NEW TRIALS REFUSED.

Judge McClure Says That If One of the Should Have Been Called to the Attention of the Court During the Trial.

Judge Harold M. McClure, of Lewisburg, president judge of the Twentieth judicial district, was in the city yesterday for the purpose of delivering two opinions in cases which he tried here at the November term of common pleas court, which were decided in favor of the plaintiffs and on which arguments for a new trial had been made. A very important one was the trespass suit of Mrs. Jemima Davis against the People's Street Railway company, of Luzerne county. Mrs. Davis was injured in a collision between two street cars near the Dickson works. The case was tried on Nov. 27, last year, and the jury found a verdict of $3,000 in favor of Mrs. Davis. A new trial was asked for on the ground that competent medical testimony was adduced, proving that Mrs. Davis's injuries were the result of rheumatism, and also that a juryman on the case, Charles Atwater, was prejudiced in favor of the plaintiff, from admissions he made in the jury room

Judge McClure held that the evidence of Dr. Van Bergen for the plaintiff was to the effect that her injuries were the result of the accident. In ruling upon the fact that a juryman was biased, Judge McClure said that it was too late to discuss that matter after a verdict was reached. The proper time was in open court before the case was given to the jury. The rule for a new trial was discharged.

Judge McClure discharged the rule for a new trial in the appeal suit of W. S. Reed against J. S. Miller.

SOME CHANGES PROPOSED

To Be Made in Rules Governing the League of American Wheelmen.

EADERS AMONG THE RACERS

Number of Races Won and Lost by Them and the Records Made and Now Held-American Team Is to Race in Mexico.

The officials of the League of American Wheelmen are preparing a number of amendments which will be offered at the National association meeting on Feb. 14, which, if adopted, will necessitate some radical changes in the organization, says the New York Sun. Chief Consul Sterling Elliott, of the Massachusetts division, proposes to offer the following: First—That section relating to the objects of the organization be so changed as to include the control and promotion of track racing.

Second—Article 3 to be so altered as to include, besides wheelmen, any other person who is interested in the causes which the league represents.

who are in sympathy with the League of American Wheelmen in its road-im-provement crusade. The suggestion will also be offered directing the Na-tional Racing Board to adopt a schedle of fees to be charged, so that persons who apply to the racing board for sanctions shall pay an assessment, which in the aggregate will be sufficient to pay the expenses of running the or sanctions the racing board will be self-supporting without drawing upon the national treasury. It is hoped to levy a tax upon League of American Wheelmen clubs who apply for sanctions to run race meets. The League of American Wheelmen Igislators find that with the growth of the league some arrangements must be made from which the organization can derive a bigger income. With the passage of these proposed amendments the League of American Wheelmen hope to obtain a position where they can devote considerable time to road improvement

Mr. Gideon's Purpose

Should George D. Gideon, the Pennsylvania member of the racing board f the League of American wheelmen, become chairman of the national board. the league will find in him a man who is very radical in his ideas upon racing, and, in fact, one who is destined to oring the organization to look with favor upon professional races, some-thing which the league now dis-courages. Wheelmen have formed this conclusion in regard to Gideon by reason of the fact that it is announced that he will urge the national assembly next month to change the title of the Class B racing men to promateurs.

The appointment of Henry E. Ducker, of Buffalo, as chairman of the New York State Racing board places at the lead of the racing interests of the league in this state a man who has had quite a career in bicycling. Ducker n 1886 was manager of the Springfield tcurnament, and was at that time chief consul of the Massachusetts division of the League of American Wheelmen, In 1886, when Abbott Bassett, the chairnan of the racing board, suspended all the well known amateurs upon the track at that time for professionalism, Ducker sided with the racing men, and President Beckwith, of the League of American Wheelmen, removed him from the office of chief consul. He then, Jurors Was Prejudiced in the Matter It with the racing men suspended, seceded from the league and started a rival organization, the American Cyclists union. This organization, which was opposed to the League of American Wheelmen, finally died, and Ducker dropped into obscurity. He removed to Buffalo, and, while taking an interest in cycling for the past four years, he has taken no active participation in league affairs up to the time of his reent appointment.

The first national exhibit of bicycles, cycle sundries and accessories will be held at the Madison Square from Jan. 19 to 26 inclusive. Manufacturers from all parts of the country have engaged spaces and will exhibit all their models. A number of foreign firms will also exhibit their wheels.

Leading Racing Men. The eight leading racing men in this country, after examining the work of the wheelmen during the past season include Johnson, Sanger, Tyler, Bliss, Bald, Titus, Cabanne and Murphy. These men competed in all the big tournaments, and in addition to winning some valuable prizes created a number of new records. A comparison of the winnings of the eight men is as Johnson ..... 62 Tyler ..... 57 Tyler ..... Cabanne ..... Bald ..... Murphy ..... 58

Considering the manner in which rec ords are now broken it is difficult to place any records to a rider's credit for my length of time. The records held by these leading riders are as follows:

An American racing team under the management of F. E. Spooner, the cyele correspondent, will travel in Mexico of Mexico and Texas, returning for the American racing circuit next June. In the team will be L. D. Cabanne, of St. Louis, holder of the quarter mile un-paced record of 25 seconds; Dr. A. T. Brown, of Cleveland, the speedy quarter miler, with a world's record of 28 3-5 seconds, in competition; L. A. Callahan, of Buffalo, road and track champion; E. F. Leonhar, Buffalo, whose straightaway record of 1m. 35s. still stands the fastest mile by man or beast, and A. J. Nicolett, of Chicago, who will do trick riding. Frank Lyman, trainer of Bliss in 1893, will have charge of the training. The party of

IN LOCAL THEATERS.

