

TERRORS OF THE BLIZZARD

Death and Disaster in the Path of the Storm King.

TROPICAL REGIONS INVADIED

Orange Trees Killed and Strawberry Crops Ruined in Florida--Residents Along the Coast Out of Coal--Suffering at Other Points.

By the United Press.

New York, Feb. 8.--The great snow storm that raged in this vicinity today was worse than that memorable blizzard of March 12-15, 1888, in three ways--in wind, temperature and area affected. Only in snow fall was the storm of 1888 greater than today's. The wind today averaged sixty miles an hour, against fifty in the blizzard of 1888. The temperature today hovering about zero, while in 1888 it was 5 above; five and a half inches of snow fell today against two feet then.

In the area of the storm, however, is the greatest difference noted. The blizzard today swept almost the entire country, instead of the mere radius of forty miles around New York then covered. All of the railroads entering this city were practically tied up. A few trains got through, but they were mostly locals.

Philadelphia, Feb. 8.--Not since the memorable March blizzard of 1888 has such a storm swept eastern and central Pennsylvania as that which began yesterday. The railroads were taught a costly lesson by the 1888 storm and were better prepared to meet such a snow fall as prevailed last night, but, nevertheless, despite their every effort, their train service was absolutely demoralized. The lowest point reached by the thermometer here today was 1 degree below zero at 7 a. m. From this time on to 2.30 the mercury climbed up to 9 above and then began to fall, until at 8 o'clock tonight, when it stood at 3 degrees.

At the Delaware breakwater the sea is frozen solid to the shores, and people are walking from Lewes to the former place. A big fleet of ships are frozen in at the breakwater and some anxiety is felt for several pilot boats that are at sea.

In the Wyoming Valley.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Feb. 8.--The heavy snow storm which yesterday morning continued all night and part of today. All the steam railroads centering in this valley were greatly affected, while the entire system of the Traction company is completely prostrated. The Lehigh Valley railroad was particularly embarrassed, the cuts on mountains being filled with snow. Train No. 3, from New York, due here at 10.55 last night, reached this city about 2 o'clock this afternoon. Trains leaving New York this morning with New York papers arrived here at 6 p. m. The Valley's freight and local passenger service was entirely abandoned. The Delaware and Hudson and Jersey Central railroads were both badly handicapped and all trains were from two to ten hours late. The Erie and Wyoming and Wilkes-Barre and Eastern railroads were completely wiped out, and no attempt was made to move trains. The coal and freight trains on the latter road are stalled between this city and Reeders, and will have to be dug out, as the snow is drifted from ten to twenty feet deep. The only steam roads running with any regularity are the Pennsylvania and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, both of which have great difficulty in keeping their lines open.

Owing to the lines of travel being closed the February sessions of criminal court had to be closed today and the jurors dismissed. The branch roads leading to the coal fields throughout the valley are all snowed in, and only one mine was in operation today, throwing thousands of men and boys idle. Tonight at 9 o'clock the snow was still falling. Hundred of men are working on the mountains clearing the cuts, but winds fill them almost as fast as the snow is hauled away. The thermometers in this city register 2 below tonight.

Trains Abandoned.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 8.--The Reading officials this evening decided to abandon all trains on the Lebanon Valley and East Penn roads. Seven passenger trains are snow bound, one at Palmyra, two at Lebanon, one at Prescott, one near Lyons, one at Lyons station and the other at Berne station. The latter station is on the main line. Besides these, no less than three freight trains and seven engines are stuck in immense drifts near Prescott. All of the main line trains were very much delayed today, but the officials claim to have the north bound wack clear. At 8 o'clock there are no signs of an abatement of the storm, and it is still drifting in all directions. In some localities drifts are reported ten feet high.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company have abandoned all trains between Norristown and Pottsville until the other at Berne station. The latter Reading today from Philadelphia over this road. The trains on the Reading and Columbia division are tied up at stations for the night and no attempt will be made to start them before morning.

