less ask the Press whether a business "causing so much crime" ought to be continued, at all, even with the state acting as a well-paid partner.

Announcement is made by Editor Hudson of the Scranton Times that on Monday next that journal will be transformed into a penny afternoon paper.

The State, Too, Has Rights. The Scranton Truth is now concerned lest the enactment of a compulsory education law in this state should necessitate the erection of new school buildings.

Mr. Pullman, who was wanted as a witness at the Debs trial in Chicago, explains that he did not go to New York in order to avoid an order of court, but because he had made arrangements to do so.

The verdict of the Boschino jury yesterday is expected to have a depressing effect upon walking arsenals in this vicinity.

It is held that if the newspapers maintained absolute silence as to the doings of anarchists, the disease would disappear, since it feeds on notoriety and dramatic incidents, and when an anarchist cannot attract public attention and pose as a martyr, his zeal in the cause of disorder will abate.

Very Like a "Roast." From Town Topics. Nations have been visited by famine, fire, fevers and wars and well-nigh annihilated. History reveals the most sickening and sorrowful pictures of deadly persecutions and consuming ravages.

Slightly Sarcastic. From the Minneapolis Times. "Senator Teller," says a western paper, "can at least be credited with the courage of his opinions."