Daniel Sully, the Irish-American comedian, will present Daniel L. Hart's new comedy drama, "O'Neil, Washington, D. C.," at the Academy of Music Monday evening. It is said that this play is of much better class than any in which Mr. Sully has heretofore been seen. Its dramatic construction is highly complimented by the press of San Francisco. Very soon in the first act the play begins to scintillate, the players to brighten and the action to briskly move. Epigrams, original and catchy, rivet the attention of the audi-The plot begins to evidence strong dramatic interest. The actors themselves to emerge from chrysalis state to take wings and fly. Comedy and pathos relieve each other. Happy scenic effects, introducing just enough of our modern realism to make it appetizing are furnished in the second act, where the electric inventor is shown in his workshop with a beautiful model man-of-war, one of the White Squadron, to be submitted in competition to the naval committee. The story, which may be briefly told, is of an electric in ventor who spent years of day and the company, night toil perfecting his ironelad. His plans are copied by a friend whom he implicitly trusts. A vital portion of the electric machinery, which can only be replaced by months of work is stolen by the false confidant at the last moment. When trial day comes, the scoundrel submits the plan, declares the original copy, and gains the decision of the committee. Luckily before the certificate of award is issued the self-sacrificing inventor is vindicated and the villain exposed in his treachery. Through all this runs that thread of love and devotion necessary in every successful drama. Daniel Sully, as the hero and inventor, presents the part with artistic excellence. It is a powerful role in the hands of an able "crea-

MANAGER LAINE'S PLANS.

He Will Make Laurel Hill Park a Popular Resort Next Summer.

Mr. Laine promises many grand outdoor attractions at the Laurel Hill park during the coming summer season. He expects to open the season there with Sousa's great band about May 20, and the following organizations are being arranged for: Gilmore's Twenty-second Regiment band, Pampone's Grand band of the "Old Guard," New York city; Forepaugh's Traction fair, the largest show of its kind in America, over 300 performers and 100 horses in the show, also the Wild West, the Fall of Herculaneum. Paine's fireworks. spectacular, Al. G. Fields' America, the Columbus pageant, Signor Davisoni's grand hyprodôme races, etc. All these attractions will appear in the collseum that will be constructed at the upper end of the park with a seating capacity of 10,000.

In the Pavillon Opera house the following attractions will appear: Carleton's Opera company, two weeks; Grau's Comic opera, two weeks; Henderson's Cinderella Burlesque company In addition to these attractions it is contemplated to erect a toboggan, a gravity railroad, the park ferris wheel, and many other amusement devices for pleasure. Carnival nights will be inaugurated and then the "bivalve clam bake" will have its "once a week." Mr. Laine is a manager of long experience in handling gigantic summer enterprizes, hence much can be expected.

That Is What General Manager Me-Kinney Thinks of Steel Trade.

NO ORDERS ARE NOW ON HAND

Railrond Companies Are Not Ordering Any Rails, but When They Do Mr. Me Kinney Expects the Scranton Mills to Get a Share of Orders.

General Manager Carl W. McKinney, of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel comfrom Milwaukee, Wis., to Queenstown in the sailboat Nina, now proposes to cross the Pacific in a craft similar to the Nina. Captain Freitsch and his boat are on expects of the steel trade. He shook his head and replied that he was sorry to be obliged to say that he could not give any cheering news, but on the contrary that the outlook from present indications is decidedly blue.

At present the company has no orders at all, not for a single ton of steel and there is no telling when an order wil be received. The railroad companies are not buying any ralls and the demand for merchant hardware is exceedingly dull. Ordinarily the market is not active at the beginning of the year, but then in the past it was such that the steel companies could look ahead and base their calculations on prospective trade.

For instance if the steel trade had been brisk at the end of the year and a temporary full arose at the beginning of the new year, the companies could calculate that the demand would again ecome lively as soon as the market got cleared of the old year stock. Has Been Sluggish for Months.

But the steel trade has been sluggish and dull for many months back and it has continued the same up till the pres ent. Mr. McKinney would not make a comparison between the expectation for the current year and the output for 1894. All he would say was that the Scranton mills did most of the manufacturing of steel rails last year for the district east of the Allegheny mountains; that is they got the biggest share of what work there was, and he expects that the same rule will apply n the coming season when there may be any demand for the product of the mills. A press dispatch was published about a week ago in several newspapers stat ing that the Pennsylvania Steel com cany had sub-divided an order for 30, 000 tons of rails among three companie of this state. Mr. McKinney branded that dispatch as untrue and could not imagine how it could have originated Under present conditions any orde that a steel company receives is little enough for its own mills, and it is non-sense to think, he said, that the Pennsylvania company would be so gener-

Steel Trade Very Uncertain. The steel trade, Mr. McKinney said, s one of the most uncertain things to guess at there is, because today there may not be the slightest expectation of an order and in less than twenty-four hours some railroad company might issue an order for several thousand tons. No one knows a railroad company's business until it is given out and what any company intends to do i purely conjectural. In concluding his remarks on the steel question he spoke in a way that admit-ted of no double meaning. He said that the prospect is gloomy and he makes this statement after having spent the past few days in New York city in conference with the officers of

They did not live happily. Mrs. Peters was fond of the attentions of other men much to the annoyance of her hus-band No. 2, and they separated. On Dec. 18 Mrs. Havens-Peters was ar-raigned before Alderman Blair, of the West Side, on complaint of H. E. Wash-burn, who charged her with having criminal relations with J. W. Godshall, with whom, it was alleged, she was living on Pleasant street. The alderman bound her over to appear at court. It is said that her first husband, Havens, is still in the land of the living and that she was aware that he was when she promised to honor and obey Peters. Out of those circumstances grows the charge of bigamy.
