

NOTES OF THE BLIZZARD

State of the Elements Reminiscent of the Storm of 1855.

CATTLE DYING IN THE WEST

Zero Weather in Tennessee—Blinding Snow Storms Block Railway and Street Car Travel About the Country.

By the United Press.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Washington experienced a heavy snow storm with sporadic gusts of wind reminiscent of the blizzard of 1855. This morning the thermometer registered 5 degrees and there was a slight raise during the day. The weather bureau predicts a fall to 5 degrees below zero by tomorrow morning, and that the snow will continue. The Potomac is frozen and predictions are made that the Long Bridge, Washington's direct railway connection with the South, will be carried away. The district commissioners will ask congress to appropriate $5,000 to clear the river of ice.

Wilkes-Barre, Feb. 7.—A snow storm accompanied by a heavy wind, set in through this valley today, and by 8 o'clock the snow was about five inches deep. The fall was fine and light, and drifted badly. The entire system of the Wilkes-Barre and Wyoming Valley Traction company is snowed in, and cars ceased running at 6 o'clock. It will take two or three days to raise the blockade on all the lines. The railroads are having some trouble with drifting snow on the Wilkes-Barre mountains, but trains are nearly on time. The temperature stood at about 4 above zero throughout the valley today. At 10 o'clock it is still snowing with no signs of letting up.

Snow in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—The blizzard that has been prevailing throughout the western states struck Philadelphia and the eastern section of Pennsylvania this afternoon and tonight. It is snowing furiously over the entire eastern part of the state. The highest temperature attained today was 11 above zero and at a 6 o'clock tonight it had fallen two degrees. Through transportation from the west is delayed from one to three hours, and the delay is growing worse as the night advances. The local weather bureau predicts that the blizzard prevailing will cease either some time tonight or during tomorrow morning, and that by bright light this morning the state will feel the cold wave that is advancing from the west and the temperature will fall to zero and below again. The storm is also raging in Delaware and South Jersey and along the Jersey coast.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—The ice in the lake between shore and the water works crib off Sixty-eighth street is so solid that the city tugs were unable to reach that point today. The telephone cable through the water net has broken and there is no way to communicate with the men in the crib. It is said the crib men have plenty of flour and salt.

Jeffersonville, Ind. Feb. 7.—Ice in the Ohio was stopped, forming a gorge sixty miles long. Two million bushels of coal are in danger of being sunk, the minute the gorge moves. The temperature is 8 degrees below zero. The river at this point is an almost solid cake of ice, over a foot thick and rapidly forming. There is no great suffering among the poor here.

Blizzards in the Southwest.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—Blizzard weather prevailed throughout almost the entire south and southwest today.

At Richmond, Va., snow has been falling since yesterday evening; at Atlanta, Ga., the temperature has fallen from 10 to 6, with a blinding snow storm; at St. Joseph, Mo., the thermometer was 10 below the lowest record for the winter; at Mexico, Mo., the roads are impassable with drifted snow and the thermometer is 4 below; Huntington, W. Va., experienced the coldest day in that region for twenty years, and tonight it is 10 below, with snow a foot deep; at Birmingham, Ala., the thermometer is 10 below, with a furious gale blowing; at Middletown, Ky., the wind tonight is blowing forty-five miles an hour, with a fine snow falling.

Milwaukee, Feb. 7.—Altogether, there is now eighteen inches of snow on the ground. No freight train has left out of Milwaukee for the Northwestern line until tonight. The St. Paul road's fast mail from the east was five hours late. The Wisconsin Central trains were twenty minutes to half an hour behind time. At West Superior, Wis., the thermometer tonight was 15 below zero, and falling rapidly. At Sioux City, Ia., it is 20 to 25 degrees below zero.

Lima, O., Feb. 7.—Today was the coldest this city has seen in many years. The thermometer, at noon, showed 4 degrees below and it is growing colder, and it will probably be 15 or 17 degrees below before morning.

Storm in Other Localities.

Cork, Feb. 7.—Snow has fallen for fifteen hours in southwestern Ireland. Several trains are imbedded in drifts and no railway train is operating regularly. Communication with Killarney, Treleah, Hallow and Bantry has been suspended.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 7.—Tonight the mercury had fallen to 29 degrees and was still falling. Reports from various points in the state show that the cold is intense and that the freeze of December last will be equaled. It is feared that the orange trees, which were recovering from the freeze, will be ruined. The loss to the early vegetable and strawberry growers will be heavy.

