THE ROHLF RECITAL.

It will give scenes from Moliere's Great Play. It will be long before Scranton will be favored with such an opportunity as will be offered on Tuesday evening, Feb. 5, in Charles Rohlf's recital in Young Men's Christian Association hall for the benefit of the Young Women's Christian Association.

He has few peers in his power of dispensing with scenic effects without a conscious loss to his audience of those accessories. The programme here will include Moliere's great comedy, "The Physician in Spite of Himself," two of the most powerful scenes from "Merchant of Venice," and one of Mrs. Trollope's (Anna Katharine Green) heroic poems.

Confirmed by the Court.

On Saturday court made an order committing to the Home for the Friendless Marshall and Bertha Hall, children of Charles Hall, who had been living with their father and step-mother in a disreputable resort in Raymond court. The child saving committee of the Board of Charities were instrumental in rescuing the children from their dangerous surroundings.

Electric Car Goes Skating.

The motorman of an electric car descending the Pine street hill Saturday morning lost control of it on account of slippery rails and at Pine street and Madison avenue the car refused to round the curve. It left the rails and dashed down the hill to Jefferson avenue, where its career was stopped by a fire hydrant. No one was injured.

Mr. House's Deposition Taken.

The deposition of John W. House, an important witness against Edwards, the typewriter thief, was taken Saturday by Assistant District Attorney John M. Harris. WORK OF LUTHER LEAGUE

Address by Cornelius Eckhardt, of the Star Newspaper, Washington.

AN ABLE RESUME OF LAY WORK

The Pastor's Critics Discussed—Claims of the Lutheran Church—Her Position Defined—Liturgical Service Decried—Future of Lutheranism.

Last evening an admirable address was delivered by Cornelius Eckhardt at the Holy Trinity Lutheran church on Adams street to the members of the local Lutheran league. Mr. Eckhardt is a member of the staff of the Star newspaper, Washington, D. C., and is well known for his great services to the Lutheran league in the States. During his address he said:

To have and to hold membership in the Lutheran church, the church of Christ, is my undoubted honor and privilege. To know the Lutheran church and her doctrines thoroughly is to know the very essence of Christianity, and to feed the vast membership on this essence is the constant aim of our great church. It is gratifying indeed to note the great interest manifested everywhere in our church and how well she has been brought to the front during the past few years. If I were not for the pure and spotless history she has made for herself this interest soon would die out. Her doctrines have stood the test these centuries and remain unshaken. The Lutheran church will bear the closest investigation. This is what we want and this is what we have been going through with for the past few years and that is why the interest is ever on the increase.

If there is any one thing an employer appreciates more than another, it is the quality of his employees. In business and industry it is the same. Where such a state of affairs exist, good results must surely follow. In this we will all no doubt agree. Why, then, cannot this be applied to the relationship between pastor and people? We, as laymen, as members of the church, are to be employed by him, and yet I think that word in this connection.

Forget That He Is Human.

We expect him to do the very best he can and to be a man of God. We often are a decidedly unreasonable people. We forget that he is human, awfully human, and that he cannot possibly do but this thing or that. Why, then, cannot this be applied to the relationship between pastor and people? We, as laymen, as members of the church, are to be employed by him, and yet I think that word in this connection.

COAL ROYALTIES DISPUTE.

Mrs. Catherine Winton Brings Suit to Recover $16,367.02.

A law suit involving a big sum of money for coal royalties was instituted in court Saturday by Mrs. Catherine Winton against her son, Attorney A. H. Winton, against Coal Operator O. S. Johnson. It arises from a dispute as to the amount to be paid. Between Mrs. Winton's claim and that of Johnson's there is a difference of $16,367.02, and that is the amount sued for.

Damage Done by the Wind.

The high wind early Saturday morning did considerable damage at the Hillside home. The place, a good sized building, was lifted up and carried into an adjacent field, fences were blown down and slates torn off the buildings. At Dunmore considerable damage was also done by the wind.

His work is wonderfully clever and artistic.

GLIMPSE INTO FAIRYLAND

Prince and Queen Led the Way to the Feast.

FUN WAS FAST AND FURIOUS

Roy Brownies and Girl Fairies of the Y. M. C. A. Brownie Show Dine Just Like Grown Folks—Occurred After Saturday's Matinee.

"Prithce, Queen Flora, let us sup," said Prince Aldobaran to the goddess of the flowers. "What a feast!" "Surely, prince, I shall be quite pleased to do so," coyly responded the willing maiden.

Whereup Prince Aldobaran gallantly proffered her his arm and called out in a loud, commanding voice, "What a feast!" "Surely, prince, I shall be quite pleased to do so," coyly responded the willing maiden.

The juvenile feasters were in their stage costumes and were of all ages from 5 to 14 years. Sentiment was added to the supper by the announcement that it was given by the Brownies of the Fairies. Whether any of the flirtations assumed serious proportions or not does not appear—anyhow, they had fun, and didn't have to tramp home to eat, which were the two objects of the spread.

It was an enjoyable feature of the three entertainments, which noted about $200 for the association's furnishing fund, amused and instructed its fifty performers and pleased a large number of grown-up folks.

OVER THE BOULEVARD.

Pleasant Sleighting Party That Went to Elmhurst Saturday.

Colonel U. G. Schoonmaker took a party consisting of representatives of newspapers of the city over the Boulevard to Elmhurst on Saturday. It proved a most enjoyable outing. The sleigh was whisked around the curves on the Boulevard at a lively pace, disclosing many bits of picturesque winter scenery. The sun shone brightly, but a sharp northwest wind gave a bracing quality to the air that sharpened appetites for the delightful lunch that awaited the party at Schiebel's hotel, near the Elmhurst end of the Boulevard.

Tax Collector Has Not Settled.

An execution was issued Saturday by the county commissioners on the bond of Ferdinand Zwiek, collector of state and county taxes in the Nineteenth ward for failure to pay over to the commissioners $57,112 on his duplicate. Charles Fisher and Henry Winkler are his bondsmen.
