THE BLESSED SACRAMENT. That was the topic on which Rev. Father DeHaza spoke at St. Peter's Cathedral last night. The largest crowd that attended yet was present at the mission at the cathedral last night. Father DeHaza preached the sermon on the Blessed Sacrament. He took his text from the Gospel of St. John.

Our church, the speaker said, "would indeed be cold and empty halls if we did not believe that Christ is present in the Blessed Sacrament. The greatest and highest love that could be shown to man was shown by God when He instituted this sacrament, when He performed this mystery. The Catholic faith is inspired by the Holy Ghost. Her teachings are from the beginning, from the earliest ages. "Why does the church teach that the body and blood of the Divine Son are present in the Sacrament of the altar? Because Jesus Christ said so. When Christ fed the Jews with bread and fishes, He told them He would give them His blood to drink and His flesh to eat. The Jews murmured, but Christ did not attempt to force them to believe Him. He did not say that He only meant that He would give them His body and blood as a representation. The speaker quoted several passages from Scripture to prove that God gave His body and blood in reality as a Sacrament. Christ asked His disciples if they would believe and St. Peter answered, "Lord, Thou hast the word of eternal life, to whom shall we go if not to Thee?"

IN THE WORLD OF SOCIETY. Functions That Marked the Few Days Preceding Lent. PARTIES, WEDDINGS AND TEAS

The Gamut of the Week's Events Soundled in Short Paragraphs—Guests and Entertainments—Personal Mention Directed to a Compact Compass.

With the coming of Lent have gone the many social pleasures of the winter season, and very little will be doing until the final assembly at the Bicycle Club house on Easter Monday. During that week the collegians will come home and on the night of April 17 the Yale Glee club's concert will be given at the Frothingham. By this time the college vacations will have ended, but many will be enabled to hear the concert and attend a reception of the Yale men, for which the arrangements have not yet been completed.

Class No. 8 of the Penn Avenue Sunday school were entertained by their teacher, Mrs. E. A. Gardner, Thursday night. Those present were: Miss Gertrude Alworth, Miss Lena Padlock, Miss Lutz, Miss Fanny Smith, Miss Carrie Shook, Miss Minnie Luthmer, Miss Edith Walker, Miss Vera Holdeman, Miss Lizzie Fahrman, Miss Edith Murphy, Miss Agnes Nicholson, Harry Flinn, Fred Sturges, James Cooper, Charles St. John, Frank Hepburn, Fred Strong, Willie Francis, Henry Asker, Harry Macauchen, Frank Genthner, Albert Louthner, Louis Brady, Alvin Stecker, Leo Gardner.

Word has been received here of the arrival at Naples on Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Simpson of this city. Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. W. G. Payne and Miss Payne of Kingston. They expect to be joined during next week by Colonel and Mrs. H. M. Boles, who sailed a week later, and then the entire party will go to Cairo, Egypt. Their tour will end in London in about two months.

Judge Edwards last night in New York responded to the toast, "The Land of Our Fathers," at the banquet of the St. David's society. The list of speakers included Chauncey M. Depew, Dean Howells, Recorder G. G. Ashley, Chief Justice of the Nostrand Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, at the home of the bride's parents, 91 Hancock street.

Francis J. Ruyf, proprietor of The Fair, of this city, and Miss Mary C. Lewis were married in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Monday night. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Good enough, of the Nostrand Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, at the home of the bride's parents, 91 Hancock street.

An afternoon dinner was given Tuesday by Mrs. C. W. Kierpatrick for her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Clavel, of Elizabeth. About forty guests were present and spent the evening pleasantly dancing to music furnished by Professor Franklin.

Mrs. Joseph Alexander gave a tea at her home on Clay avenue Tuesday. She was assisted in receiving by her sister, Miss Grubb, of Allentown.

The tenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Kierpatrick, 74 Madison avenue, was celebrated Monday night by a tin wedding. Miss Frances Falkenbury, of Adams avenue, entertained a number of her friends at an informal party last evening.

WHO IS THE MURDERER? A SURGEON'S KNIFE. Recommended by a Philadelphia Specialist. A Simple Remedy Averted an Operation. [Philadelphia, Penn., Item.]

