ANECDOTE AND INCIDENT.

Not a Wicked Woman-The Fin de Siecle Bunthorne.

One winter morning, the late Profes sor Swing was sauntering slowly along near his home in Chicago. The ston payements were conted with ice, and a voman who lived in the neighborhood was cautiously picking her way along Suddenly her feet flew out and she came down hard upon the sidewalk. Professor Swing paused to satisfy himself that she was not seriously injured. Then he dryly remarked: "Mrs. S-, in my opinion you are a very good woman." Piqued at his remark, and at the same time at her predicament, she retorted: "I don't know why you think so. What do you mean"". "Scripture has it," gravely replied Professor Swing, "that the wicked stand in slippery places. You seem to be sitting down.

The "New Man."

Lord Reggie, of "The Green Carna-tion," is an excellent type of what London society is just now calling the "New Man." This personage is more fearful and wonderful than the "New Woman. He is an effeminate dandy, who changes his clothes constantly, who loves violet powder and perfumes, and has a secret cemetery, in Duryea, where interment longing for rouge. A young man sued to re cover one that he had given to a young woman, who, after accepting the ring, repudiated the engagement. The judge decided that it must be returned, or else that the recipient must fulfill the conditions under which it was presented The English courts, some years ago, de cided that an engagement rings is not recoverable under any circumstances.

The Senior Parlor at Vassar.

The new senior parlor recently pened at Vassar is said by the Bazar o be more charming than ever before It has been enlarged to twice its former size, and is furnished in harmonious tones of green. To its furnishing each senior student pays a certain amount and the parlor is further enriched by the loan of certain possessions of the various seniors. It is in this apartment that the seniors do their reading and sewing, receive their callers, and enjoy the social life that makes the college Men at Fault: Not the Institutions.

From the Boston Herald.

Through the subordination of principle o politics, the confusion in our national ouncils has been created. Congress has become a by-word and a scoffing, and a reproach of republican government itself has been risked. But republican government is less at fault than are the avencie that have betrayed it. It is still sound in principle, and the people behind it will prove themselves worthy in the end of rust, despite their present temporary failure.

NEWS OF THE SOUTH SIDE

Water Still Rushes Down Genet Street and Has Cut the Gulley Deeper.

STREET IS BADLY DAMAGED

Speculation as to Who the Next District Engineer of the South Side Will Be. River is Swelling and Flooded Cellars Are Feared.

Property owners on the flats are viewng with dread the swelling tide in the Lackawanna river, and they are getting ready to remove the articles from the cellars to the upper rooms of their houses as a precaution against much damage, if the heavy rain falls and melts the snow and ice on the hills.

Considering the heavy snowfalls that have occurred this winter there has been no damage done by the floods. South Washington avenue and South Wyoming avenue are the two streets that will suffer most in case of a freshet. The residents on these thoroughfares are willing to pay for a sewer at almost any cost. The Elm street and Remington avenue property owners are awaiting the sewer eagerly. because disease breeding stagnant pools remain after every rain storm, winter or summer.

In Fire Company Circles. A subject that is engrossing the attention of the firemen of the South Side ompanies is, what company will next claim the right to trot out one of its members for district engineer? There seems to be a unanimous feeling that the William Connell Hose company is next on the list and is the most entitled to the honor.

The present district chief, Louis Schwass, of the Centurys, is a most capable and hard working official, and when the time comes he may be asked to seek another term. At present, however, the sentiment seems to be toward selecting the most likely man from the William Connells. This company has not been honored with that recognition since its organization, and its members feel their time has come to speak out. There is a disposition on the part of the other companies to concede it to them without any parley.

An Impassable Street.

Genet street, above Pittston avenue, is in such a torn up condition that wagons can not travel on it, and unless It is soon repaired there may be damage suits for the city to settle. A stream of water flows down through the middle of the street from the hills and has been running for the past two weeks. There is a gulley in the roadway now more than a foot deep, and it extends almost from curb to curb. A teamster tried to drive on Genet street yesterday morning to deliver a load of coal and his team had to be assisted out of the deep rut by another team. It will take at least $100 to put the street in passable condition, and an outlay of half that sum would have prevented the water from taking its course through the street. Not only is Genet street injured by this stream, but the water is beginning to make inroads on Pittston avenue.

