

City Pastors and Their Hard Work

Religious Developments of One Week in All Our Churches.

AUXILIARY ACTIVITIES NOTED

Carefully Compiled Compendium of News and Personal Mention Relating to the Churches and the Benevolent and Charitable Religious Societies.

Meetings have been addressed during the week by Rev. Anna H. Shaw, of Washington, in the interest of the Women's Christian Temperance union. Large audiences have greeted this accomplished lady at Pockville, Moscow, Moscow, and Waverly. Tomorrow morning she will speak at Elm Park church, where her remarks will be of special interest to ladies interested in temperance work. Miss Frances E. Willard says: "Rev. Anna Shaw is one of the most able speakers on the platform either among men or women. She has a well-trained mind, glowing enthusiasm and that rarest of all qualities—luck. America does not contain a more loyal and devoted adherent of woman's cause. Audiences will be conciliated by her cultured manner, enlivened by her wit and captured by her logic."

On Friday evening the two weeks' evangelistic services at the Second Presbyterian church were concluded with the satisfaction that considerable beneficial work had been accomplished. Rev. Charles E. Robinson's "gospel addresses" have been most interesting and highly appreciated by the hundreds who attended each evening. Rev. James McLeod, P. W. Fearsall and others rendered valuable assistance in conducting the services. Mr. Weeden, who is now so well known in Scranton, also contributed materially to the success of the meetings by his musical abilities.

Enthusiasm prevailed at the session of the United Methodist conference of Scranton, which was held at Wilkes-Barre on Monday and Tuesday. The great feature was the explanation of the object and work of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, which is increasing in membership and usefulness throughout the Methodist church. The address, "The Brotherhood of St. Andrew," was given by Rev. James McLeod, P. W. Fearsall and others rendered valuable assistance in conducting the services. Mr. Weeden, who is now so well known in Scranton, also contributed materially to the success of the meetings by his musical abilities.

Development of Churches.

On Jan. 10 an interesting meeting was held in Scranton by the Council of the Welsh Congregational churches of Lackawanna and Wyoming valleys for the purpose of ascertaining the desirability of organizing a Welsh Congregational church in the district. Among those present from Scranton were Rev. R. S. Jones, D. D. of Providence; Rev. David Jones and D. J. Evans, of Hyde Park. The results of the inquiry were highly satisfactory and a church was organized, twenty members being admitted by letter. The district church, and how are entertained that are long a flourishing Welsh Congregational church will be one of the features of Scranton.

The erection of the new edifice for the Washington Street Presbyterian church is progressing satisfactorily. The congregation will worship in the spacious basement. It is not probable that a pastor will be appointed until the edifice is completed. In the meantime Rev. S. C. Logan, F. W. Pearson, George Mahy and George Sanderson are rendering valuable assistance in conducting the services.

A new Methodist church will be erected in Binghamton during the coming spring at the corner of Robinson and Bingham streets.

Personal Mention.

Rev. D. D. Jones, of Hyde Park avenue, has been confined to his room with rheumatic fever.

Rev. W. S. Jones will preach an English sermon at the First Welsh Baptist church tomorrow evening.

Rev. R. S. Jones, of Providence, and Rev. David Jones, of Lincoln avenue, exchanged pulpits last Sunday.

Rev. Thomas Bell will conduct mission services at the Plymouth Congregational church during the coming week.

Rev. W. G. Watkins is organizing a gospel choir of forty voices for the Sunday evening services at the North Main Avenue Baptist church.

Rev. A. P. Ferris has conducted revival services during the past two weeks at the Puritan Congregational church.

Rev. D. M. Kinter, of the Christian church, is preaching a series of practical sermons on "The Kingdom of God." Tomorrow evening his subject will be "The Relation of the Kingdom of Heaven to the Holy Spirit."

Rev. T. J. Collins has organized cottage prayer meetings which have proved a valuable auxiliary to his church. The work will be enlarged in the early future and a more comprehensive scheme established.