A healthier, heartier, happier man than John J. Neill, of 2137 North Eighth street, Philadelphia, could not be found in a day's search. Among those who know him formerly, the fact that he is still alive is a constant wonder.

In the fall of 1889 he began to suffer from stone in the bladder, and his miseries were indescribable. Consulting an eminent physician in Philadelphia, he was told that he would have to submit to a surgical operation, so much did he dread the result, for if unsuccessful it meant death, that he put off the evil day as long as possible.

On July 1, 1892, he bought the first bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and within a month had experienced beneficial results, and he had his many futile attempts with medicine, he was induced to make one more trial.

On July 1, 1892, he bought the first bottle of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and within a month had experienced beneficial results, and he had his many futile attempts with medicine, he was induced to make one more trial.

Mr. Neill feels that he owes a lasting debt of gratitude to Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. He never fails to recommend it for disorders of the bladder and urinary organs, and says "it will effect a cure if not possible!" The great value of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy lies in the fact that it dissolves the excess of uric acid in the blood. Many of the ailments people suffer from—for instance, rheumatism, nervousness, dyspepsia, kidney, liver and urinary troubles and the sickness peculiar to women, all come from this one cause.

Favorite Remedy dissolves this acid and expels it from the system, thus curing the disease. In cases of scrofula, diabetes, Bright's disease, and stone in the bladder, it never fails.

LEONARDO ROSA'S FAINT HOPE. He Carried a Revolver and Was the Last Person Seen with Lausiso, with Whom He Quarrelled—Five Italians Now Under Arrest.

The death of Veto Lausiso, the Italian whose dead body, pierced by three bullets, was found Wednesday morning on a Dunmore street, was investigated by a coroner's inquest in the arbitration room at the court house last night. The five fellow-countrymen, one of two of whom are supposed to be either directly or indirectly concerned in the killing were brought to the inquest from the county jail.

The most plausible story of the fatal night was told by Mrs. Nicoletta, whose testimony is most damaging to Leonardo Rosa. She said that on Tuesday night the party of Italians, excepting Joseph Rosa, came to her home, where Lausiso was aroused from bed and an hour or so was spent in song and dance. It was one of the Italian carnival nights and three of the visitors were dressed in fancy costumes. Leonardo had a revolver. He and Lausiso had some words over an old debt. The whole party left about 10 o'clock.

Before midnight she heard revolver shots. About 1 o'clock she heard Leonardo's and Lausiso's voices. They were in the back yard. Lausiso was being choked. Another person was with them. When she opened the door they had gone and in passing along the side of the house there was a sound like something being dragged along. About 2 o'clock several shots were fired. Joseph Rosa said that he had seen Lausiso was a dead food and would some day pay in blood for the trouble he had caused.

From other witnesses it was learned that the last seen of Lausiso alive was in the basement of Joseph Corbo's boarding house on Wyoming street. Leonardo Rosa, after the killing of Lausiso's body, Leonardo Rosa said to several persons that he had taken Lausiso home the previous night. Rosa's companions were not positive whether he occupied his bed that night.

The testimony was tedious and was edited only by the aid of Interpreter Cassese. It was 10:30 o'clock before the inquest ended.

At the time the young man was taken ill the father was in Chicago, and hurriedly returned to the bedside of his stricken son. The boy was buried on Feb. 22 and the same day Mr. Finnigan's daughter died. Worn out with grief and watching the father then became ill and was taken to the home of his relative in this city, where he expired yesterday morning.

Mr. Finnigan's son-in-law, Mr. McCormack, of Oliphant, is now very ill at that place.

The Lenten Organ Recital. From St. Luke's Churchman. On Saturday afternoon in Lent, at 4 o'clock, there will be an organ recital in the church. This recital is not for the purpose of displaying the agility of the organist nor the capacity of the organ. The music is especially selected for its quieting and elevating influence upon mind and soul. The object is to prepare the congregation for the worship of God in the evening prayer, which immediately follows. Only those who are willing and able to remain to evening prayer are expected to be present. We are led to this apparently unkind statement by the remarks and actions of many last year, not of our own parish, but of other churches.