Denison, Tex., Feb. 7.—A howling blizzard, with the wind blowing fifty miles an hour, prevails throughout northern Texas. It is the worst storm in years. Thousands of cattle are dying from exposure.

Perry, O., Feb. 7.—The blizzard that set in here yesterday is the worst storm that this territory has experienced in twenty years.

Sedalia, Mo., Feb. 7.—The worst blizzard since 1853 is sweeping over this section.

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 7.—The temperature fell to 3 degrees below zero this morning, the coldest weather ever known here.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 7.—The mercury reached zero this morning and will go 5 below tonight.

MISS GOULD'S COURT.

The Heiress Will Wed a Son of Marquis de Castellano.

By the United Press. New York, Feb. 7.—It was learned this evening that Miss Anna Gould, the youngest sister of George Gould, is engaged to Count De Castellano, of Paris, and that the wedding will take place in New York some time in the spring. It is said that Miss Gould met the count at a reception in Paris about ten months ago.

The count has made his home in New York during the last four or five months. He is a handsome man of about 25 years of age, of pleasant manners and good address. He is the elder son of the Marquis de Castellano, a wealthy Parisian. In an interview with a representative of the United Press, tonight, George Gould confirmed the fact of the engagement.

TIMID MR. PULLMAN.

Deputy Marshal Jones is Unable to Locate the Man Whose Presence is Desired at the Trial of Eugene Debs.

By the United Press.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—The Debs case was presented this morning by the examination of William R. Johnson, a colored porter in George M. Pullman's office. Judge Grosscup conducted the examination, which was instituted with the view of finding out whether Mr. Pullman had evaded service of a subpoena issued for his appearance in court by the defense. Johnson said Mr. Pullman came to his office at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Deputy Marshal Jones arrived an hour later. Porter Johnson took Jones' card into Private Secretary C. S. Sweet, who, without going into Mr. Pullman's room, brought back the card with the statement that Mr. Pullman was out. The defense tried to get Secretary Sweet into court, but stated to the judge that he also had disappeared. The matter will be pushed.

Judge Grosscup said that even long after this case is finished when Mr. Pullman gets back from Florida, he can be punished for contempt of court if it shall be proved that he evaded the subpoena. The intention of the court was to find out the truth of the matter.

President Debs was recalled and remained on the stand all the morning. Attorney Evans called the witness through a hot cross-examination. It was brought out that all the services Debs ever did for any railroad was as a fireman and car cleaner, during a period of four years. Mr. Debs stated that he was not drawing no salary from the American Railway union. He had cut it off himself on Oct. 1 last. The cross-examination of Mr. Debs occupied the entire afternoon session. In a deliberate manner he narrated the part he took in the proceedings of the American Railway union and during the continuance of the strike. He stated that he advised against a strike until the members of the American Railway union were discharged from the employ of the Pullman company, when he ordered a boycott of the Pullman cars. All efforts of the government's counsel to confuse the witness were without avail. He carefully considered each question put to him before answering. He will resume his testimony tomorrow.

WOMAN LIVES IN A CAVE.

Oscar Lawrence's Widow, Mourned for Dead, Found to Be a Hermit.

By the United Press.

Shelbyville, Ind., Feb. 7.—This evening City Marshal Sparks and several citizens discovered a cave in an isolated spot on the bank of the Blue river. Smoke was seen coming out of the ground, but they were kept at bay by a large dog. Finally a woman appeared and called the dog inside. The officer, followed by the crowd, advanced and demanded admission, which was finally given. When questioned the woman said she was the widow of Oscar Lawrence, who died in this city three years ago. Lawrence was a stationary engineer. After his death she went to the home of her father, Ben Martin, who has his second wife. She could not get along with her stepmother, and concluded to camp out.

Her cave, as well as herself, presented every phase of the most abject poverty. She was dirty, her hair was disheveled, and she hovered over the fire thinly clad. She said she was contented, and desired to remain where she was. The woman had been mourned as dead. At one time she was a teacher in the Mission Sabbath school of Shelbyville. She and her sole companion, the dog, manifested much affection for each other.