An interesting meeting of the Welsh Congregational ministers of Lackawanna and Wyoming valleys was held at the residence of Rev. E. Edwards, of Kingston, on Monday, when an able paper on "Ministers and Politics" was read by Rev. D. M. George, of Pittston. The general sentiment was expressed against ministers participating in political matters. The host, Dr. Edwards, is a professor of education, and he gave excellent illustrations of "How to Read" from the works of the celebrated Williams v. Wern.

Topics of Interest.

Over $4,000 was collected at the Elm Park church last Sunday and devoted toward increasing the fund for assisting superannuated ministers of the Wyoming conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

By the death of Miss Mary C. Doersam, of Penn avenue, both the First Presbyterian church and the Penn Avenue Baptist church, as well as the Young Women's Christian association, have lost an earnest and valuable worker. Miss Doersam was but 24 years of age, but had rendered considerable work which was appreciated by her numerous colleagues. Her loss is sincerely mourned by an unusually large circle of friends.

A week of prayer has been observed by the members of the First Welsh Baptist church, the meetings being well attended.

Tomorrow evening's service at the Providence Welsh Congregational will be of a missionary character, when recitations and brief addresses on missionary work will be delivered. The reports for the last year will be presented and presentations made to children who have collected the largest offerings.

Eight new members were received at the Providence Presbyterian church on Sunday.

A new and improved order of service has been introduced at the Providence Presbyterian church.

Rival Order of the Knights of Labor

It Will Be Organized Next Month at a Convention in Columbus, O.

POWDERY WANTED AS LEADER

Courts Will Be Asked to Give the New Organization the Property of the Knights in Philadelphia—A Lively Fight Ahead.

There are very dark clouds shading the horizon in Knights of Labor circles, and the threatening forecast points to either the complete re-organization of the prominent labor organization or a most ramorous dissension, accompanied by, perhaps, entire obliteration of the present anti-Powderly officials of the general executive board.

District Assembly No. 16 is the premier fomentor and its example has been followed. It is claimed, by a about 85 per cent. of the district assembly of the United States and Canada. Assembly No. 16 is made up of local organizations of the Knights of Labor of northeastern Pennsylvania and embraces the territory covered by Lackawanna, Luzerne, Wyoming, Susquehanna, and Wayne counties. Timothy D. Hayes, of Dickson City, is district master workman.

There are in the neighborhood of twenty local assemblies in the district and delegates from each meet every three months in quarterly convention. The last convention of District 16 was held in this city on Dec. 18, of last year, which is the date of the beginning of the trouble. In order to understand what led to this trouble, it will be necessary to revert to the last national convention of the Knights held at New Orleans.

The Delegate Was Ignored.

District Assembly No. 16 elected a delegate to the national convention according to the rules of the organization and he was fitted out with regularly signed credentials, expense money, and a mileage ticket. When he got to New Orleans and presented his papers, he was refused a seat in the convention on no other grounds than that he was not a member of the general executive board. These statements are authorized by information received from an executive officer of District Assembly No. 16. It is said that District Assembly No. 229 of Chicago elected a Powderly delegate, but that a member of that assembly, who did not aspire for delegate at all, was admitted to a seat and a vote upon credentials that were forged.

When District Assembly No. 16 met in this city last December, one of the things that was done was the refusal to pay any more per capita tax into the funds of the general executive board. This action was the result of the doubt of the powers that be to allow the district's delegate a seat in the New Orleans convention. The district set up the same claim as the revolutionary forerunners, "Taxation without representation." A set of resolutions were drafted condemning the present officers of the general executive board and promising to pay no more per capita tax while they remained in power.

Others Fell Into Line.

This determined stand had the effect of making other district assemblies throughout the United States and Canada take up a similar position, with the result that more than eighty of them passed resolutions condemning the Hayes-Martin regime and vowing solemn threats to oust that faction from root to branch from any connection with leadership in the Knights of Labor. All the protesting assemblies of the country immediately began to discontinue the per capita tax and to communicate with one another and the outcome was that they agreed to call a national convention, which will be held at Columbus, O., in the latter part of February.

