce of butter, allow it to melt and add 1 tablespoonful of brown flour, 1/2 pint of stock and allow it to boil; if you are using fresh mushrooms pour 1/2 pint and let them simmer for 10 minutes; add 1 tablespoonful of mushroom catsup, 1/2 teaspoonful of salt and pour over the larded steak; if they are canned mushrooms you are required only to heat them in the sauce.

An Olyphant Opinion.
"A food exposition is now being conducted in the Electric City, where qualified persons give practical exhibition of cooking and other lectures on the best method, according to the laws of hygiene, to prepare the necessary fuel for animal heat. This is practical education and will do much good. The art of cooking is one of the most important branches of human knowledge, and is more closely connected with morals and happiness than the superficial sciences of the day. In this age of higher education and ceaseless rivalry, the competitors learn that the human stomach is not a waste bag into which anything and everything can be thrown with impunity. Chemistry teaches that there is a vast difference in the nourishing qualities of various articles of food. And now we are taught that discrimination as to kinds of food is not enough, for much depends on the cooking. The kitchen has killed more men than the throne. The brutality, insensibility and coarseness of men in their eating are things that arise from improperly managed kitchens, which blast both body and soul eternally. A poor, ignorant cook is unconsciously poisoning his neighbor."

Notes of the Exhibit.
Saturday afternoon is school children's day, when all the little ones will be admitted for 10 cents.
The Washburn Crosby company will send their big Dutch windmill booth to the Wilkes-Barre exposition.
The visitors keep, among other souvenirs of the exposition, a novel one given out at the Tribune booth.
The Russian Court orchestra closes its week tomorrow to be replaced Monday by Kaprosny Karoly's Hungarian orchestra.

tra. The latter is a very fine organization, and is sure to make a hit.
F. W. Lutz, Philadelphia agent for Bendary's cocoa, will be here Saturday to see how their exhibit looks.
G. L. C. Frantz, of Smith & Frantz, Wholesale Grocers, of Wilkes-Barre, came up and took a look at the exposition yesterday.
Monday night is retail grocers' night. Every retail grocer in this and neighboring cities will be admitted complimentary, on presentation of their business card, bill head or other proper identification.
The Coal Oil Johnny soap booth possesses attractions of peculiar merit to Scrantonians. The early residents can recall many Coal Oil Johnny houses similar the one shown in miniature. The exhibit is a good one.
The Baker's chocolate people offer prizes of $5 and $2.50 for the first and second best chocolate cakes, the thing to be made from their premium chocolate. The contest will be held at the exposition and closes Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.
Two able demonstrators, Dr. R. T. Sanders and Miss Verlie Fritz are in charge of the exhibit of the Vichetiz Chemical company, of Philadelphia. The vichetiz is said to be a cure for nervousness and is a very palatable drink.
The Scranton Stove works furnish the famous Dutch range for Miss Cross to use in demonstrating. It gives perfect satisfaction and is very highly regarded by this eminent cooking lecturer. Their display is one of the best at the exhibition.

Tonight the management will have a pumpkin seed guessing contest for a big surprise box of articles contributed by exhibitors. Every visitor will receive a coupon on which to write their guess on the number of seeds. The one guessing nearest will get the box.
The exposition employes have a very nice quartette that will make some good music before the close of the exposition. Miss Cross will visit Australia this coming spring, going under Mr. Buckley's management. She will lecture on cookery in the larger Australian cities.
Double-headed tacks and a chimney rack for use by retailers are two of the novelties sold by Frank P. Bodenstine, 101 N. Second st., who is exhibiting the Lisk cake tins and taking orders for cakes, is mentioned as follows by the New England Kitchen Magazine: "She was a teacher in a normal school, becoming tired of the routine and having a natural talent for cooking, took up this line of work which she finds both pleasant and profitable."

LICENSE ON WAGONS.
Ordinance Introduced in Common Council with That End in View—Suggestion to Secure More Land for Noy Park.
Common council last night held a brief and unimportant regular meeting just a quorum answered to roll call.
An ordinance creating a license on wagons was introduced by Mr. Morris and referred to committee. Excerpts from the ordinance provide that it shall go into effect April 1; that light one-horse delivery wagons, and vehicles in the stock of dealers are exempted; that licensed vehicles are to be designated by small metal plates to be supplied by the city treasurer when taxes are paid; that persons shall be arrested on and after July 1 who have not complied with the ordinance; that wagons with tires over four inches wide are exempted.
Mr. Moir introduced a resolution directing the park commissioners to investigate the cost and advisability of securing land on each side of Hoarling brook, Myrtle street and Cleveland avenue, with the object of making an artificial lake for bathing purposes.

HAD LIVED LONG ENOUGH
Daniel O'Rolls, of Peckville, 83 Years of Age, Hangs Himself.
USED PIECE OF A CLOTHES LINE
Went to an Out House, Placed the Rope Around a Rafter and Formed a Noose Which He Placed About His Neck.
Daniel O'Rolls, who had reached the patriarchal age of 83, committed suicide yesterday at Peckville by hanging himself with a piece of a clothes line. Despondent and the general breaking down of his system due to his extreme age, are supposed to have caused his desire to pay the debt of nature before he had been formally called.
Mr. O'Rolls was one of the pioneers of this region. He was born in the southern part of this county, known then as Slocum Hollow, and spent his youth amid the fields and forest that a few years later were destined to be the site of a great, thriving city.
Some time ago Mr. O'Rolls' wife died and he took up his residence with one of his sons at Peckville, but about a month ago transferred his place of abode to the residence of another son in a different portion of that village. Of late he complained much about his health, which was breaking down and he suffered from fits of despondency.
A few days ago he remained to his daughter-in-law that he wished the weather was mild and he would wander into the woods and never come back. Yesterday afternoon he went to an out-house, having provided himself with a piece of clothes line. He threw the rope over a rafter, made a noose of it, and then jumped off the bench.
The rope was so long that his toes touched the ground. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon the old man was missed and his grandson made a search for him. He was horrified to find him hanging from the rafter. His body was still warm. It was cut down and a message sent to Coroner Kelly acquainting him of the occurrence. He went to Peckville last evening and held an inquest.
A Jury Empanelled.
A jury, consisting of John Manley, Patrick Carey, Thomas Granahan, Thomas Mullins, Michael Callahan, and W. G. White, was selected, and after viewing the remains a number of witnesses were examined.
The verdict was that Daniel O'Rolls came to his death by strangulation.

TOMORROW'S MEETING.
Called to Protest Against the Atrocities in Armenia.
A circular, of which the following is a copy, has been issued by the special committee having charge of tomorrow evening's meeting, a protest against the Armenian atrocities.
To the Citizens of Scranton:
In accordance with the suggestion made a few days ago by our worthy mayor, a public meeting will be held in the Elm Park church on Saturday evening, Jan. 12, at 8 o'clock, in order to call the attention of our citizens to the unparalleled atrocities which the Armenian Christians have suffered at the hands of the Turks, and to utter a protest against them.
His honor, the mayor, will preside. E. B. Sturges, William Connell, W. W. Weston, Judge Alfred Hunt and others will speak. James McLeod, Secretary.
Jan. 10, 1895.
There is no doubt that the spacious Elm Park church will be crowded and that the enthusiasm of the meeting will reflect the popular opinion of Scranton upon the horrible atrocities committed by the Turks.