The thermometer is 4 above and getting colder. Reports from the country districts this evening say that the roads are drifted so badly that it will take a week to open them. Old residents say that the blizzard of 1888 is no comparison to this one. The electric cars in this city are still unable to run, and it is not likely that any attempt will be made to start them before morning.

Altoona, Pa., Feb. 8.--The weather has been stormy since early last evening and the thermometer has been at zero all day, and up to 9 o'clock tonight trains on the Pennsylvania railroad have been from five to eight hours behind time all day, and tonight they are stopped altogether because of the wrecking of twelve freight cars in the Gallitzin tunnel, completely blocking it. A snow shoveler on the mountains is reported killed. All the electric lines in this section are snowed up.

Snow Drifted to House-tops.

Hazleton, Pa., Feb. 8.--The storm has drifted to the house tops, and every avenue of communication has been shut out. Tonight the wind is very high, and there is only one wire working out of the city. Reports of several

HAWAII SITUATION GRAVE

American Citizens in Danger of Losing Their Heads.

THE TRIAL BY COURT MARTIAL

Attention of Congress is Called to the Summary Conviction of Disturbers at Honolulu--President's Message Referred Without Comment.

By the United Press.

Washington, Feb. 8.--Two very important communications from the president were presented in the senate today and were referred to their appropriate committee. The first notified congress that as a precaution against the failure to give legislative aid to the Hawaiian government, had been made for the issue of a 4 per cent. "colon" bond to the amount of $62,400,000, to run thirty years. Without any comment but with an apparent sense of the importance of the president's representations the message was referred to the committee on finance.

The other message of the president attracted great attention and gave rise to considerable discussion, after which it was referred to the committee on foreign relations. It had reference to the death sentences imposed on the persons convicted of engaging in a revolutionary movement in Hawaii. The general tone of the debate indicates the death of feeling which exists against such a sanguinary measure--the only expression to the contrary coming from Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) who said that he had no advice to give to the Hawaiian government, but that if it yielded to the remonstrance of any other government in such a matter it might as well turn over its power again to Queen Liliuokalani.

A bill was introduced by Mr. Sherman (Rep., Ohio) and disposed of without reference to any committee appropriating $10,000 for the immediate relief of the suffering poor of the District of Columbia. The house today entered upon the consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill for the year ending June 30, 1896, but made little progress.

The message from the president announcing the sale of bonds, and the protest by this government against the execution of the court martial sentences upon citizens of the United States who engaged in the recent revolt in Hawaii, were received and referred to the committee on foreign relations in reply, showing a more serious condition of affairs than reported in the press dispatches.

The dispatches are as follows:

Mr. Willis to Mr. Gresham: Honolulu, Jan. 20, 1895. San Francisco, Feb. 1, 1895. The Hawaiian situation is grave, government, 1; royalists, 2. Court martial convened 17th, has tried thirty-eight cases, 20 more to be tried and thirty-five more to be tried. The Hawaiian situation is grave, government, 1; royalists, 2. Court martial convened 17th, has tried thirty-eight cases, 20 more to be tried and thirty-five more to be tried. The Hawaiian situation is grave, government, 1; royalists, 2. Court martial convened 17th, has tried thirty-eight cases, 20 more to be tried and thirty-five more to be tried.

Mr. Gresham's Reply.

Department of State, Washington, Feb. 7, 1895.--Cooper, United States dispatch agent, San Francisco, Cal. Forward following by first steamer to A. S. Will, United States minister, Honolulu: "If American citizens were condemned to death by a military tribunal, not for actual participation in reported revolution, but for complicity only, and if condemned to death by such tribunal for actual participation, but not after open, fair trial with opportunity for defense, demand delay of execution and in either case report to your government evidence relied on to support death sentence."

(Signed) Albert S. Willis.

Mr. Gresham's Reply.

