WAGES OF SIN IS DEATH.

That Was the Subject of Father De Haza's Address at the Mission at St. Peter's Cathedral.

Father DeHaza was the speaker at ne young men's mission at the cathedral last night and his subject was, The Wages of Sin Is Death." The reverend speaker devoted much of his sermon in defining to his young hearers what sin is and the nature of His explanations were clear and vigorous and conveyed lucidly to the comprehension of all the terrible monster that sin is. It is a cold blooded premeditated transgression of the commandments of God, and God will punish it severely. He will visit upon the sinner everlasting death. It is easy to fall into sin and therefore sin is regarded by some most trivially. If sin is trifling then death must also be trifling, because death is the outgrowth

Young men are too prone to look lightly on this grave matter. There may be a death in the family, but the infant child cannot grasp the situation. The child is not old enough to understand. If you give the youngster a toy it will please him, and you will hear his infantile rejoicings, although in the same house there may be a sad affliction at the time. The child grows older and in the exuberance of youth is not apt to dwell seriously upon death. The young man may know how prevalent death is and yet not grasp the solemnity of the thought. A boy may have a large fortune willed to him and if it is swept away he does ot realize his large loss.

The speaker exhorted the young men to consider this most momentous question with all the gravity that is due the future happiness of their souls. A question that confronts all is, Where do those myriads of souls go that leave this world everyday? Some of them are happy, but the greater number is suffering the unspeakable terments of damned in the everlasting fire of hell.

There is no gainsaying the fact that God will punish sin; that those who refuse to hear him and transgress his laws will be visited with his wrath on the day of all days. Mortal sin must be repented for either in this world or the world to come.

God has given ample proof of his hatred of sin and his determination to inflict dire punishment on the trans gressor. God punished Adam for the sin of eating the forbidden fruit and the rebellious angels were punished. Adam, the speaker said, was really the first murderer. Cain committed the crime, but if Adam had not fallen from grace man would not be prone to sin. The speaker closed with a fervent exhortation to the young men to mak well the mission and regain spiritual life, as sin had made their souls like as if dead. God had sent them the mission as a means of grace and would reward them for their services toward

AN ABSCONDER LOCATED.

Italian Who Fleeced Arigoni Ferdinando Is in South America.

Just a year ago a young Italian named Augustino Moretti came to this city and in a brief space of time succeeded, through his snave manners and enterprising audacity, in gaining the confidence of Hotelkeeper Arigoni Ferdinando, of Penn avenue, Moretti was first engaged by Ferdinando to dispense alcoholic beverages.

Pretty soon the young man unfolded the scheme of opening up a banking and draft business for the accommodation of the Italian population of this city and the suburban districts.

Ferdinando thought well of the plans and he opened such an establishment; and so well had Moretti ingratiated himself that he was employed as cashier of the new institution. Business flowed to the bank, but when Ferdinando had built up great hopes Moretti fled, and with him went over $700 of the depositors' hard earned cash, Ferdinando made good the ss and discontinued the banking bust ws.

He received a setter yesterday that Moretti had been located in Buenos Ayres, Argentine, but as no extradition treaty is in effect between that country and this Moretti may be allowed to go his way in peace.

WINTER IN THE TROPICS.

The Delights of St. Augustine, the Most Popular Resort in Florida.

If there is any season of the year when the resident of the temperate zone long for the delights of a tropical climate it is during the blustering month of March. The tourist who can leave the locality of howling tempest for a trip to southern lands of a few weeks duration, returning at the opening of has not quite recovered. spring is most fortunate.

For years past Florida has been the season many tourists from Scranton and vicinity have been included in the hosts that enjoy the beauties of the land of eternal summer, where luxurius vegetation flourishes unrestrained and the fragrance of the orange blossom is wafted upon every breeze.

A trip to Florida is incomplete with out a visit to St. Augustine, the oldest ity on the western hemisphere. This quaint old city is conceded by all to be the most attractive winter resort in America. It is situated on an estuary of the Atlantic known as the Matanzas river, thirty-six miles from Jacksonville, and is reached by the Jacksonville, St. Augustine and Indian River railway. The wonderful climate and warm sea air of the Atlantic, the romantic scenery, old landmarks, and unexcelled hotel accomodations make the city the superior of any winter watering place on earth. With each returning season the number of visitors to this charming resort has been increased and invalids come from all parts of the | be successful. north and many are attracted from Europe. While we, of the north, are shivering in furs on the streets or are hugging registers and steam radiators, as the blizzards howl by our doors, the St. Augustine tourist dreams the day away in swinging hammocks clad in summer garments, unmindful of the season of ice and snow.

Among the most prominent hotels of St. Augustine may be mentioned the Ponce de Leon, which is one of the grandest and most celebrated houses of ntertainment in the world; the Spanish Moresque palaces, the Alcazar and Cordova, which are set amidst orange and palm, with courts plazas, fountains, spacious verandas and other features of comfort that are found in hotels of the highest order. These three houses are under the management of C. B. Knott, a gentleman of wide experience, whose career as an entertainer has been thoroughly estab-

The season at St. Augustine is now n full blast. There is an almost constant succession of balls, regrettas, lawn fetes, fairs and other social functions that make winter life in the old Spanish City a delightful dream.

Scrantonians who contemplate a visit to Florida of even the most brief duraion cannot well afford to pass by St. Augustine. The southern traveler who has not visited this quaint and interesting city with its legends and strange features of architectural beauty; its salubrious climate and other healthful surroundings; its brilliant social affairs and winter amusements, has not seen Florida.

BOUTH SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 10, 1894.

Mr. C. W. Campbell—Doar Sir: I have given my boy, Freddie, 7 years old, some of Dr. Campbells Magic Worm Sugar and Tea, and to my surprise this afternoon about 2 o'clock he passed a tapsworm measuring about 35 feet in length, head and all. I have it in a bottle and any person wishing to see it can do so by calling at my store. I had tried numerous other remedies recommended for taking tapsworms, but all failed. In my estimation Dr. Campbell's is the greatest worm remedy in existence.
