A PAID DEPARTMENT

Ordinance Passed on Two Readings by Select Council.

THERE WAS SOME OPPOSITION

Ordinance Creating a Sewer District on the South Side Passed Third Reading. Argument on the Ordinance Fixing Uniform Rate of Wages.

Select Councilman W. 'M. Finn's ordinance for the establishment of a paid fire department was the first one reported from committee at last night's meeting of select council. The ordinance was called up in its regular order or consideration on first reading. Mr. McCann wanted information about when the ordinance was reported.

Manley was the next speaker. le said that it looked to him as if the ordinance was introduced for the purpose of raising Chief Engineer Ferber's salary, whom he said appeared to have a penchant for having his salary raised since he became connected with the fire department. Mr. Kellow had a few ords to say against the ordinance and stated that he would be in favor of a e convinced that the present volunteer | $10 in wages. department had outlived its usefulness. For him the latter was good enough yet. paid fire department since he came on the council, but he questioned the wisdom of creating one now when the estimated expense for the coming fiscal for slander year is $75,000 more than the amount of revenue that will flow into the city treasury. Mr. Finn said the appropriation for a paid fire department does not exceed the one which it will take to run the volunteer department, any more than a few hundred dollars. Mr. Manley's motion to indefinitely postpone was lost. The ordinance then went through on first reading. Some of the members tried to stop its progress any urther, but after a short discussion the rdinance passed second reading.

South Side Sewer Ordinace. After the reports of all the committees ad been heard Mr. Schwenk moved hat council proceed to the eighth order of business to take up his ordinance on third reading providing for the creaion of the Seventeenth Main Sewer district on the South Side, embracing the Eleventh, Twelfth and Nineteenth wards. After the clerk read the ordinmee Mr. Schwenk called it up on third reading and it went through without a dissenting vote. Mr. Schwenk then hurried it across the hall to the common ouncil chamber

Mr. Roche called up the ordinance providing for the establishment of a public market place and creating the office of market clerk and it passed third and final reading.

Mr. Sanderson called up the ordinince establishing the wages to be paid y contractors receiving contracts from he city of Scranton. The ordinance, when about to be passed on third and final reading, was interrupted by Mr. Manley, who presented a communica-tion from the Central Labor union. The ordinance was amended in common council; and as a result the provision was stricken out which related to the daily wages of skilled labor. The ordinnce as it was read last night provided that laborers shall receive not less than which will be offered at lowest horse, $2.75; and team of horses, $4 per day. It was also amended in select intending to purchase should not plain that after giving the matter due council. Mr. Sanderson arose to exthe ordinance no further and he was going to vote against the ordinance on third reading. His reasons were that it would be working an injustice to the

On motion of Mr. Manley the body ing the second section so as to make it listened to testimony. When court adread that all mechanics shall receive not less than $2 a day. Mr. McCann was the only one voting against it when it was called up as amended. He would like to see the section stricken out that allowed those who had declared afternoon. Attorney C. Comegys made their intention of becoming citizens to work on city contracts. Street Car Tax Ordinance.

Mr. Manley called up the ordinance providing for the taking of all street railway cars used within the city at the rate of $5 each annually. On and after the first Monday of April the city officials will be empowered to collect the license. The ordinance passed third and final reading.

An ordinance providing for the erection and maintenance of an electric light at the corner of Cusick avenue and Oak street passed final reading. Mr. Lauer's ordinance providing for the erection of a fire alarm box in the Twenty-first ward on the corner of Keiser avenue and Jackson street was called up for final reading. The ordinance provides that the cost of the box shall be transferred from the North Main ayenue paving fund, Mr. Thomas stated that the above fund was exhausted, and the ordinance was, therefore, out of order. By common consent the ordinance was laid over until the next meeting.

Favorable reports from committees vere received on the following ordinances: Providing for an electric light in the Eighth ward; for an electric ight at Alder street and the river bank; for two electric lights in the Nineteenth ward; for a sewer on the West Side. eginning on North Main avenue at the Mount Pleasant ravine thence to Jackson street, to Hyde Park avenue; regulating the method of giving out contracts for the printing of notices in the even then there was very little business done. The ordinance that passed final reading in select council creating the Seventeenth sewer district on the South Side was received and referred to the proper committee with instructions to report forthwith; the gentlemen did not relish this recommendation and refused to report the ordinance until they had time to consider it. Chairman Nealis introduced a resolution in relation to the building material stored on Seventh street by a contractor engaged in business over there. The street commissioner was directed to have the same removed.