Department of State, Washington, Feb. 7, 1895.--Cooper, United States dispatch agent, San Francisco, Cal. Forward following by first steamer to A. S. Will, United States minister, Honolulu: "If American citizens were condemned to death by a military tribunal, not for actual participation in reported revolution, but for complicity only, and if condemned to death by such tribunal for actual participation, but not after open, fair trial with opportunity for defense, demand delay of execution and in either case report to your government evidence relied on to support death sentence."

(Signed) Gresham.

DEATH IN THE STORM.

Snow Shovelers Killed and Others Die from Exposure.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 8.--While shoveling snow on the Reading railroad near Leesport today Isaac Long, a track hand, was struck by a passenger train and killed. A man named Moser was also injured.

Fred Smith, aged 20, was found dead at Wernersville today from exposure. He was a German and had no relatives in this country. Daniel Hipkeley, a well known miller, of Adamstown, was overcome in his sleigh by the cold, and is dying at Gouglersville.

THREE MEN KILLED.

While Shoveling Snow They Are Run Down by a Locomotive.

Harrisburg, Feb. 8.--An accident occurred in the railroad yard late this afternoon. A train from the west crashed into a gang of men engaged in clearing the tracks of snow, killing three and injuring two others.

The dead are John K. Garr, Noah Ney and George W. Troup. The injured are Benjamin Ostot and John Crosby.

STRUCK BY AN UNSEEN HAND.

Two Men Undergo an Experience Like That of Billy Patterson.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 8.--A strange assault was made early this morning upon William Sweeney and Charles Law while they were alone in William Wilkison & Co.'s cutlery works. The former is a member of the firm. The peculiar feature of the attack is that Sweeney does not know the person who struck him senseless. Law said today that while he was at work at one of the

ENTHUSIASM IS DAMPENED

Paralyzing Effect of the Blizzard Upon the Legislature.

MANY MEMBERS SNOW-BOUND

Owing to a Blockade of the Railroads They Will Be Compelled to Pass Sunday in Harrisburg--Little Business Transacted.

By the United Press.

Harrisburg, Feb. 8.--When Speaker Walton called the house to order at 9 o'clock this morning about a third of the members were present. The blizzard confined many of the law-makers to their hotels and boarding houses.

Among the bills reported from committee the senate bill to establish the office of state custodian, with amendments. The house committee strikes out three years and inserts four as the term for which the custodian shall be appointed, and wipes out the provision requiring the heads of departments and boards to deliver to the custodian before the first day of May each year lists of what they need. The board of buildings and grounds is given the right to reject any and all bids. The clause requiring the custodian to make a careful inspection of all articles received from contractors is to be assured that they are in accordance with the standard fixed by the schedule in every particular was stricken out. The clause providing for typewriter, at a salary of $1,400, is stricken out. The number of capitol police is reduced from seven to six. The salary of the sergeant being reduced from $1,200 to $1,000 a year. The gardener's salary is reduced from $1,200 to $1,000.

Mr. Fow, of Philadelphia, offered a resolution, which was adopted, providing for a committee of three to ascertain from the board of buildings and grounds the advisability of the state owning its own electric light and heat plants for lighting and heating public buildings and grounds. He argued that the present cost of lighting and heating was very high, and that it would be well for the state to ascertain if it can furnish its own light and heat cheaper.

Owing to the fact that the calendar of bills on first reading had not been supplied this morning, the house was unable to go ahead. A committee was appointed to confer with the state printer and ascertain the cause for the delay.

At 1 o'clock the house adjourned until 8 o'clock Monday evening.

TRACEY A CANDIDATE.

It Is Said the New York Congressman Will Take Bissell's Place.

Washington, Feb. 8.--The report that Representative Tracey will be appointed postmaster general to succeed Mr. Bissell after the adjournment of congress is credited here. The changes in the cabinet before indicated in these dispatches are expected to occur in case the retirement of Justice Jackson from the supreme bench is authorized.

