GLEASON WAS BADLY INJURED

Sustained a Broken Collar Bone in the Sloan Mine-Mrs. Taylor Attacked by Heart Failure-Surprise Party for William John Williams.

Edward Gleason, brother of ex-Police Officer Frank Gleason, of Luzerne street, met with a severe injury yesterday morning while at work in the Sloan mine. Mr. Gleason is employed as a miner, and with some other workmen was engaged in prying the wheels of a car which was off the track. The men were using a large iron bar, which, when pressed down, had the weight of the car on the other end. During the operation this bar slipped and flew up, striking Mr. Gleason under the chin, and wedging his head be-tween the roof and the bar. He was removed to his home, where Dr. W. A. Paine dressed his injuries. The accident resulted in a broken collar bone and severely bruised jaw. Mr. Gleason was resting easily last evening.

WAS A NOVEL SIGHT MOTHERS OF the Food Exhibit.

ATTRACTED MANY VISITORS

Winners and Losers Well Paid for Their Speed-Miss Cross Gives Some Excellent Recipes for Cooking Poultry.

There were more people at the food exposition last night than on any two preceding nights during the exhibit. The special attraction was a caramel wrapping contest among several girl employes of the Scranton Carame works. A box of caramels was given at the door to each woman visitor.

The candy wrapping contest was ob served by a large number of spectators and created a great deal of interest. Four hundred caramels were wrapped by each girl, the first, second and third prizes being won by Misses Sadie Coll, Jennie Smith and Ellen Harris, respec ively; the time was twenty-four, twen ty-five and twenty-six minutes. Diferent sized Bohemian glass bowls constituted the prizes, although the losers were each given a box of Pettijohn's Breakfast food. Mrs. Clara Barnhart, of No. 7 Hall-stead place, won the Press club's prize for the best jelly cake. Practical Talk About Poultry.

"Poultry" was the subject of the afternoon's cooking lecture. Miss Cross ot only gave many new hints on how to roast and fricassee, but she told how a fowl should be properly cut and attractively arranged for serving. Young chickens, she said, have smooth legs and soft and pliable breast bones. Good turkeys can be detected by their black legs, white skin and broad breast. A duck is tender if the lower bill breaks ensily.

Fricassee Chicken-Singe the chicken, wash it and take off its head and remove the oil bag; cut off a portion of the breast long with the wings; cut the legs down and bend them back and divide the two joints; cut through the ribs, dividing each dde into halves; make two pieces out o the breast and two out of the back; di-vide the upper part of the back by run-ning the knife between the third and fourth rib; take off the neck. For the white fricassee cover the chicken with hot water and let it simmer 15 minutes for each pound; when it is half done add a teaspoonful of salt; all the water should evaporate out of the chicken by the time it is done. Make the sauce by taking 1 ounce of butter, and when melted add 1 tablespoonful of flour and ½ pint of cream; bring to the boiling point, take from the stove and add ½ teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper and the yolk of 1 egg; dish the chicken by placing the legs crossed in front of the carver, the second joints on the opposite side, the wings at the ends of the dish and the rough pieces and white meat in the center; pour the sauce over this, sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve. Preparing the Chicken. Brown Frieassee of Chicken-Cut the chicken as explained above, brown it is wo tablespoonfuls of butter, remove th chicken and add to the butter 2 table-spoonfuls of flour, 1 pint of hot water and a teaspoonful of salt; let it boil and pour over the chicken and allow it to simmer 15 minutes for each pound. Just before it it done add 1 teaspoonful of onion juice and a little pepper.