The branch then went into the eighth order of business and adjourned after passing the following ordinances on third reading: Transferring the sum of $69,40 remaining in the fund for the defraying of the expense of building a retaining wall at the crematory to health; providing for the erection of a of 17,500 barrels a day.

Doll in Court. Miss Mary Doll, through her aunt, Mrs Moses Ace, yesterday had a war-rant issued in Alderman Fitzsimmon's office against Mrs. Joseph Roos, wife of Grocer Roos, of Franklin avenue, for wages withheld from her amount-

Miss Doll is 17 years old and was employed as a domestic at the Roos residence. Some time ago Mrs. Roos missed a small sum of money and some articles of jewelry from her room. She suspected a boy who was working around the stables and the young fellow was discharged. But Mrs. Roos went to a fortune teller and was informed that a servant girl committed the theft.

Wednesday night Mrs. Roos went to the Frothingham theater and wrote the question on a paper, "Who stole my daughter's jeweiry?" Mrs. Baldwin answered and said it was Mary Doll. Mrs. Roos went home and yesterday she turned Mary adrift and kept her trunk and $10 in wages. Later Mrs. Roos allowed the girl to take away her trunk paid fire department as soon as he could and clothes, but refused to pay her the

THE KENNAHAN VERDICT.

Coroner's Jury Decided That His Death

Resulted from Exposure. Coroner Kelley and the jury inquiring into the manner of the death of Patrick Kennahan, of West Market street, whose body was found Wednesday morning in Leggett's creek, met last night at Alderman Roberts' office and heard the testimony of all who knew anything about the circumstances of the case.

Proprietor Boyce, of the Chinchilla hotel, said he saw three mon on Tuesday night walking along the turnpike near where Kennahan's body was found. They were under the influence of liquor, but no appearances of a quarrel were evident. Mr. Boyce said that a man named John Kearney, of the High Works, told him he saw Kennahan at a late hour Tuesday night sitting in the snow alongside the road apparently dazed with liquor. Kearney shook him and was told to mind his own busi-

Daniel Wallersfield, proprietor of a drinking resort known as the Temperance house, was sworn. He told that Kennahan and Richard Warren spen Tuesday afternoon and evening at his place. Warren was sworn and answered that it was 10 o'clock at night when himself and Kennahan left the Temperance house and both were very drunk.

James M. Farrell, Bert Sickley, Patrick May and Charles Barber frequented the Temperance house about 9 o'clock Tuesday night and there saw the dead man in company with Richard Warren, both greatly intoxicated.

Three other witnesses swore that they saw Kennahan in Wallersfield's place. Coroner Kelley explained to the jury that he found no marks of violence on the body and the jury decided that Kennahan had become so drunk that he could not take care of himself and in that condition he fell into the creek and died from exposure.

NEW BOY AT ACADEMY.

First Appearance of James T. Powers as a Frohman Star.

"The New Boy," a farce by Arthur Law, was produced at the Academy of Music last night before a large audience. It was the first appearance here of James T. Powers as a Frohman star, and he was surrounded by almost the same company that gave the first presentation of the farce in this country at the Standard theater, New York, last September.

Mr. Powers assumes the character of Archibald Rennick, "The New Boy," in place of Willis Searle; R. F. Cotton has succeeded W. J. LeMoyne as Felix Roach, and Mr. Powers' wife, Rachel Booth, supplants Jessie Busley as Nancy Roach. Otherwise the cast is the

The farce is a most amusing one and Mr. Powers evolves more laughs from it than did Mr. Searle, the little Englishman, who originally appeared in the title role, but to do so he created a practically new conception of the character of "The New Boy," in which horse play and buffoonery have a con-

As a mirth provoker Mr. Powers is more successful than Mr. Searle, but as genuine comedian he is much his inferior. The company that appeared at the Academy last night is a capable one throughout and gave a good presentation of the farce.