FINANCIAL SCHEMES FAIL

Leaders Unable to Persuade Balky Congressmen to Fall Into Line.

ALL MEASURES ARE DEFEATED

Republicans Ready to Agree to Any Plan for Relief But Minds of Democrats and Populists Are in Chaotic State.

By the United Press.

Washington, Feb. 7.—The house discussed plans for financial relief three days and then this afternoon refused, by a decisive vote, to pass any one of them. When the committee of the whole at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon concluded its sessions, three propositions were reported to the house for its action. The first was a bill known as the administration bill proposing the issue of five hundred million 3 per cent. fifty day gold bonds, as amended by the committee of the whole; the substitute, proposed by Mr. Reed, authorizing the issue of two-year 3 per cent. certificates of indebtedness to the current deficiencies in the revenue and bonds to cover the deficiency in the gold reserve, with an amendment proposed by Mr. Bryan, Nebraska, reaffirming the declaration of the Matthews resolution of 1875, to the effect that coin obligations of the government are payable in standard silver dollars at its option; the substitute of Mr. Cox, of Tennessee, containing a rehabilitation of state banks, with an amendment proposed by Mr. Cobb, of Alabama, expressly declining to confer the right to issue bonds upon the secretary of the treasury.

Mr. Reed's substitute was rejected by a vote of 127, yeas 168, and the Mr. Reed's substitute went the same way by a vote of 109 to 187. This was nearly a party vote, the Populists and Democrats in opposition and Republicans in favor of the substitute.

The amendment presented by Mr. Cobb to Mr. Cox's substitute was voted down by a yeas and nays, and the substitute received but fifty-five votes in the affirmative, to 184 in the negative. Mr. Cox's request for a yeas and nays vote was not supported by a sufficient number to secure it.

The unexpectedly large vote of 159 yeas and nays, on a motion, on a division, refused to order the engrossment and third reading of the amendment of Springer bill, thus killing it. The announcement of the vote was received with applause. A vote by yeas and nays somewhat reduced the majority to 125 yeas, 162 yeas, and 187 yeas. Messrs. Stanton, of Louisiana, and Hines, of Arizona, voted in the affirmative.

Mr. Reed's Explanation.

Just before the vote was announced Mr. Reed endeavored to make an explanation of the attitude of himself and associates on the Republican side, but was cut off by cries of regular order. He was going to say, "I am in support of all the Republicans, presented a proposition which the ruling powers saw fit to refuse. Nevertheless, I had gone further and voted for a bill which contains things which I do not approve of simply to enable the matter to go to the senate in hopes that something might be done. The bill has failed. I now desire to suggest that I have no doubt that this side of the house would vote for the second section of my substitute or any other proposition which had any practical chance of passing."

Mr. Springer, having changed his vote for the purpose, moved to reconsider the vote, and that motion, on motion by Mr. Hatch, of Missouri, was laid on the table, yeas, 152; nays, 122, which finally disposed of the matter.

The question pending when the committee of the whole resumed consideration of the bill today was as to whether or not the decision of the chairman ruling out Mr. Bland's substitute on a point of order should be sustained. It was decided in the affirmative—130 to 52. In the course of consideration of the bill Mr. Wheeler, Alabama, moved to repeal the tax of 10 per cent. on state bank deposits, and it was lost by a vote of 96 to 102.

An amendment proposed by Mr. Bell (Pop.), Colo. providing for the payment of the bonds in gold or silver without discrimination against either was lost—106 to 74.

Bland Nears the Goal.

Mr. Bland got a vote on an amendment requiring the treasury notes issued under the Sherman act of 1890 to be redeemed in gold or silver with section 3 of that law, and directing the issue of the seigniorage on the silver bullion in the treasury, and it came within six votes of being adopted—109 to 114.

Before the bill was taken up bills were passed authorizing the re-opening of the abandoned military reservation at Fort Taylor, Florida, and granting a pension of $50 a month to the widow of the late General John C. Kellon, adjutant general of the army.

BIG HOTEL BURNED.

The Denton House at Indianapolis Guttered by Flames.

By the United Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 7.—The Denton House, one of the largest hotels in the west, was partially destroyed by fire today. The fire probably started from an overheated fire, but the finding of a smoldering fire in a room was where the flames broke out gives ground for thinking incendiaries have been at work. After burning for over an hour part of the ceiling fell and Fireman Frank Nutter was struck with a burning timber and seriously hurt. The loss will reach $50,000, fully insured. The furniture was damaged $15,000.

