CITY NOTES.

Owing to indisposition Professor Haydn Evans will not hold an organ recital at St. Patrick's church this evening.

John Sylvester Rostovsky, who was last week sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary for murder, will be taken to that institution today by Sheriff Clemons.

The Sacred Music society held five rehearsals last evening at Conservatory hall. Miss Vidaver, of New York city, sang one of the contralto solos in the oratorio, "Saul of Tarsus."

Peter Maher and Harry Courtwright, of this city, will box four rounds at the Academy of Music this evening. Billy Hennessy, of Boston, and James Joyce, of this city, will also give a sparring exhibition. Maher and his company appeared at Wilkes-Barre last night and gave a fine performance.

A singular mishap occurred to the elevator at the Coal Exchange building yesterday, owing to the rope which held the balance-weight becoming disconnected from the drum. The weight fell down the slides to the basement, causing no injury either to the property or any persons. A new rope will be attached this morning and the elevator will be in working order by this afternoon.

A DELIGHTFUL REVELATION.

That is what the Isle of Champagne is described as.

Thomas G. Seabrooke and his opera company, in the "Isle of Champagne," is a delightful revelation to theatergoers. The quaint originality and cleverness of the comedian, as well as the charming novelty of the operetta, is promptly recognized and extolled. Mr. Seabrooke will be at the Academy of Music on Friday evening for one night.

and will present the same all-sufficient attraction, but in an improved manner, consequent upon a new mount in the costume department.

Among the sixty odd people that support Comedian Seabrooke none stand out more prominently than the charming prima donna soubrette, Miss Elvira Cross.

DR. W. W. IVES' ADDRESS.

Practical Address to Women on Health and Hygiene.

Dr. W. W. Ives, of North Washington avenue, addressed an audience of ladies at the rooms of the Women's Christian Temperance union last night on a subject that held their close attention for more than one hour. Before Dr. Ives began his lecture two before were sung by Miss Garagan.

The drift of the speaker's subject was generally on health and hygiene. He spoke about woman's dress and deplored the prevailing tendency of people to dress in the latest style regardless of the comfort of the article of clothing. Robust health such as comes from a sound body and mind is the greatest blessing within the reach of man. The beasts of the field enjoy almost perfect health and the human being should be just as vigorous. The reason we are not is because our dress and food have all to do with it.

The speaker referred to the woman who gives all her attention to dress, and where she lives there is nothing to suggest a home, reminding one more of a museum of fine arts. Dr. Ives said that woman is pre-eminently intended for home life, a home is not a home. But the place where a man finds comfort and rest and the place where children find a garden of Eden. This is home. To be a wife and mother, the speaker said, is the crowning point of the ambition of every woman. Therefore, the speaker said, the aim of woman should be to look guardedly to her health, because the health of her children depends on her physical well-being.

Dr. Ives concluded with some practical advice on the quality of clothing that should be worn by children and the exercise they should take. He advised the free use of flannels and advocated giving children plenty of sleep and food. A child should get food whenever he wants it, good plain food. Girls should not be prohibited from taking healthy exercises on the ground of refinement.

The address was attentively heard and conveyed many valuable suggestions.

SOJOURN IN EGYPT.

Lecture of Mrs. S. T. Richards at Residence of Mrs. Thomas Dickson.

Mrs. S. T. Richards' course of English literature and Biblical lectures was continued last night at the home of Mrs. Thomas Dickson, on Washington avenue, where she held her lecture on "Sojourn in Egypt." The subject was postponed from Saturday evening. Dryden's "Hymn to the Deity" was recited by Mrs. Richards by request at the close of her talk.

Mrs. Richards told last night of the nineteenth dynasty, which lasted through the reigns of Ramesses, Seti, Ramesses II and Menephtha to the Exodus, and did not treat so much of the reasons which brought about the pilgrimage led by Moses as it did to the Egyptian conditions, socially, religiously and domestically, preceding that event.

She reviewed briefly her previous talk, which treated of the eighteenth dynasty and the Shepherd Kings, from whom Ramesses the Great claimed and proved to have been a descendant. She contended that the warrior qualities of the first Ramesses and his son, who for twenty years was a co-regent, is not applicable to the later Ramesses and Menephtha, who were builders—builders of temples, monuments, obelisks, arches, statues and palaces which veritably filled the valley and delta of the Nile. These architectural works, she said, were the prime means of holding in bondage the Israelites.

Of the domestic, social, educational and political conditions of the long period she dwelt more minutely than had been anticipated, and her revelations in the whole formed an amazing idea of the stupendous task which Moses successfully performed in leading the Hebrews out of bondage. This conclusion of the lecture was devoted to a brief retrospect of Moses' many years of servitude and planning for the final pilgrimage of release.

