CHAMPION JAMES J. CORBETT

Will Be at the Academy of Music on Wednesday Night. James J. Corbett, the champion of the world, will be at the Academy of Music on Wednesday evening in his successful play, "Gentleman Jack," which gives his own life nearly, with his rise to his present position. The third act of the play takes place at the Madison Square Roof garden, the fourth, the training quarters at Lock Harbour, and the last, the arena of the Olympic club at New Orleans. Mr. Corbett will introduce his different methods of training, including his wonderful bag punching. A most interesting event of the performance will be a scientific exhibition of boxing by Mr. Corbett and Steve O'Donnell. The cast includes such well known players as Ben Hendricks, J. W. McConnell, Wilson, John McVeigh, Bert Tueman, J. A. Wren, Fred Harrison, Andrew Haynes, Miss Nellie Buckley, Miss Henrietta Osborne, Miss Blanche Howard and Miss Jessie Villars and others.

DR. A. JUDSON GORDON.

Interesting Address Will Be Delivered by Rev. W. G. Watkins Tomorrow Night. Rev. W. G. Watkins will deliver an address tomorrow evening at the North Main Avenue Baptist church in memory of the late Dr. Adoniram Judson Gordon, of Boston, who died on Feb. 2. Dr. Gordon is described as one of the noblest and most truly representative men of this country, beloved and in demand by Christians of all creeds. Mr. Watkins is well qualified to review his works, and many throughout the city will be glad of the opportunity to learn more of Dr. Gordon's life.

KIRMS COMING HERE.

Wilkes-Barreans Will Dance at the Frothingham Tuesday Night. The Wilkes-Barre Kirms and Living Whist will be produced entire at the Frothingham on Tuesday evening. Many Scrantonians have been anxious to see the Kirms of the sister city so as to compare it with that held in this city and it has been determined to give them an opportunity to do so. All the dancers will be brought to this city and the entire programme rendered just as it was in Wilkes-Barre.

BODY TAKEN TO HIS HOME

Impressive Services Over the Remains of Rev. John J. Mangan.

MANY PRIESTS IN ATTENDANCE

After Requiem Mass Thousands Paid Their Last Tribute of Respect to Priest—Taken to the Home of His Youth for Interment.

Over the remains of the late Rev. John J. Mangan most impressive funeral services were held yesterday morning at St. Peter's cathedral, after which the body was borne, attended by an immense concourse of people, to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot, and thence on the 1.14 p. m. train to Cuba, N. Y., the home of the dead priest, for interment.

The body had rested in the episcopal residence from the hour of death until 8 o'clock yesterday morning. From that hour until the services began at 9 o'clock the interior of the cathedral was draped heavily in black; along the winding gallery was a wide of mourning, and the columns and chandeliers were shrouded. The tabernacle of the high altar was clothed in purple on account of the rules of the church at this approaching season of Lent. But the candlesticks were concealed beneath crape and the sanctuary furnishings were, too, in mourning.

The body was reposed in a raised catafalque in the center aisle. Rich sacerdotal vestments of purple bedecked the dead priest, and his hands, folded across his breast, held the golden chalice that he owned and which he used in offering the sacrifice of the mass. The casket was of black cloth. Around the catafalque six surpliced boys, Henry Hillman, Arthur Hewitt, Gabriel Dunne, James Morling, Patrick McKeefe and James Doyle, sat each beside a tall candle.

In the front pews were the father, John Mangan; brother, Thomas Mangan; aunt, Mrs. Lynch; brother-in-law, Mr. Breslin; and other relatives of the deceased. In the reserved front pews sat the students of St. Thomas college; and representatives of Catholic societies of the city. The ushers were: B. D. O'Reilly, P. J. McCaffrey, J. J. O'Boyle, and Frank McAndrew. At 9 o'clock there was hardly room for another person in the church; the aisles and gallery were very crowded.

Services Over the Remains.

