THE DEFENSE BEING HEARD

Testimony for the Prosecution Closed Yesterday Afternoon.

ATTORNEY WEDEMAN OPENS

Mapped Out the Line of Defense That Will be Followed—A Number of Character Witnesses Examined—Trying to Contradict the Commonwealth.

The fourth day of the trial of Joseph Boschino for the murder of Frank Conforti witnessed the close of the testimony on the part of the commonwealth and the opening of the case for the defense.

There was a large attendance all day, but the crowd at the afternoon session was particularly dense and many had to be denied admission to the court room. The accused and his wife sat side by side during the trial and took a deep interest in the proceedings.

John Myran's Story. John Myran said that on the night of the killing he heard persons quarreling at the bridge and with Louis Valvanno, Frank Chipliano and Joseph Delallo went to ascertain the cause and found Rocco Salvatore, Frank Conforti and Tony Imbrano. Soon they separated.

Justices of the Peace Robert Scott, of Dunmore, testified that Myran did not testify at a hearing held before him. Imbrano was recalled by Mr. Horn for cross-examination, and said his wife sold his revolver to Boschino last May. An adjournment was then taken for dinner.

Mrs. Philomena Imbrano was the first witness called in the afternoon. She swore that she sold her husband's revolver to Boschino last May. Here the commonwealth closed its case, and the defense recalled Imbrano and Salvatore for further cross-examination.

Thomas Brown, engaged in the mercantile business on South Main street, Forest City, was the first character witness examined. He knew Boschino seven years when he lived in that town and from the speech of the people the murderer was always looked upon as a peaceable, law-abiding citizen.

T. J. Pentecost, a Forest City merchant, knew Boschino for several years. Mr. Pentecost was at one time deputy postmaster and afterward a justice of the peace. He never heard a word against Boschino. District Attorney Jones cross-examined the witness and asked how it was that the name of Boschino had been brought up for discussion.

Dr. W. R. Dickson, of Forest City, knew Boschino and treated him once when he had an injured hand. The murderer lived in one of Dr. Dickson's houses as a tenant and always comforted himself as a peaceable inhabitant. J. D. Caryl, who now conducts a restaurant in this city, used to be a foreman of the Hillside Coal and Iron company. He knew Boschino there and always regarded him as a peaceable, law-abiding citizen.

Others Who Knew Him. W. J. Davis keeps a clothing store in Forest City and Boschino used to buy goods from him when he lived there. The witness found him always honest and never heard any unfavorable comment on Boschino's character.

WATCHING THE DANCERS

Storm Did Not Prevent a Large Crowd from Attending the Kirmess.

MINOR COURT CASES.

Two Defendants Admitted Their Guilt and Others Went Before Juries. The progress of the murder trial does not appear to hamper the other cases on the list.

James Boland came forward and pleaded guilty. Two indictments were pending against him. Constable Joseph Pool was prosecuting him for aggravated assault and battery upon Mrs. Lena Deeknick.

Lyman's Trouble Again. If Michael Lyman or his wife, Mary, were not present at every term of criminal court as prosecutor, defendant, or witness, the court calendar would not seem properly made up.

William Ready and John Brogan were jointly put on trial charged with stealing $150 from William Ward, a hotel-keeper of Winton. The two defendants boarded with Ward during the month of April, 1894, and one day they came home to dinner at 12 o'clock, a little earlier than their usual custom.

Then they came down, went out and disappeared. In the bureau drawer, resting peacefully, was a wad of greenbacks amounting to the sum stated, and by a coincidence the money left the same day as the boarders. Two months later, in August, the prosecutor and Patrolman D. J. Roche went to Nanticoke, having been told by Ready was boarding there. He was arrested and confessed the theft.

Will be Conducted at Green Ridge Presbyterian Church. The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Green Ridge Presbyterian church will observe Endeavor Day on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. They have secured the Rev. Thornton A. Mills, of Wilkes-Barre, to give the address, entitled, "Progressive Endeavor."

An offering in behalf of the Nebraska sufferers will be received during the evening. Fellow Endeavorers from all parts of the city are invited to this meeting and will receive a hearty welcome. Buy the Weber and get the best. At Guernsey Bros.

VENTILATING APPLIANCES

In the new high school. It is not probable that the minority will succeed in getting the meeting to reconsider.

The board of control has no manual of procedure, but has in the past relied at times upon Cushing's rules. Cushing does not indicate that a minority can bring about a reconsideration by motion. The manual in use by councils and Thomas B. Reed's rules, recently printed, state that a matter once disposed of cannot again be brought before an assembly except on the motion and second of two members who originally voted with the majority.

Fatal neglect in little short of suicide. The consequences of a neglected cough are too well known to need repeating. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup cures a cough promptly. Sold by all dealers on a guarantee of satisfaction.

During an interval, James P. Dickson, president of the Lackawanna hospital, appeared on the stage and thanked the audience for their attendance and hearty appreciation of the efforts of the dancers. He referred to the large house, in which the management had been agreeably surprised, considering the deep fall of snow.

All of the Dances Tonight. Another matinee will be given this afternoon and this evening. All of the dances will be repeated tonight. On the printed programme for this evening the Russian Military dance is omitted, but it will be given, and Miss Stewart desires the presence of all those who take part in it.

Board of Control Minority Is Not Yet Satisfied. An attempt will be made in the meeting of the board of control Monday night to reconsider the board's action in awarding to Hunt & Connell the contract for erecting the heating and ventilating appliances in the new high school.