MONEY IS WHAT IS WANTED

Interior of Association Building Should Not Be Allowed to Remain a Parch Work—Remedy Lies in Pennies, Dimes and Dollars.

With this issue of The Tribune will be opened a continuation of subscriptions of the Finishing and Furnishing fund of the Young Men's Christian association.

Three weeks ago, at a time when the contributions amounted to over $500, these columns had to be closed temporarily, on account of other important matters, to a movement so auspiciously started. The Tribune believes that interest in a cause so palpably plain has not ceased and, will from today open its columns to receive money in any sum from one cent upward, to be applied toward Finishing and Furnishing the Young Men's Christian association building on Wyoming avenue.

The amount to date is as follows:

Its Needs Are Well Known.

Of the needs of the association's building and consequently the use to be made of the money, it is not necessary to say much beyond the fact that the fund is not to be applied for any other purpose than is indicated in the phrase "Finishing and Furnishing."

Seven years ago the building was partially equipped by a sum slightly over $3,000. No outlay has since been made except to here and there repair a piece of furniture, patch a carpet or fix a ceiling. The result is, undoubtably, can be imagined more clearly when it is noted that an average of several hundred boys and young men daily visit the reading, educational, gymnasium and other departments.

What does the interior look like? Patch work? Very nearly. Then does it not follow, when such a sum of money is expended, that the Young Men's Christian association should be helped?

The association is not "in a hole." It will be alive and working under increased influence when its present supporters and members are dead, but this fact does not release Scranton men and women from the present obligation—a personal obligation—to help a good thing along.

ELECTED PRISON WARDEN.

James Boland Obtains a Lucrative Position at Wilkes-Barre.

James Boland, of Wilkes-Barre, was last night chosen warden of the Lackawanna county prison by the prison commissioners of that county. There were seven candidates. Mr. Boland succeeds Christopher C. Jones, who died recently.

The successful candidate was formerly a resident of this city and is a brother of C. G. and William Boland, insurance agents of this city. The position is a lucrative one. Mr. Boland will retain the present force of keepers and Mrs. Jones, widow of the late warden, will be matron.

HURT IN THE MINES.

Hungarian from Marshwood Received at the Lackawanna Hospital.

Andrew Stako, of Marshwood, was brought to the Lackawanna hospital at 9 o'clock last night in the mine ambulance. He was employed as a miner in the company of the Lackawanna Coal and Iron company and received severe injuries yesterday. He was buried beneath a heavy fall of top coal and sustained spinal injuries, which are not fatal. His head is pretty badly cut.

Stako is a Hungarian, 32 years of age, and has a wife and family at Marshwood.

THE LICENSE QUESTION.

Attorney E. D. Nichols to Lecture in Conservatory Hall.

Tomorrow evening Attorney E. D. Nichols of Wilkes-Barre, will lecture under the auspices of the Central Prohibition league at Conservatory hall. His subject will be, "Who is Responsible for the Saloon?"

In view of the general interest that has been manifested in the recent license issue, it is probable that there will be a large audience to hear the well known temperance advocate. There will be no charge for admission and the league will welcome all visitors.

PICK THROUGH HIS HAND.

Painful Injury Sustained by Michael Walsh in the Pine Brook Shaft.

Michael Walsh, a laborer in the Pine Brook shaft, sustained a painful injury yesterday morning.

While engaged lifting a piece of coal a fellow-workman struck his hand with a pick. The point of it went right through the hand, lacerating it in a frightful manner. Walsh is a single man and resides at Pine Brook.

MR. NUGENT'S COMPANY.

Deserves Patronage at the Frothingham All of This Week.

At the Frothingham last night Nugent's Metropolitan Comedy company presented "A Royal Pardon" to a fair-sized audience. The piece is a stirring melodrama in four acts and will be repeated at today's matinee, when the price of admission to all parts of the house will be 19 cents.

Aside from the low prices of 10, 20 and 30 cents charged for night performances, Mr. Nugent's company is deserving of generous patronage on the merit of the actors, individually and collectively. The plays offered are wholesome, interesting and well staged. "Fanchon, the Crickler" will be presented tonight, and "Lost in London" tomorrow night.

JACOB GOERLITZ'S RECORD.

Did After Fifteen Years' Duty to Nation and City.

Jacob Goerlitz, of the Tenth Ward, died yesterday in his forty-eighth year. For over a year he had suffered from a paralytic stroke and for six months his mind had been affected. He possessed an enviable record by having enlisted for three terms in the United States Infantry Regulars, as a Scranton policeman and a prominent business man of the Tenth ward. The funeral will be held at the home at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon; burial will be made in the Dunmore cemetery.

