IT WAS A VERY TAME FIGHT

The Pine Knot Put the Brooklyn Cyclone to Sleep.

CHASED OUT OF THIS COUNTY

Authorities Would Not Allow the Fight to Take Place in Lackawanna and the Sports Went Over the Line into Luzerne.

The much-heralded prize fight between Harry Cortright, of the "Pine Knot," of this city, and "Cyclone" James Carroll, of Brooklyn, was pulled off at 2 o'clock yesterday morning in the basement of Brunz's saloon at Duryea. Cortright put Carroll out in the second round and the man from Brooklyn was asleep for three minutes. The mill was a fizzle, both in its preliminary arrangements and termination, and was witnessed by less than twenty persons.

From 8 o'clock until midnight Saturday evening Robb's saloon, on Lackawanna avenue, was filled with a large crowd waiting to know when and where the fight was to come off. Deputy sheriffs were scattered among the throngs and also watched the "Jackson House" on Franklin avenue, another rendezvous.

The only information given impatient sports was "wait and go wild de push; we'll de push gook, you go. See?" At 11 o'clock Cortright and his manager returned from a trip to Bethlehem and Old Forge. They had been unsuccessful in arranging for either Dougherty's or Fallon's places and the announcement was made that there would be no fight. This was received with grunts of disgust by a hundred ardent sports who were willing to give one or two blunks each to see the mill, but who at this announcement turned up their collars and started homeward.

Travelled Into Luzerne.

Over an hour later it was decided to travel southward and into Luzerne county if necessary. Five hacks containing the twenty men were met at Bethlehem by Deputy Sheriff Ferber and another officer, and after a few moments' parley the procession of hacks went on to Duryea, which is just over the Luzerne county line. Arrangements were speedily made at Brunz's place and within a brief space of time the most poorly managed and fastest fight in this region in years was ended.

By way of variety Morris Posner, a promising amateur pug, and Carroll came to blows at Duryea and in the scramble the much-touted Brooklynite got the short end of it.

Cortright was attired in brown tights and was stripped from the waist upward. His seconds were Roney Jones and Harry Zedler. Carroll wore black trunks and was looked after by Jack Dempsey, of Wilkes-Barre, and Lindsey, of this city. Nick McInerney performed the dual office of referee and timekeeper.

In the first round of three minutes honors were even.

Cortright Reached Carroll.
Cortright landed several face blows on Carroll, which the Brooklyn man each time countered by inflicting and short left-hand body blows.

The beginning of the second round was a repetition of the first, Cortright landing on the face and Carroll on the body. The timekeeper-referee forgot to call time, and at the end of four minutes Carroll had succeeded in finding Cortright's head, but while he was watching for the result of the job, Cortright smashed him on the neck with his right and then with his left. When time was called the round had lasted four and one-half minutes.

Carroll slept peacefully for three minutes before coming round. After the battle he and Cortright went to bed together.

It is not true that Alex Dunn, Jr., held the stake money. There was neither forfeit nor deposit made by either principals or backers. The only revenue obtained from the "fight" was $4 or $5 gate money.

SOUTH SIDE NEWS.

Minooka Young Men Will Have to Answer at Court for Abusing a Horse—Funeral of Jacob Mingle—Other Notes.

Walter Moore, colored, of Greenwood, swore out a warrant on Saturday evening before Justice of the Peace O'Hara, of Minooka, for the arrest of Peter Judge and Thomas Disken, of Minooka. The offense with which they are charged is a very brutal one. Moore owns an old, spavined, ring-boned animal that is dying by inches, and which if properly fed and cared for might be a valuable horse. The animal was found along Main street, Minooka, Saturday evening and rounded up in front of John Kane's saloon. While he was inside Judge and Disken, it is alleged, untied the horse and galloped it down the street. Near the city line the horse fell and the wagon fell apart. The animal was loaded to its feet and shapefully abused by a score or more of ill bred youngsters. Judge and Disken furnished bail in the sum of $200 each to answer the charges in court.

Funeral of Jacob Mingle.

The last mark of respect was yesterday paid to all that was mortal of the late Jacob Mingle, of Maple street. At 2 o'clock the body was removed to the Prospect Avenue German Methodist Episcopal church, where the funeral services were impressively conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Suter. The funeral was a worthy tribute to the upright life of the deceased. Many of his co-laborers in the car shops of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western car shops attended the remains to the grave in Forest Hill cemetery, where interment was made.

NEW LAW FIRM.

District Attorney John R. Jones and Attorney T. V. Powderly in Partnership.

Jones & Powderly is the name of a new law firm that has been established in this city, and the offices which will be occupied are the suite of rooms, Nos. 1 and 2, on the second floor of the Coal Exchange building, on Wyoming avenue.

District Attorney John R. Jones and ex-General Master Workman Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, who were some time ago to practice in the courts of this county, are the two members of the new firm. Since Mr. Jones assumed the office of district attorney he has not been able to give the attention he would desire to his private practice.

On that account the partnership was formed, and Attorney Powderly will find devoted upon him the care of Mr. Jones' large clientele. He will render assistance also in court in helping the district attorney in the duties of his office.

She was born in County Mayo, Ireland, sixty-eight years ago, but emigrated to Ulster county, New York, when a young woman, and moved to Scranton in 1857. She is survived by two sons and one daughter. They are P. J. Ruane, deputy city treasurer; Andrew Ruane and Mrs. Anthony O'Malley.

An effective step towards wiping out those persons who have been robbing the hen roosts in this vicinity for some time past, was taken last Saturday, when Thomas Simms, of Oak street, had John Connolly and Michael Haggerty, of Leggett's street, arrested for stealing a game rooster from him last Monday night. He had sworn out a search warrant Friday for the rooster, the searching of the property of Michael J. Neary, on Mary street, Constable Davis took the warrant and found the rooster and arrested James, the son of Michael Neary, who told Alderman Roberts that he had purchased it from Connolly and Haggerty. Saturday morning Simms swore out a warrant for their arrest, which Constable Davis served and took both boys before Alderman Roberts in the afternoon, where they confessed to having stolen it on Monday night about 7:30. Connolly was taken to the door of the barn, where the rooster was kept, while Haggerty secured the booty. As this was the first offense, the case was withdrawn, and they were allowed to go by paying costs after receiving a severe reprimand.