The services began with the chanting of the Office for the dead. Right Reverend Bishop O'Hara was seated upon the sedulum; on his right was Very Rev. John Finnen, of Pittston, and on his left was Rev. John Loughran, the venerable pastor of St. Joseph's church, Minooka. Rev. Peter Christy, of St. Mary's church, William street; Rev. Richard Aust, of Prospect avenue; Rev. G. F. McMurray and Rev. M. B. Donlan, Dunmore; Rev. J. L. Shanley, Dickson; Rev. P. J. Murphy and Rev. J. Smoller, of Olyphant; Rev. T. J. Comerford, Archbald; Rev. M. A. Lymont, of Holy Trinity church, William street; Rev. J. Curran and Rev. J. Griffin, Honesdale; Rev. J. J. Healey, Mount Pleasant; Rev. J. H. Sandaia, Towanda; Rev. J. H. Sandaia, Athens; Rev. J. V. Huddle, Bentley Creek; Rev. James J. O'Malley and Rev. W. H. Connolly, of Troy, the former a room mate and class mate in the seminary of the deceased, and both were ordained on the same day as the deceased; Rev. John Costello, of Sayre; Rev. M. J. Manley, of Wellsboro; Rev. Michael Dunn, of Great Bend; Rev. P. J. Colligan, Little Meadows; Rev. P. J. Golden, Williamsport; Rev. Michael O'Reilly, Danville; Rev. Felix McGuiken, Nanticoke; Rev. M. J. Hoban, Ashley; Rev. A. T. Brodick, Rev. M. J. O'Rourke, Rev. J. J. Billestein and Rev. Theophilus Klenowski, of Wilkes-Barre; Rev. T. A. Donohoe, Plymouth; Rev. John P. O'Malley and Rev. J. McEllish, Kingston; Rev. T. P. Kiernan, Parson; Rev. M. J. Kelly, Pittston; Rev. M. F. Crane and Rev. J. J. McCabe, Avoca, and Rev. Daniel Green, Minooka.

The Requiem Mass.

While the chanting of the Office was being sung, the solemn high mass was begun, with Rev. P. C. Winters, of Plymouth, celebrant; Rev. James F. Jordan, of Wilkes-Barre, deacon; Rev. Hugh Gerrity, of Blossburg, sub-deacon; Rev. John Steinkircher, of Wilkes-Barre, master of ceremonies; Charles P. O'Malley, assistant; Martin J. O'Malley, thurifer. John Burke and John Colligan were the acolytes, and Patrick Hewitt, candle bearer.

A full choir sang the mass and the music was grand and extremely solemn, being composed in the Gregorian scale, except the Benedictus. At the offertory Mrs. W. P. Schilling sang the solo. Professor W. P. Schilling was the organist and directed the music. When the mass was over Right Rev. Bishop O'Hara pronounced the final benediction, and as the people were departing from the church the compassionate solo, "Pie Jesu," was sung by Mrs. W. J. Burke.

Rev. W. P. O'Donnell, of St. Mary's church, Providence, preached the sermon from the text: "For every high priest taken from among men is ordained for men in the things which appertain to God, that he may offer up gifts and sacrifices for sins: Who can have compassion on the ignorant and the erring, since he himself is also encompassed with infirmities (St. Paul, Heb. v. 1, 2.)"

Father O'Donnell's sermon, and, besides, he paid the following tribute to Father Mangan's worth as a man: "My beloved brethren, we are in the presence of a sad, an astounding occurrence. It is one of those occasions in the course of human life when we find it difficult to attain our will to the deep and serious sympathies which vibrate from our hearts. A priest of God taken from among men, and ordained for men in the things which appertain to God; one of whom we loved for his qualities, social as well as his religious qualities, has been taken suddenly and unexpectedly from our midst and called to render an account of his stewardship.

We hope and trust that the rewards of his virtues and sacrifices were many awaiting him on the records of that tribunal before which all men must appear. May the God of Mercy deal kindly with him, and grant eternal rest to his poor immortal soul.

Though gifted with talents which might have placed him in the front ranks of his fellows in the secular world, he listened to the voice of God calling him to a higher life where he could instruct others into justice, have compassion on the erring ones in this world and offer gifts and sacrifices for sin.

The priesthood of Christ is the highest and holiest office that God can confer upon man and the aspirant to that sublime dignity should bring to his calling not only zeal for God's honor and glory and the salvation of souls, but also human learning, that he may be able to give reasons for the faith that is in him, instruct the ignorant, and lead wavering humanity from this valley of sin to the mountain of holiness.

