

TALES OF TWO PITTSBORNS

News of Interest to Readers Up and Down the Valley.

FUNERAL OF DR. J. J. WALSH

A New Electric Railroad Enterprise—The Store of E. L. Fuller & Co., Burglarized—Personal and Other Notes of Interest.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Pittsboro, Feb. 18.—The funeral of Dr. J. J. Walsh was held at the family residence, on William street, this morning at 9.30 o'clock. The many sorrowful friends of the late doctor and the grief-stricken family called to view the remains long before that hour. They consisted of all classes and nationalities, the rich, the poor, and the natives, denominations. Beautiful floral offerings of appropriate design nearly hid from view the casket. Among the friends were people from all parts of the Wyoming and Lackawanna valleys. The remains were borne to St. John the Evangelist church, where a solemn high mass of requiem was sung by the Very Rev. John Finnen. Rev. Father Greeve was deacon. Rev. Father Kelly sub-deacon, and Father Lynott master of ceremonies. Within the sanctuary were the following clergymen: Revs. M. P. Crane, J. J. McCall, Avoca; P. C. Hurst, of Lovelton; John Smoutler, of Olyphant; J. Curran, of Nealon, Carbondale; P. J. McManus, Green Ridge; P. J. McCall, Hyde Park; M. J. Millane, J. J. Feeley, of St. Peter's cathedral; P. J. Driscoll, of Nicholson; J. F. Pagan, of Scranton; M. E. Smyth, of Jermy; D. H. Green, of Minooka; J. J. Shanley, of Dickson City; J. J. Coroner, of Forest City; John Griffin, of Honesdale; M. J. O'Malley, Kingston; J. P. Jordan, M. O'Hourke, of Wilkes-Barre; R. J. O'Malley, of Plains; John O'Malley, Kingston; B. J. Driscoll, Nicholson. The flower bearers were: Peter Burke, M. E. Kelley, William Gibson, John Kennedy, Theodore Hart, Dr. McKown, Dr. Hileman, Thomas Cody. The pall bearers were: Drs. W. H. Hartman, C. J. McFadden, George Tobin, and Messrs. Thomas Ed. Mahony, Ed. Rutledge, and Dr. Boyan, of the hospital trustees were present in a body, as were also the society of the Catholic Mutual Benefit association, of which Dr. Walsh was a member.

The girls' choir of St. John's academy sang the Gregorian mass. William Devaney sang the "O Salutaris," and Professor John Klassen, of Scranton, sang the "Agnus Dei." At the close of the mass, Very Rev. Father Finnen preached the funeral sermon, taking for his text "Be you then also ready; for at what hour you think not, the Son of man will come." St. Luke, xlii, 28. Father Finnen, in the course of his remarks said:

The calling of the physician is most useful and very much to be honored. His object is to alleviate pain and heal the sick. It is a calling akin to the priestly office. It labors to help humanity under the pressure of physical infirmity. He seeks for and seeks to help the suffering body, while the priest labors for the soul and seeks to heal the wounds inflicted on it by sin, and to restore to the enjoyment of spiritual health. Our blessed Lord speaks of the physician in several places in his holy Gospel, in order to fix the attention of his hearers on the physical infirmities and the need of the spiritual physician to heal them by the application of the supernatural means at the disposal of his ministry. The Evangelist, St. Paul, writes to the Colossians, where he is styled the beloved physician. He is like the priest; also in confidence of trust in him. He is the trusted friend and should therefore be the embodiment of honor. We believe that our deceased brother, Dr. Walsh, fulfilled all these requisites in a high degree. He was highly respected by his professional brethren, and it is no exaggeration to say that he had the respect and affection of the entire community, where he was known from his infancy. His practice in this town for fifteen years has been constant and laborious. It was chiefly among the poor that he labored, and that means much work and light pay for the physician. For daily toilers and their families have many little but small incomes. Not being of robust constitution, "his day and night toils waiting on the sick and sore, had its exhausting effect, and we see this today in the remains which lie here at the altar of the altar of St. John.

