PITTSSTON'S MODEL COUNCIL.

The Gymnastic Exhibition—A Brilliant Wedding on the West Side—Daily Record of Tappings on Either Side of the Susquehanna.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Pittsston, Feb. 28.—Last evening at the special meeting of the borough council that honorable body passed a resolution relating to the enforcement of the Traction Company in running their cars to the Lehigh and Bloomsburg Junction, under a heavy penalty for non-resumption of the passenger service transportation. The act is very commendable and coincides with the expression of the people of Pittsston, especially with those of the upper end. The members of the councilman body are proving themselves to be men of a true and generous character. They are not trying shifts, the important duties that have been submitted to their jurisdiction, but are making every effort to consummate, as far as possible, the work already begun, and at the expiration of their term on March 31 to leave all business there has been brought before them in such shape that the new city council can continue the work without trouble or hesitation.

THROUGH MANY PERILS.

Terrible Experiences of Francis Nolan on Lake Huron.

By the United Press. Feb. 23.—Francis Nolan, of Oscoda, who reached here Saturday afternoon after thrilling adventures, was carried from Oscoda by the ice forty-five miles, and though badly frozen, he will live. He went hunting ducks along the ice at Oscoda last Thursday morning, and when he failed to return his family thought he had been drowned. His gun was found standing against a pile in Penoyer Brothers' slip. The boat was missing. There seemed no doubt of his fate. Nolan reached this place about 7 o'clock Saturday evening. His feet and hands were frozen, and his hands and thumbs were cut and bruised. He is now at a hotel and is doing well. Nolan tells a thrilling story. Thursday morning he went to the lake and shot two ducks, but he could not get them without the use of a boat, so he went over to the north of the creek and got an old skiff. When he got his ducks he discovered that one orlock was broken. He tried to tie it up, but in vain. All the while the wind kept rising and blowing him further out into the lake. When he got ready to pull for the shore he was unable to make any headway, and all that was left to do was to ride his boat and go with the stream. About 5 o'clock, or before sunset, Thursday night his boat ran into the slush ice, twelve miles north of Flat Rock Point. There he was obliged to lay all night. Friday morning the wind came out of the southwest and carried him out into Lake Huron. Friday night brought a change, the wind blowing from the north bringing him in ten miles northeast of the Port Austin reef lighthouse. By the time his boat had drifted out of the slush ice and struck hard ice. With superhuman strength he pulled his boat upon the field of ice and drew it about a mile. There he gave up for the night. Saturday morning he started for the shore. His hands and feet were badly frozen. Crawling and climbing over mountains of ice, falling and getting up incessantly, he made progress. As often as he got on his feet and met with a slight obstruction he would fall, and to protect his hands, which were incased in a very light pair of gloves, he would cut them up, and he would be lacerating them. He reached shore about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. During the trip across the lake Nolan experienced one of the worst storms ever known in this locality.

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 23.—In the house of representatives this afternoon a bill was passed to repeal the act which permits saloon-keepers to sell liquor in quantities less than one quart to be drunk off the premises. When the bill was announced, Mrs. James L. Wolcott, wife of Chancellor Wolcott, began to sing the doxology, which was taken up by about fifty women present.

INDUSTRIAL TOPICS.

The Laurel Run mine situated near Pottsville has been under control of the Delaware and Hudson Coal company, will after April 1 pass into the hands of the Algonquin Coal company. At present this colliery is working full time and gives employment to about 400 men and boys and has an output of from 300 to 400 tons daily.

Hirsdye coal promises to come into use, for steam purposes in the near future. It is in this state that is now being used generally throughout the coal regions for generating steam at mines and breakers. One reason, and a very good one, too, why it shall not be extensively used elsewhere, though, is its scarcity. It requires nearly all of it that is now prepared to supply home consumption.

Carbondale Herald: It is altogether likely that the full time which is now being pursued in the mines hereabout will be discontinued by the first of March. There is still a large amount of hard coal over ground, notwithstanding the severe weather of this winter, which prevents the free mining of coal at present. The consumption of anthracite since the beginning of this year has been almost unprecedented in a like time, in the history of our principal industry. But the stocks of coal on hand at the opening of the year were unusually large also, so that the splendid coal burning weather of this year will simply left the coal trade in good luck, without the use of the proper care for the mining and marketing of anthracite during this spring and summer, the present year should be a notable one in marking prosperity for the miner as well as the operator.

The stockholder quotes the representative of a "prominent coal interest" of Philadelphia, as believing "that certain powerful interests have determined to secure control of the entire anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania. I know that such a theory looks rather improbable because of the enormous losses which have been sustained during the past two years in the business. These losses are inconsistent with my theory, but the depression is the one most feasible way in which control of the several properties can be secured. I do not believe, either, that those who are trying to secure this control have lost any great amount of money through their efforts to depress prices, but I cannot explain how they prevented these losses. Nor am I the only coal man in Philadelphia who holds this theory. I believe many others do, and I believe that the future will show that a very few wealthy men, including the Vanderbilts, will have secured control of every prominent coal road in Pennsylvania."

RECLAIMED FROM DEATH.

The Horror of Man Thwarted.

In the Grasp of that Dread Disease, Consumption—Life Given Back—Almost Miraculous.

Fortunately, perhaps, the Consumptive does not realize his own condition. He is a disease of continual waste until he meets a death that is in reality one of starvation.

It is now generally conceded that this disease is incurable—that is, by any known medicine. Change of climate, or some life-inspiring food that will give new flesh, blood, and strength, and induce the various organs of the body to assume their normal functions—this is the only hope.

The only way to do this effectually is to give the patient Bovinine, that great food product, the great concentration of the life-giving elements of raw beef known to modern science. In this connection the results obtained by Dr. J. H. Head of Atlanta, Ga., in the treatment of a case of consumption, are interesting. Dr. Head's patient was a man about thirty-five years of age came to him for treatment. He had lost forty pounds in weight in six months; he suffered with a bad cough and experienced severe night sweats; he was unable to do any work; most of his family had died of consumption, and on examination his right lung was found to be seriously affected, and as the doctor remarked, "He was in a good way to have an early funeral."

But note what happened. He was given Bovinine. In two weeks he had gained seven pounds, his appetite had returned, he was able to do a good day's work, and most of the distressing symptoms had vanished; and at the time of writing the doctor felt sure of a complete cure.

This is but one of many similar cases. Bovinine will give new life and strength, make new blood and flesh, stop waste, ward off disease, and turn the current of life's river again into its natural channel. Give it one trial while there is yet hope.