Roasting and Trussing Chicken—Take off its head, hold the skin of the neck tightly in the hand and cut the skin down the back and remove the crop; turn it around and cut a vent under the breast bone; with your finger loosen all The Mendelssohn Choral society will meet in the basement of the Providence Methodist Episconal church every Monit; wash thoroughly inside and out; fold back the wings and draw back the piece of skin over the neck; take a stitch through the wings and neck and the them in position; work the legs into position by the breast, take a stitch through the joints and back and tie it; take a stitch through the lower part of the leg one through the back and tie down tightly; place in a baking pan one of two pieces of bacon in the bottom of the pan, the bottom of which is covered with hot water; roast 15 minutes for every pound and baste every 10 minutes; before it i lone take it out of the stove, baste thick y with melted butter and dredge with flour to insure a nice brown; put the giblets on in water and let them boil while the fowl is roasting; add to the baking pan 1 tablespoonful of flour and ½ pint of the liquid in which the giblets were solled; chop the liver very fine, mash th gizzard and season with salt and pepper "Salads" will be the title of today's lecture, and tomorrow Miss Cross will

It cannot help being noticed that these who go to the exhibition for business and not for fun spend a portion of their time at the booth where Mis A. M. weights to hold them down. Watching William Payne, of Philadelphia, the colored boy who assists Miss Cross, the cooking lecturer, is good for the heart and mind of one who likes to see cookery things kept neat and orderly. William has been offered a handsome salary as a chef in the spring, provided he remains with Miss Cross until that time. The festive ham-sandwich has been heard of at picnics, church fairs and the like, but it is something new at a food exposition. Last night the sandwiches given from the Washburn Crosby booth were made from ham furnished by the Scranton Packing company and bread supplied by Megargel & Connell. Too Rapid Growth or Too Absorbing Study.

Causes That Waxy, Bloodless Look of Failing Health.

Try Paine's Celery Compound for a Few Weeks.

The Daughter's Health Will Soon Return.

Languor Will Disappear, and Nervousness Go.

Mothers with daughters that are yet oung often ask themselves: "How can my girls be saved from ervousness and lifelong weakness?" It falls to the mother with her clear, thoughtful eyes, to see that the health and future happiness of her daughters is not sacrificed to excessive study, or to any unreasonable excitement. The signs of failing health and weakness. pale cheeks, languid behavior, coloriess lips, growing thinness, irritability-all these ring alarm in her mind, for they point, each with its separate finger, to out one cause: then, watery blood, and an already impaired nervous system. Parents should begin at the first symptom of such tendency to change this unfortunate habit of the body. The real nerve food, Paine's celery com pound, if used with the attention to regularity that any able paysician's prescription requires-(this remarkably effective blood mai er and nerve rood i the formula of no less eminent a relen tist than Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of the Dartmouth Medical School), if taken as Prof. Phelps urgently advises, is sure to cause forthwith a clearly observed change in the tired, badly nourished body. A single week will show that the "rundown" system is appropriating more of the food that is taken into the oody, and rapidly building up the weakened parts. Languor will disappear; the spirits will be raised; the nervous affections; dyspepsia, neuralgia, and depression that went with the former exhausted condition, will no longer afflict the nerves. For overwrought, worried parents for thin, pale children, for the aged, who are most apt to be afflicted with rheumatism and sleeplessness, and for any who lack strength there is nothing that progressive physicians rely on so invariably as Paine's celery compound. It makes new blood. It stores the nervous tissues all over the body with fresh material. It builds up the brain. It cleanses every bit of harmful humor from the blood and sends it briskly through the arteries laden with food for the deepest, most vital tissues.

There's returning health and an active, full-fed state of the body in Paine's celery compound.

The fortitude shown by General Grant in writing the second volume of his personal memoirs while he was literally on his deathbed, excels even the remarkable courage exhibited by this famous soldier in his many achievements on the field of battle.

Col. Fred Grant, speaking of his father's last illness, says: -

"During the last four months of his sickness, the principal food of my father, Gen. Grant, was Bovinine and milk; and it was the use of this incomparable food alone that enabled him to finish the second volume of his personal memoirs."

Dr. T. H. Douglas, Gen. Grant's physician and friend, cordially indorsed the above statement. What Bovinine did for Gen. Grant it has done, and is now doing, for thousands
