NEW MINERS' BANK BUILDING

It Is Now Occupied by Its Owners-Another Saturday Night Stabbing Affray-Other Live News of the Busy Twin Cities.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Pittston, March 24.-Saturday the directors of the Miners' Savings bank removed the remaining office furnishings to their new building. The new bank is arranged in the most modern style of architecture, being built with a compartment for each clerk. The interior is of solid oak finished in the natural wood. The floor is made of concrete and marble block. The building does great credit to Greater Pittston and is one of the finest structures in the state. The old bank building will hereafter be known as the Board of Trade building.

ADULTERATION OF WHISKY.

A Professor's Experiments with Seventy four Samples.

New Haven, Conn., March 24.-Pro fessor McCook, of Trinity college, in a lecture here on the liquor problem, gave results of tests at the Trinity laboratory of seventy-four samples of whiskey. The tests showed much adulteration and that the high-class barrooms often sold as poor whiskey as the lower ones. The adulterations were so skillful that two expert testers could not detect the best whisky from the bad. Professor McCook estimated the profits of whiskey sold by the glass at $3,50 a gallon. Conservative Ministry Is Pormed at Last by Senor Canovas.

ANARCHY NARROWLY AVERTED

One Strong Man Alone Stood Between the Throne and a Wholesale Revolution-The Spanish Army Is Rotten to the Core.

New York, March 24.-A special cable dispatch to the Sun, from Madrid, says: Secretary Gresham will probably be disappointed if he expects that the Spanish government will give calm, ogical consideration to the questions at ssue with the United States at the present moment. Few people realize low near spain has been to revoluion or anarchy, or both combined, although the tension is relieved by the formation of a Conservative ministry under Senor Canovas. The country would now be ablaze from end to end but for the unselfish patriotism and ruaga is a victim of the American bravery of one man, when, after the newspapers. When the Allianca incltry, following upon the demonstrations the correspondents in town rushed for the Spanish legation. Senor Muruaga Campos took command of the Madrid military district. A coup d'etat had been practically accomplished, and the military were masters of the country, and had they had another day they would have possessed themselves officially of the reins of government in Madrid. In every garrison throughout at this time attacks were fatal not so Spain every general and colonel had much to the management as to the comopenly approved the outrageous conluct of the mutinous subalterms, and whom the government would have had o rely to suppress the military revolt, had expressed sympathy in similar insubordinate fashion. Only one reource remained to the government, viz., to place sergeants at the head of the troops and order them to arrest their officers; but neither the civilian prime minister nor the military minister of war had the courage to do that, many years ago, the sergeants them-selves were in a state of mutiny. Campos to the Rescue. It was at this critical juncture that Marshal Campos called upon Premier Sagasta and asked to be appointed in ommand of the troops and Captain General of Madrid. Senor Sagasta eagerly urged the old soldier to take the premiership, but the Marchal answered, "I come as a soldier, not as a politician. It is a soldier's task which I were arrested for the crime and both have to perform." When the news spread that Marshal Campos was in ommand the situation changed as if by magic. The officers knew he was a man who would shoot, at painfully short notice, the first man who dared to upon the rank and file to insure their case of whistling to keep the courage up absolute obedience to his commands. The marshal's first step was to order all the generals and colonels to assemble at staff quarters, and then he had

Washington, March 24.-In regard to statements made that Secretary Gresham has declined to have any further dealings with Minister Muruaga. it is pointed out that the minister has not had, from the first, any communication with the state department regarding the Allianca affair, inasmuch as the N. orrespondence upon that subject has passed directly between Secretary Gresham and the American minister at Madrid, Mr. Taylor. It is known, however, that on Wednesday last the minhad a note from Secretary Gresham with respect to other matters within his jurisdiction, and this fact is ited to show that his relations with the administration continues friendly.