Serious opposition has developed, however, to the bill for the retirement of Justice Jackson, and Senator Harris, who introduced the bill, expresses a fear that it may not be adopted. Justice Jackson is in such bad health, however, that he may retire from the bench by resignation if not permitted to go on the retired list.

In case this vacancy occurs, Carlisle will probably succeed him, though Speaker Crisp is also mentioned for the place. In that event, Tracey, of New York, and Wilson, of West Virginia, would probably have seats at Mr. Cleveland's cabinet table.

SENSATIONAL TRIAL.

Tennessee Physician Charged with Trying to Blow Open a Bank Safe.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Feb. 8.--The trial of Dr. Z. H. Curry, a prominent physician, accused of trying to blow open the vault of the First National bank of Harrisman with nitro-glycerine, opened today. A change of venue was granted defendant on the plea that he could not get an impartial trial in Harrisman, and the case will be heard today at Kingston.

The accused is engaged to be married to a highly accomplished lady of Harrisman, and the circumstances leading to his arrest produced a tremendous sensation there, where he stood high. The plan of the burglary, which miscarried because the fuse was too short, shows remarkable ingenuity, that would not discredit a professional safe-blower.

GLASS WORKS RESUME.

Factories of the United States Company at Wheeling to Be Started.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 8.--Several days ago the United States Glass company sent a delegation of Pittsburg officials to this city to make arrangements for starting up the two plants here, which, it is claimed, will be done as soon as possible.

The factories have been idle for about two years, and as it is expected to operate them with non-union hands, his excitement has been caused among the local members of the American Flint Glass Workers' union. They threaten to make trouble if the plans of the company are put into execution.

NUTT'S RELATIVES SPEAK.

Waiting for Further Information from Scene of the Shooting.

Meadville, Pa., Feb. 8.--Mrs. C. P. Nutt, mother of James Nutt, who is under arrest at Atchison, Kas., for shooting Mrs. Payton and her hired man, Coleman, says her son has been in comfortable circumstances, with no business cares to overbalance his mind. He has, however, always been of a nervous, easily unstrung temperament. One of his brothers is inclined to think that drink may be responsible for his actions.

CONDENSED STATE TOPICS.

Two catamounts were shot near East Hanover by John Fitting.

The assessed valuation of farm land in York county is $38,207,305 against $40,422,622 last year.

A swindler in Reading has passed three checks, to which he signed the name of Reuben Haffa.

Colonel James Young, the king of Pennsylvania farmers, has 325 cattle in his stables at Middletown.

WEATHER REPORT.

For eastern Pennsylvania, generally fair; warmer; western gales diminishing.

WRECK ON A FREIGHT.

A Caboose Rolls Down a Thirty-foot Embankment.

THEY BURNED HIS FEET.

Frank Smallwood, Near Brownsville, Was Horribly Tortured by Robbers Who Wanted to Learn Where His Money Was.

By the United Press.

Uniontown, Feb. 8.--One of the worst crimes ever perpetrated in this part of the state was committed Thursday night in an isolated valley near Brownsville, this county. Frank Smallwood, the victim, now lies dying at his home from the effects of the injuries inflicted by a band of burglars, who tortured him in every conceivable way to make him give up his hoarded wealth.

The old man was dragged from his bed at midnight, bound, blindfolded and tied in a chair. After the burglars searched the house, getting only $4 and a watch, they began to torture their aged victim in the hope of forcing him to tell where his money was concealed. Through all the suffering he stoutly denied that he had any money. They beat him with whips, threatened his life, and at last having bound him securely, placed his feet on the red hot coals in the grate, holding them till they were burned to a crisp.

He was released this morning by some neighbors unconscious on the floor, with the blood streaming from the wounds in his feet. The perpetrators of this crime are believed to be men who operated with the famous Coley outlaws but who never were captured.

THE MOTORMAN JUMPED.

Trolley Car Full of Passengers Left to Its Fate.

