CAVE-IN NEAR CARBONDALE.

Large Area Affected and Has Settled Four Feet in Places - Interfered with Electric Traffic for a Time.

In Carbondale township just below the Carbondale city line on the south an extensive cave-in occurred early yesterday morning which may cause serious damage.

At a point where the electric road crosses the Ontario and Western railroad and the river the ground has settled over a space covering fully 200 feet, and has settled as much as four feet in places. The tunnel underneath the ground is called Howard's heading, and is a part of the Powderly mine workings.

There have been a number of cave-ins in that vicinity, but none so extensive as this. The electric road was badly affected and for a time transferred its passengers yesterday morning, but is now running cars over the depressed spot.

Brilliant Lecture at Y. M. C. A. Hall on Washington.

LAST OF THE STANDARD COURSE

H. H. Ragan Was the Speaker and His Audience Was an Intelligent and Cultured One—Lecture Illustrated by Means of Stereopticon Views.

H. H. Ragan's lecture on "Footprints of George Washington" at Young Men's Christian Association hall last evening was the last even of the standard course and was attended by a cultured audience.

The lecture was illustrated by means of stereopticon dissolving views. First were shown the old church at Bramby, England, where the ancestors of the patriot worshipped; the inscription of the death of Lawrence Washington and his beloved wife, Anne, on the wall of the church, placed there in 1847.

In his youth Washington often on his way to Frederickburg stopped at a tavern called the Rising Sun Inn. He used to play cards, but was not a success at it as the following extract from his diary will show.

While yet a young man Washington was placed in charge of a responsible trust by the English governor Dinwiddie. The English and French governments were each claiming the land west of the Ohio river.

He was about to be taken on board and taught the art of naval warfare, but the plan did not materialize. Then the boy turned his attention to surveying, and one of his feats during his school days was to climb up the sides of the Natural Bridge in Virginia and cut his name above those of all others in the solid rock.

HARD LINES FOR GLUCK.

His Neighbors Make Very Serious Charges Against Him.

A remonstrance was filed Monday a minute or so before the clerk of the courts' office was closed, protesting vehemently against the granting of a hotel license to Joseph Gluck, of Fell township.

The first and second reasons urged in the remonstrance are that the place is not necessary for the accommodation of the traveling public, and that it will be an injury to the neighborhood.

Fourth—that the said Joseph Gluck runs his place of business for political purposes and to bleed the various candidates of both political parties.

Meeting of Green Ridge Remonstrators Held in Asbury Church.

ARE GETTING EVIDENCE READY

An Effort Will Be Made to Prove That Men Who Now Have Licenses Are Violators of the Law—Efforts to Raise Money.

At a meeting held in the Asbury Methodist Episcopal church, at Green Ridge, last night, arrangements were completed for opposing in license court on Monday the applications of those who want permission to sell intoxicants in the Thirteenth ward.

After the Asbury quartette had sung "Throw Out the Old," an appropriate prayer had been offered by Rev. A. F. Chaffee, the chairman called upon Attorney W. W. Lathrop to explain the objects of the meeting.

With regard to the remonstrances which had been filed, he was able to announce that three members of the bar would represent the Temperance party.

THAT FAMOUS WEDDING.

Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: Your criticisms on Rev. Mr. Peter's sermon are in part proper and right. It has been correctly reported. But is there not something incongruous in a marriage between an American girl and a titled man of foreign birth and belonging to a class who are of very doubtful and uncertain morals?

Is it not un-American to refer with such deference to the outward and empty titular dignity that decorates a race of idlers and profligates? To say the least, it is said to think that American girls are so often taken up with a class of foreigners, whose reputations, as a class, are so doubtful and whose views, as a rule, on the ethics of marriage are so loose.

After all it may be that this marriage and its results are but a part of the process of retribution which runs through human life and history and that a part, at least, of the immense fortune made up so largely of the plunder of my God, is to be spent by titled and worthless nobles.