Father Mangan was a man not only richly endowed with natural abilities, but he was a serious student, a deep reasoner, and one that loved mankind, in which he had stored away a rich fund of facts. He was not only learned in his calling, but he was thoroughly conversant with the current events and well the history of the living men of the day.

Each might choose some particular trait of his character, but to my mind the one which predominated was self-sacrifice; always yielding up his own interests for the good of others. He adhered tenaciously to what he believed to be right, but yet retiring in his disposition and never imposed his opinions on others and exceedingly careful never to offend. But, my brethren, although a high priest, superior to all talents and selected by God to offer gifts and sacrifices for sins, he himself was encompassed with infirmities, and if we loved him in life let us love him also in death, and let that love manifest itself in an appeal to God in his behalf.

Remains Taken to Cuba. At 12.45 the funeral procession moved to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot and it was one of the longest corteges ever seen in this city. Over 5,000 persons lined the route, and gazed upon the peaceful features of the priest and half as many more who could not gain admittance attended the remains to the depot.

The pall-bearers were: John Colligan, J. J. Maghnan, J. E. Roche, B. E. Leonard, T. P. Leonard, M. J. Kelly, George P. McCarty, J. E. Brown, Peter Kelly and John J. O'Boyle.

In addition to the pall-bearers and the family, those who accompanied the remains were: Fathers Cyriacus and James, O. S. F., both of St. Bonaventure college, Allegany, N. Y.; O'Reilly, Jordan, Walsh, Moffitt, Leacock, D. A. Dunne, Gerrity, P. O'Neill, Nealon, Hunsie, Comerford, McCabe, Quinnan, O'Malley and Sandaia; Patrick Rush and Thomas Rooney, of Branch 35, Catholic Mutual Benefit association; Hon. James C. Vaughan, William McDonough, John E. Regan, Miles Clark, Patrick B. Caplan, and John Sheridan, of St. Peter's Young Men's Total Abstinence society; William Dawson and Dennis Roche, of the I. C. B. U., of Pine Brook; P. F. Howley and M. E. Handley, of John Boyle O'Reilly council, Young Men's Institute; P. J. Boland, Peter F. Cusick and A. J. Duffy, representing the students of St. Thomas college; B. D. O'Reilly, J. E. Ruddy and James E. Ruddy.

MEETING OF TEACHERS.

Will Be Held in Y. M. C. A. Hall on March 2.

The fourth annual meeting of the Lackawanna County Teachers' association will be held Saturday, March 2, in the Young Men's Christian Association hall, this city. An excellent programme, both of an educational and entertaining nature, has been made out by the committee. The morning session will begin at 10 a. m., and the afternoon session at 2 p. m.

Among the speakers from abroad are the following: Professor E. L. Kemp, of East Stroudsburg Normal school, subject, "School Work in Literature"; Professor Edward G. Ladd, of New York, subject, "The Rational Method in Reading"; Professor George W. Twitmyer, Honesdale, subject, "Problems Confronting the Teacher." Among the prominent county teachers who will give addresses are: Mrs. Lucy Booth, of Scranton, subject, "Public Schools and Public Opinion"; Mrs. M. N. Davis, Archbald, subject, "Our Profession." During the sessions subjects bearing upon the profession of teaching will be discussed by many prominent teachers of the county.

A CRACKER JACK.

It Is the Attraction Billed for Davis' Theater Next Week.

One of the important novelties of the current theatrical season is the thrilling comedy, "A Cracker Jack," by Herbert Hall Winslow, who is considered by many prominent critics to be the most original of American dramatic authors.

Messrs. Stair and Nicolai, proprietors of "A Cracker Jack," have mounted the play lavishly and cast it with one of the strongest companies procurable. The play embodies a rich fund of comedy, and the best specialty talent to be had has been secured. The services of twenty-two people are required in its production. It will be seen at Davis' theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, afternoon and evening.

TO WORK FULL TIME.

D. & H. Collieries Will Be Operated That Way for a Short Time.

The employees of the Delaware and Hudson collieries hereabouts were pleased yesterday when the announcement was made that they will begin to work full time.