Pittsburg, Feb. 8.--This morning an electric car on the California branch of the Pleasantville became unmanageable while passing Woods Run, 120 feet below. The frightened motorman and conductor jumped from the car, leaving the occupants to their fate. The car plunged down the steep grade, flying like the wind.

At the bottom the car jumped the track and struck against the end of a bridge while passing Woods Run, 120 feet below. Three of the passengers were badly hurt, but none seriously.

SAYS HE STOLE HIS WIFE

Governor McKinley's Brother-in-Law Sued by an Ohio Farmer.

Canton, O., Feb. 8.--Samuel C. George, a farmer, has begun suit in common pleas court against George D. Saxton, a wealthy retired capitalist and brother-in-law of Governor McKinley, for $20,000 damages, for alleged alienation of his wife's affections. Mrs. George, a dressmaker, has rooms in the Saxton block.

She went to South Dakota and secured a divorce. The plaintiff charges that the expenses were defrayed by Saxton.

ROASTED IN A GRATE.

She Tumbled in While Playing and Was Burned to Death.

Connellsville, Pa., Feb. 8.--A horrible accident cost a little daughter of James Martin her life last night. Mr. and Mrs. Martin were absent from home, leaving their four young children alone. While playing by the open grate fire, Mary, aged 4 years, tumbled in and was burned to death.

ENGLAND FROSTBITTEN.

London, Feb. 8.--The weather continues intensely cold throughout the island. In Yorkshire the thermometer registered ten below zero this morning.

FE-MINISTER STEVENS DEAD.

Augusta, Me., Feb. 8.--Hon. John L. Stevens, ex-minister to Hawaii, died at his home in this city at 4 o'clock this morning of valvular disease of the heart.

BOB FITZSIMMONS' CASE.

Syracuse, Feb. 8.--Bob Fitzsimmons has entered a demurrer to his indictment for manslaughter in the first degree. Argument has been set for a later date.

TELEGRAPHIC TICKETS.

New York will ask bids on $2,000,000 in 3 per cent. gold bonds.

A strange new disease is killing many horses in Bureau county, Ill.

Frozen stiff in his hut, Edwin P. Brown, a hermit, was found at Westport, Mass.

Joseph Grant, 77 years old, shot his wife yesterday at Richmond, Mich., and then blew out his brains.

While at his bath, Joseph H. Hurst, of Choctaw county, Ala., was shot dead by an unknown assassin.

Lee Parish and William Moore, of Miles City, Mont., got lost while sleighing and were probably frozen to death.

On the charge of robbing the Little Johnny mine, at Leadville, of $10,000 in gold, Dodo Rollo is under arrest.

Two masked men held up Groceriesman F. D. Wagoner at Leadville, a Cleveland, and in a fierce fight fatally shot him.

Henry Havemeyer, aged 18 years, was killed last night at Brooklyn, N. Y., by a trolley car running into a cart he was driving.

BEBBLER INDICTED.

Convicted of an Attempt to Kill Dr. Erasmus Riegel.

TRILBY A LIVING PICTURE.

Out of 141 Applicants One Is Selected to Essay the Impersonation of Du Maurier's Heroine, at a New York Theater.

By the United Press.

New York, Feb. 8.--"Trilby" is to be put upon the stage here. Not the whole piece, but just dear Trilby by herself, and that as a living picture. Manager Rice, of the Garden theater, conceived the idea of devoting one picture night to Du Maurier's heroine, and inserted in the personal column of today's papers an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the theater, each one quite sure that she looked more like Trilby than her neighbor. There was every type of woman in this crowd, old and young, ugly and pretty, light and dark, some suggesting Trilby, while others looked no more like her than Svengali did. The apparel of some of the women was plainly copied from Du Maurier's pictures. One woman was noticed in an advertisement, calling for women who think themselves fitted by nature to impersonate Trilby.

Long before 11 o'clock this morning there was a long line of women around the stage door of the