The regular annual convention of the Knights will not be held until next November, and then at Washington, D. C. The reason that the Columbus convention is called is this: All the delegates sent there will be in accord with one another and whatever is done will be transacted harmoniously and for the best interests of the labor movement. There will be enough of delegates there, it is claimed, to represent 85 per cent. of the district assemblies of the order, and as the majority rules, it is alleged that whatever action is taken at that convention will have the sanction of the courts.

They Would Be Ruled Out.

A prominent Knight was asked to explain the reason for calling the Columbus convention if, as it is asserted, it is done by a majority of the district assemblies. It would be supposed that the same majority could wait until the regularly appointed time, next November, when the national convention will meet at the national capital. The answer to this question was that the same state of affairs would again exist as occurred at New Orleans; all delegates not in sympathy with the present ruling powers would be denied a seat.

At the Columbus convention it is proposed to elect a general executive board and proceed at once to take possession of the property of the Knights of Labor; in Philadelphia, estimated to be worth $80,000. Trouble is anticipated, but it is expected that the courts will sustain the action of the Columbus convention, because positive proofs will be collected to show that the convention was represented by a majority of the assemblies of the Knights.

The numerous friends of ex-General Master Workman Powderly will try and prevail upon him to accept the first position in the new branch, but it is given out that Mr. Powderly will not accept. The person who is most likely one to be chosen for the general master workmanship is Factory Inspector James Campbell, of Pittsburgh, president of the Window Glass Workers' association of America. Mr. Campbell was appointed factory inspector by Governor Daniel H. Hastings.

Will Close a Delegate Monday.

Every local branch of the Knights of Labor has elected delegates to the convention of District assembly No. 16, which will meet at Pittston next Monday. At this convention a delegate will be elected to the Columbus convention.

RAILROAD ELECTRIC LIGHT.

It Will Cook, Huminate and Obviate Heat and Cold.

A new system of lighting cars by an automatic electrical device has just been successfully introduced. The simplicity, certainty and cheapness of the system have been unreservedly commended by prominent railroad officials, and its prompt adoption by the leading and more progressive roads is assured.

The system comprises a small dynamo and a storage battery, both attached to the car truck. A simple gearing communicates motion from the axle to the dynamo, and the current from the latter passes through the storage battery to light the lamps in the car. This insures a brilliant and uniform illumination of the car, not only while in motion, but for at least four hours after it is cut out of the train, and it is the only independent system of electric car lighting which will maintain its efficiency while the car is motionless and unconnected with any motive power.

The company, which is a New York concern, has secured full protection for its invention by patents in this and foreign countries, and expects to do a large business in replacing the antiquated and dangerous gas and oil lamps with electricity. The new system is also applicable to the heating of parlor, boudoir and sleeping cars and day coaches, and can be employed for cooking purposes in dining and buffet cars. It is further claimed that for any of the uses specified it is less expensive than the methods now in vogue, as well as infinitely safer.

FROM GRAVE TO GAY.

Who the Babes Had Tonsillitis:

When the babes had tonsillitis, O Lord, but what a time!

The father of all poets could not tell it half in rhyme.

It was time for the doctor at 12 o'clock at night.

And scurry to the drug store before the morning's light.

Then, baby's pills at 7, and father one's at 8.

Prescriptions next in half an hour, don't be a minute late.

And don't forget the powders and the iron for the blood.

And peptonoids at eating time to take the place of food.

And when the darlings waked and cried, "Give papa a walk the floor."

With twenty pounds on one arm—on the other fifty more.

And keep the house warm all the time, and don't let a draft in a draft.

And don't mix up the medicines. Why didn't you do that?

With baby's pills at 7, and father one's at 8.

Prescriptions then in half an hour, don't be a minute late.

And don't forget the powders and the iron for the blood.