Superintendent Vandling said last night that it was probable that the new order would remain in effect only a few days. The condition of the coal trade will not warrant the company in continuing to operate its collieries to their fullest capacity.

HAS JOINED HER HUSBAND.

Mrs. Kate Flannaghan Is Now in the County Jail.

Mrs. Kate Flannaghan, of Bull's Head, was yesterday sent to the county jail to join her husband, who is there charged by her with having caused the death of their child.

Thursday Mrs. Flannaghan was arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, and yesterday was sent to the county jail for fifteen days.

MURDER IN SECOND DEGREE

That Is the Verdict Returned in the Case Against John S. Rostovsky.

RECEIVED BY JUDGE ARCHBALD

Convicted Man Will Be Sentenced by Judge Albright, Before Whom He Was Tried—How the Jury Stood During the Time It Was Out.

John Sylvester Rostovsky was found guilty by the jury of murder in the second degree for the crime of crushing the skull of Joseph Clute with a baseball bat at the Ridge in Archbald borough on Sunday morning, Sept. 17, of last year.

The verdict was returned at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and was recorded in court by Judge Archbald. It required twenty-one hours for the jury to reach a unanimous decision regarding the punishment that ought to fit Rostovsky's crime.

From all the evidence in the case it did not appear that the prisoner willfully, deliberately and premeditatedly committed the murder; but it was due to the careful and painstaking defense established by his attorneys, Joseph O'Brien and ex-Judge W. H. Stanton. They are the recipients of congratulations and they richly deserve them.

District Attorney John H. Jones contended for a verdict of murder in the first degree and made out a strong case for the commonwealth. He was assisted with no mean encouragement by John M. Corbett, a promising member of the younger bar.

All the facts of the case have heretofore been detailed fully, but suffice it to say that the murder was the outcome of a drunken brawl. There was more or less provocation in the offense.

Taking the Verdict.

At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the jury stood over to court that it had agreed and Judge Archbald, who was on the bench, ordered them to be brought in. Deputy Prothonotary Myron J. Kasson acted as recording clerk and took the sealed envelope from the foreman, Charles M. Zitzelman, handing it to the court.

The prisoner was ever in the dock to the right and he awaited nervously the news of the finding of the jury. His attorneys were also present. Judge Archbald returned the verdict to Mr. Kasson, who read it aloud:

"Gentlemen of the jury, hearken unto your verdict, as the court hath recorded it. In the case of the commonwealth vs. John Sylvester Rostovsky, you find the defendant guilty of murder in the second degree and recommend him to the mercy of the court."

The jurymen nodded assent and Judge Archbald thanked them and then discharged them from further consideration of the case. They retired to the treasurer's office and drew twenty days' pay.

Attorneys O'Brien and Stanton asked court the privilege of having Rostovsky sentenced by the judge who presided at the trial. Judge Archbald stated that Judge Albright undoubtedly would return to impose sentence. The severest penalty for second degree is twenty years imprisonment.

Way the Jury Stood.

On the first ballot the jury stood three for first degree, six for second degree and three for acquittal. Quite a number of ballots were taken and finally it stood three for first degree and nine for second degree.

When the balloting was resumed yesterday morning the three for first degree consented to a second degree verdict.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS.

The Erie car shops have been removed from Elmira to Buffalo. The Lake Erie and Western have an excellent live stock traffic. Braikeman E. Doud, of 212 Mulberry street, is suffering from an attack of grip.

Conductor M. Case is detained at home by sickness. He has been suffering for some days from a severe attack of grip.

Rev. J. W. Williams, of Dunmore Presbyterian church, will address tomorrow afternoon's meeting at the Railroad Young Men's Christian association. The meeting will be for men only, in accordance with the rule serving last Sunday in the month for that purpose. The railroad quartette will have special music.

A regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary society was held yesterday under the presidency of Mrs. David Brown, a large number of ladies being present.

The case of a distressed railroader's family was brought before the meeting and the ladies decided to assist the family in a substantial manner. Other business of a routine nature was transacted.

The good news was announced yesterday that eight hours a day will be resumed in the car shops on Monday. For over two months the work in the shops has been limited to six hours per day, but in the meantime the number of crippled cars ready for overhauling has increased to a considerable extent.