MURDERED AND CREMATED.

A. S. Bowers, Well Known Patent Medicine Seller, the Victim.

By the United Press.

Denver, Feb. 7.—A. S. Bowers was murdered, robbed and his store fired, and the body cremated shortly after midnight. "Doc" Bowers conducted a combination cigar store, farker's cane and knife rack and a patent medicine scheme at 1317 Seventeenth street. He was about 60 years of age. He had sold patent medicines on the streets in many cities, and was worth considerable money, a good deal of which he carried with him. He wore a great diamond star on his vest.

Bowers' head had been mashed, the right side was gashed and torn and the stomach showed evidence of having been pounded with a hatchet. He had been shot twice. The valuable diamond star, worth $1,000, was taken and also a bag of silver and a large quantity of jewelry, which Bowers had recently tried to dispose of. After the robbery the place was fired. Gasoline was added to oil in a five-gallon can and placed in a position so that the thief and murderer had made his escape.

SHIP'S GASTLY FREIGHT.

A Vessel Drifts Ashore Carrying Lifeless Bodies of the Crew Injured in Ice.

By the United Press.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Feb. 7.—The after part of a good sized vessel covered with ice, with what appears to be the lifeless bodies of three men encased in ice and frozen to the top of the cabin, has drifted ashore on North Point, Lambert's Cove, on the north side of this island.

The wreck was discovered by Edward Cottle, of Lambert's Cove, this morning, and he came here to notify the medical examiner, who has started for that place to take charge of the bodies. Mr. Cottle states that the features of one man could be easily discerned, and there are apparently two other frozen boys on the cabin. It is impossible at this time to ascertain the identity of either vessel or bodies.

By the unexpected large vote of 159 yeas and nays, on a motion, on a division, refused to order the engrossment and third reading of the amendment of Springer bill, thus killing it. The announcement of the vote was received with applause. A vote by yeas and nays somewhat reduced the majority to 125 yeas, 162 yeas, and 187 yeas. Messrs. By the United Press.

Easton, Pa., Feb. 7.—In the midst of a blizzing snow storm, this evening an electric car of the Easton Traction company became unmanageable while descending a steep grade on New street, South Easton, and gained frightful speed. Motorman Trexler was powerless with the front brake and ran through the car to the rear to get to the rear brake.

The car rushed on and the single passenger in it leaped and escaped injury. Conductor Folkenson went out on the front platform just as the car reached the foot of the hill at the Lehigh Valley railroad depot. There it met a snow plow, which was struck by the trolley. Folkenson was caught between the broken platform of the cars. He was taken out of the wreck terribly cut about the head and badly bruised and was removed to the Easton hospital.

By the United Press.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 7.—Madison Bryant, a wealthy farmer of this county, prevented the marriage of his 16-year-old daughter to Ferd Little, a young farmer, by burning the marriage license just as the clergyman was performing to perform the ceremony in the presence of fifty guests. Mr. Bryant, without displaying the slightest emotion, requested Mr. Little to accompany him to an adjoining room. When they were alone Bryant asked to examine the marriage license. Little produced the paper, which was seized by Bryant, who darted into the parlor where the guests were assembled and threw it into the blazing grate.

TROLLEY CAR SMASHED.

Reduced to Kindling Wood by a Pennsylvania Locomotive—Narrow Escape of Five Passengers.

By the United Press.

Wilkes-Barre, Feb. 7.—The passengers on trolley car 24 running between this city and Nanticoke had a narrow escape from death today at noon. The car was coming from Nanticoke to this city and had nearly reached the Pennsylvania railroad crossing at South Wilkes-Barre when a passenger train was sighted. The motorman, Andrew Elliott, applied his brakes, but they would not hold on the slippery rails and the current failed on the reverse lever. The passengers made a wild rush, the last, an old lady from Plymouth, jumping off the platform as the locomotive struck the car.

The car was hit squarely in the center, one side was driven through the other and it was reduced to fire-wood. The motorman escaped by jumping as the crash came. The Pennsylvania train was twenty minutes late and running at a terrific speed, and the engineer could not slow down until he had nearly a square mile of the wreck. The passengers were all shaken up from jumping but none seriously.