Mr. Goerlitz enlisted as a private in Company D, Eighteenth Infantry, Aug. 16, 1867; re-enlisted, Sept. 5, 1870, as a private in Company K, Eleventh Infantry; re-enlisted Sept. 15, 1875, in the same regiment, and was the first sergeant of the company when he took his final discharge, Sept. 4, 1889.

During his service he was stationed and participated in Indian campaigns of the west, notably with General

Mrs. Benjamin Talks on the Objects of the W. C. T. U.

RAPID SPREAD OF MOVEMENT

In Fifteen Years It Has Circled the Globe Object Is the Abolition of the Rum Traffic—Largest Woman's Organization in the World.

Mrs. A. S. Benjamin, of Portland, addressed a gathering of ladies at the lecture room of the Elm Park church yesterday afternoon, upon questions affecting the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The lady lecturer was introduced in a graceful manner by Mrs. D. B. Hand, who referred to the valuable services rendered by Mrs. Benjamin as state president of the Michigan union, and as holding national offices for many years.

Mrs. Benjamin, in her perceptive remarks, urged all members of the union to wear the emblematic "white ribbon" at all times in order to show a visible sign of the work they were engaged in, and to cheer each other whenever and wherever they met. The history of their union was a marvelous one. It was organized twenty years ago by a few women, whose methods gave the firm a right to place their wagons on the street, but in his opinion it did not entitle them to appropriate a particular place on a street over night. With regard to the city licenses, which the defendants also submitted, the alderman said they had no bearing upon the question of the privilege to occupy a part of the street.

He could not, therefore, hold that either the permit or licenses superadded the city ordinance, and he was therefore compelled to give judgment against the defendants. He would, however, advise the firm to make a motion so that the question could be decided by a higher tribunal.

The ordinance provides that the penalty shall not be higher than $5. This is the second occasion that the defendants have been fined the maximum penalty.

What They Aim to Do.

Their ambition and object was the abolition of the "awful wicked rum traffic," yet that work was never sought, and at the beginning of their career they did not dream of the magnitude of their operations, but they had gone forward timidly and shrinking, having as a motto for their country, "For the Home and Every Land," and for the world the motto, "For God, Home and Every Land," until forty nations had joined with them in the grand crusade to banish the legalized saloon.

Many people thought that the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was a prayer meeting, and others were under the impression that it was an institution to talk politics, but in all their departments they had no politics. All they required was that their members should be total abstinents and pay their annual dues. They were inquired as to their religious opinions and their membership comprised all churches, and some of their members were not associated with any church. It was, in truth, the largest organization for women that the world had ever seen. Unfortunately, however, people were ignorant of the work of the W. C. T. U. were sometimes called "dress-parade women," but as a matter of fact they carried on practical, dead-level work all the year 'round, and thus reached from the baby in the nursery school to the grey-headed, old grandire, and were in touch with the whole world.

The Home Idea Prevails.

If any woman was present who had not the correct ideas with regard to the objects of the union, she would impress upon them that the underlying idea was the happiness, the purity and the sanctity of the home, and to love our neighbors as ourselves. Speaking in detail of the extensiveness of the work Mrs. Benjamin explained that pamphlets were now printed in seventeen different languages and scattered broadcast over the world, and how necessary this work was could easily be gauged from the fact that there were 1,500,000 Poles in the United States, and the union was the only organization which spread temperance truths among them.

The speaker then described the work of the union in the lumber camps of North Michigan and North Wisconsin. In the evening Mrs. Benjamin addressed a well-attended meeting at the Green Ridge Presbyterian church.

CASH REGISTER FACTORY.

Induced to Come Here Through Efforts of Our Business Men.

It will be a matter of general interest to note that the board of trade reported favorably upon the proposal to locate the Green Ridge cash register company, of Elmira, in this city.

George Brown, of the Green Ridge Lumber company, followed the matter very closely, and attended the annual meeting of the company, which was held at Elmira on Thursday, where he secured a majority of the capital stock and made arrangements for transporting the plant to this city. At the same meeting Mr. Brown was elected president; E. S. Pratt, vice-president; A. L. Francois, treasurer, and C. Dupont Breek and S. W. Berry, of Norwalk, N. Y., directors. The Scranton stockholders are also represented by Luther Koller, Herbert W. Taylor, P. J. Horan, E. C. Dimmock and others.

This industry forms the third which Mr. Brown has successfully established in the city, the other two being the Green Ridge Lumber company and the Paragon Glass Register company. Several Elmira families will remove here at once, and move after the plant.