Miss Park Threw Salt and Pepper Down Her Friend's Neck.

Alderman Wright's office was yesterday the scene of a lively wordy warfare between Mary Stephenson and Bessie Park, two young colored women of Raymond alley.
Miss Stephenson had caused Miss

Park to be arrested upon a charge of "throwing salt and pepper down her neck," and the recital of her wrongs were eagerly listened to by a crowd of colored sympathizers. The alderman administered the ladies a fatherly lecture and made peace between the rival beauties, which resulted in a profound apology.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS.

Engineer George Chase is suffering from grip.

The lecture on "Air brakes" will be resumed tonight, and the last of the series will be delivered tomorrow night, and after that comes the examination. The great question at present is "How many will pass?"

The new engines ordered by the Delaware and Hudson company from the Dickson works and the Schenectady works will be equipped with the Cory force feed lubrication and Richardson balanced valves.

The Lyndhurst sleeping car has been taken to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western shops for general repairs and the "Cortland" will be sent from the shops today, repaired. Three new vestibuled coaches are also ready for service.

An order for 3,000 box cars has been divided between the Peninsular Car works and the Buffalo Car works by the New York Central road. They will be first class cars in every particular, being equipped with Fox trucks, Gould couplers and Westinghouse air brakes. During the past week eight locomotives have been turned out of the Le high Valley repair shops at Wilkes-Barre. The same company has ordered twenty-five new locomotives from the Baldwin company, of Philadelphia, and assenger engines.

The engine may be taken as a good type of the state of the art of heavy locomotive construction for America service, in the year 1895. The weight of the engine in working order is 173,500; pounds; diameter of cylinders, 22 inches; stroke of piston, 26 inches; diameter of drawing wheels, outside of tire, 51 inches; total length of engine and tender 59 feet, 6 inches.

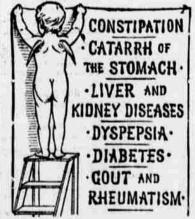

Several contemporaries have dwelt upon the great increase of the coal traffic upon the Delaware and Hudson, but unfortunately the fact remains that the Delaware and Hudson mines work but one-half a day and three-fourths of a day alternately. The passenger and freight traffic shows a slight increase, but there has been a decrease in the coal traffic up and down the valley. A prominent official of the road was interviewed by a Tribune reporter yesterday, and in reply to enquiries, he regretfed that he could not foresee any immediate prospect of improvement in the conl trade, but, on the contrary Miss Katle Harrington, of Elmira, is the tendency was to decrease the price visiting friends on South Washington of coal in the New York markets. All railroad men interested in the coal trade adopt the same view. Rev. W. J. Ford, of the Green Ridge Baptist church, delivered an excellent address at the Machine shop meeting. yesterday, basing his remarks on the determination of Daniel and his four companions in "standing firm to a purpose true." He made a stirring appeal to his audience to be firm in their religious undertakings, and his eloquent address made an evident impression. There were 125 present at the meeting. which testifies to the increasing popularity of those gatherings. The new organ was brought to the shops yesterday, and everyone was united in expressing admiration for it. Evan Davies discharged the duties of organist in an able manner. It is not generally known that Conductor A. H. Masters parted with his organ at less than half the cost price, in order to assist the committee. BOUTH SCHANTON, Pa., Nov. 10, 1894.

Mr. C. W. Campbell—Dear Sir: I have given my boy, Freddie, 7 years old, some of Dr. Campbell's Magic Worm Sugar and Tea, and to my surprise this afternoon about 2 o'clock he passed a tapeworm measoring about 85 feet in length, head and all. I have it in a bottle and any person wishing to see it can do so by calling at my store. I had tried numerous other remedies recommended for taking tapeworms, but all failed. In my estimation Dr. Campbell's is the greatest worm remedy in existence.

Washburn-Crosby Co. wish to assure their many patrons that they will this year hold to their usual custom of milling STRICTLY OLD WHEAT until the new crop is fully cured. New wheat is now upon the market, and owing to the excessively dry weather many millers are of the opinion that it is already cured, and in proper condition for milling. Washburn-Crosby Co. will take no risks, and will allow the new wheat fully three months to mature before grinding.

This careful attention to every detail of milling has placed Washburn-Crosby Co.'s flour far above other brands.
