MRS. RICHARDS' LECTURE.

She Considered the Writers of the George

II Period. Mrs. M. T. Richards delivered the third of her lectures on English literature in the lecture rooms of the Albright library last night. She confined her remarks to what she termed the age of George II, and reviewed the work of the writers of that period, dealing especially with the prose works of Dr. Johnson, the poems of Thompson and Gray and the forgerles of James McPherson and Thomas Chatterton, which for years caused such fierce controversies in the iterary circles of that period.

Mrs. Richards assumes an easy, conversational tone in addressing her audience, and her thorough mastery of her subject and the purity and elegance of her language makes her talks of more than ordinary interest and value.

The writers who lived between 1727 and 1760 had a hard struggle for a bare existence, Mrs. Richards said. They ere living in the dark night of literaure between the age of Queen Anne. hen men of letters received public lucrative offices, and the day of general intelligence which created a demand depend on their writing for support was most deplorable

He was now the uncrowned king of English lit- tion to Mr. Robathan's motion to refer erature and had the entre to all grades of London society. To his biographer, Mrs. Richards gave unstinted praise. Though Boswell was of weak intellect he left as his monument a biography that has never been equalled. The other writers of the period were briefly considered. Thompson, Mrs. bers of common council announced for Richardssays, deserves to rank with the said, were magnificent examples of finished poetry. He devoted much of his Peter Engel, who was committed to the life to solitary study and at his death was perhaps the most extensively-for Settlement. Alderman John Fitzsimmons, of the Eighth ward, waived a hearing before Alderman Hore, of the Eighteenth ward, yesterday, and entered bail for his appearance at court.

The Matter Will Come Before the Court

Last Saturday Ignatz Stroll had two warrants issued before Alderman Fitzsimmons for his brother, Joseph Stroll, charging him with assault and battery and the theft of a gold watch. At the hearing Ignatz decided to settle the case and the costs were paid. Ignatz, it appears, contends that only one warrant was issued, but the alderman says there were two and charged for that number. Then Stroll became angry and had a warrant issued charging the alderman with obtaining illegal fees.

Blewitt said he had only pushed her roughly and that the cuts on her face were caused by falling. MR. ROBINSON WAS ANGRY

He Refused Point Blank to Present the Railways Committee's Favorable Report-Several Supported Him but Measure Passed Two Readings.

The Traction company's ordinance providing for the right to lay two tracks on Franklin avenue between Spruce street and Lackawanna avenue passed two readings in common council last night. It was favorably considered, notwithstanding the protest of Dr. I. F. Everhart, who was present as a representative of the property owners, and caused a lively tilt between Mr. Sweeney and Mr. Robinson and Mr. Zeidler.

After the list of committees had been exhausted Mr. Sweeney announced that as follows: the railways committee was ready to make a report, accompanying the remark by laying an ordinance on Mr. Robinson's, chairman of the railway committee, desk.

"I refuse to present this report," said Mr. Robinson, "It is to grant the Traction company the right to doublecompanied the councilmen about the track Franklin avenue and has been city yesterday. After a moment's silence, during which Mr. Sweeney wore an anxious look, the clerk began reading the February report of the police department. Mr. Robinson still failed to report, and matters, a few moments later, were complicated by Mr. Zeidler's motion, seconded by Mr. Robinson, that the meeting adjourn. The motion was lost.

When the session went into the seventh order, ordinances on first and secreadings, Members Regan and Sweeney were quickly on their feet and simultaneously called for the ordinance in question. It was at this point that Dr. Everhart was accorded the privilege of the floor, upon the suggestion of

A PLEASANT EVENT.

City Union Social Attended by Over One Thousand Members.

Success crowned the efforts of the City union of the Christian Endeavor society in organizing their first union social, which was held last night at the Penn Avenue church and was attended by a large number of leading citizens and over a thousand members of the society. While the members were assembling Conrad's orchestra discoursed 40 ORANGES, 25c. sweet music. In opening the proceedings President E. S. Williams introduced Rev. Warren G. Partridge, who welcomed the members and invited them to make the best use of the church parlors. E. S. Williams also made an address in which he explained the object of the social, in bringing together the members of the society from various parts of the city. Some curiosity had been manifested by the members as to the name of the social, viz. "Hit and Miss," and this

ed with the different colored and shaped pieces of paper, upon one side of which they wrote two questions and on the other side wrote two random remarks Each paper had a counterpart which, however, was given to a representative of the opposite sex, and it devolved upon each one to find the holder of the counterpart. The task was a difficult one and much amusement was derived in the search as in the curious answers found. Charles E. Daniels delivered an interesting address on the work of the committee who are endeavoring to secur the 1896 convention in this city. Miss Della Evans, of the social committee and F. M. Bouton, of the meetings com mittee, were complimented upon the arrangements made by their departments for the convenience of the guest,
