The first lecture of the Young Men's Christian association lecture course vas delivered in the Baptist church ast Friday evening by Rev. Albert H. Smith, of Berwick, on the subject: "The Pathway of Success; or, Russell H. Conwell." Mr. Smith treated his subject with the skill of a scholar and an rutor; his train of thought is logical, his voice is clear, his words well rounded and distinct. He graphically pletured the rise of Russell H. Conwell from a mischievous yet energetic school boy through almost unsur-mountable difficulties to his present position of prominence, and very forcibly impressed upon the minds of his audience the elements of success, in this Hustrious career

While his departure will be generally regretted, it is gratifying to know that his new charge is accepted in the sense of a promotion in as much as it is larger, more lucrative and better adapted to his abliftles as a missionary than is his present charge. The people of Port Deposit are to be congratulated on securing the services of such an able minister as is Mr. Shaw.

SLOWLY STARVING.

Surrounded by Plenty, but Dying for Food.

An Every-day Occurrence. - Our Friends Perishing Before Our Eyes. A terrible experience for any one to go through, that of seeing some beloved friend actually wasting away before our eyes, unable to derive sufficient nourishment from their food to sustain life. Medicine naturally becomes of little avail, and the various organs of the body, debilitated from a lack of nourishment, take on themselves the disease that was originally the cause of the "breakdown," and help hasten the end.

Such cases, though too prevalent, are happily becoming less frequent. The prominent physicians of to-day do things differently from those of twenty years ago. They first put the patient in a condition to stand the "siege," then enrich his blood, create for him new strength, and "build him up" generally. The patient is then in a condition to derive benefit from his medicine. This is done by the use of Bovinine, the original raw food. It is an extract that contains the greatest amount of the life-sustaining and tissue-building properties of lean, raw meat, concentrated in the least possible bulk. The advantage of this is obvious. A patient already greatly weakened by discase, needs to husband every particle of strength. A few drops of Bovinine will impart as much nourishment to the body as would be derived by a well person from an ordinary meal; and, in getting this nourishment, the stomach has been forced to do the least possible amount of Bovinine, continued throughout an illness, greatly hastens recovery. Taken at the beginning of a wasting disease, it diverts the cause of the trouble by toning up the various organs, and getting them in a normal condition. Bovinine is indorsed by 25,000 doctors Its action is always beneficial, as a single trial will convince the most sceptical.