Dr. Walsh was possessed of a most generous nature and very often gave his time and skill where he knew he would find no money recompense. To the public hospital in this town, from its opening, he generously, with the other gentlemen of his calling, gave a portion of his time and skill and to no man in his instances could do more. His help to the church was always prompt and always beyond his means. Some might call it a weakness to go to work, but it was a virtuous weakness which he inherited. His presence could not help it. His affection for his family was one of the beautiful traits of his character. His love for his little children was deep in his heart, and it delighted him to have them with him in his rounds of duty when circumstances permitted. Whatever would make them happy, his affection prompted him to grant, and no means at his command would have been spared to bring them up religiously and make them good, happy and intelligent men and women. The wife of his affections, to whom he was united some thirteen years ago, is today grief-stricken, and as she stands surrounded by her six or eight children, she is in a position that is too sacred to intrude upon in the presence of an audience. God is a father and loves His children, and may He give the consolation needed in her situation.

At the close of his discourse, the remains were borne to Market Street cemetery and interred. The floral tributes were as follows: scroll, trustees of the hospital; casket bouquet, medical staff; gates ajar, superintendent, matron, resident physician, employees and patients of the hospital; yellow, J. M. J. Cross, C. M. B. A. Kelly; bouquet, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thomas. Nearly 3,000 people were in attendance.

A New Enterprise. A new enterprise which has been on foot for a short time past has just been put on a sure basis for consummation by the granting of articles of incorporation to the Scoville Island Street Railway company, the papers for which were filed in the office of the recorder of deeds for Luzerne county this (Feb. 18) morning. The incorporators are: E. B. Leonard, W. S. Thompkins, C. D. Simpson, E. A. Coray and H. M. Streeter. These same gentlemen are the promoters of the plan to build a bridge from the west shore of the river to the island. It is reported that these capitalists will build an electric railway from Wyoming, connecting there with the proposed camp ground and Mt. Lookout railway. The road will run up the valley near the Stevens colliery, across the bridge to the island and then continue to the west side of the Lackawanna river, thus passing near Campbell's Ledge and Falling Springs. With such an electric railway in operation it can do no less than make of Scoville Island a pleasure resort of no small capacity in connection with accommodations for the public which are sure to follow. The high standing of the gentlemen at the head of the scheme insures to it a stability that will only be satisfied when the work is pushed to completion, and doubtless the coming summer will see great improvements in the upper end of the valley.

Water damage—our loss will be your gain. The entire stock in our wholesale dry goods department has been damaged by water. About 500 comfortable, all-wool blankets, red and white flannels, etc., all too much soaked to put on our shelves, but in as good condition as ever for use, will be sold at 25 per cent. less than cost. A. B. Brown's Bee Hive, Pittsboro, Pa.

The efforts of the Water Street Bridge company are indeed very commendable. They have collected Young hired a team and a man to haul snow on the bare places on the bridge.

A Store Burglarized. The store of E. L. Fuller & Co., at Duryea, was entered by strangers last evening. The intruders cut the glass out of the front door and took possession. Goods of all descriptions were strewn about the floor in the search for valuables. The thieves procured some jewelry, knives and revolvers, when they were frightened away by the watchman. The cash drawer was also broken into and a small amount of change taken.

All regular subscriptions to the Scranton Tribune will be collected at our local office, No. 8 South Main street. Superintendent George L. Houser, of the Lehigh Valley railroad, was in town today.

Attend Brown's sale. Wednesday's Tribune will contain the full election returns.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

New York, Feb. 18.—Speculation at the Stock exchange was quiet today, only 130,608 shares changing hands. The market was erratic in its course and did not develop and definite tone at the close, when, if anything, it was firm covering the contracts. Probably the real feature of the day was the heaviness and selling of the anthracite coal stocks. Jersey Central broke from 8 3/4 to 8 1/2; Lackawanna from 15 3/4 to 15; Delaware and Hudson from 12 1/2 to 12; and Reading from 9 1/2 to 9. Jersey Central, which is heavily overvalued, rallied to 8 3/4 to 8 1/2 at the close. Lackawanna recovered to 15 1/2 to 15 1/4, and Delaware and Hudson to 12 1/2 to 12 1/4. Erie was weakened on the talk of foreclosure and heavy selling, and fell from 10 1/2 to 10. In the last hour Chicago gas ran off 1/4 to 7/8 under sales by brokers, who had purchased during the morning session. St. Paul and the other Grangers were a shade weaker at the opening on the poor statement of the Grange for the second week of the current month. Distillers were firm on the progress making, looking to re-organization of the property. Sugar was strong on manipulation. In the last hour the market was firm, especially for the Grangers, Sugar, Louisville and Nashville, General Electric, and Lead. Market closed firm. Net changes show advances of 1/4 to 3/4 per cent.
