NOW FOR BASEBALL SEASON

Cranks Are Asking Themselves What the Harvest Will Be.

A VERY PROMISING OUTLOOK

Billy" Barnie Seems to Know His Business, and the Players Are All Right on Paper-Scranton Tenm's First Practice in Harrisburg Wednesday.

Base ball in the Eastern league will open in dead earnest this week, and, alhough no championship games will be played until April 29, the interval will e entirely filled with exhibition games. This period will be of particular interest to Scranton cranks. A new manager, a new directorate, a new team and almost a new bow to the public n a comparatively new league renders extremely difficult for even the best informed enthusiasts to tell where we

The signs are good; yet admirers of the home team have no good reason for believing that their favorites will begin the season with a whoop and impetus which will be kept up until the end. The team and its management are strong, but the fact must not be ignored that seven clubs equally well backed and containing equally good players are to be pitted against them. Scranton Should Do Well.

To a man up a tree it appears that hose clubs which are best managed and whose players take the most pride n their work will be in the leading division. From this standpoint the Scranton team should do well. "Billy" Barnie is certainly no novice in the business and may be relied upon to bring out every pound of base ball possessed by his players. The players them-selves on paper look to be all right and give promise of being able to earn their salaries, but it is a waste of time to indulge in a forecast until after the season of practice play.

The team will contain fourteen players, and Wednesday afternoon will open the exhibition season in Harris-burg. Pitcher Johnson, Third Base-man Whitehead and Shortstop Sweeney are expected to reach here from California this morning, and with Rogers, who is now in the city, will leave with Manager Barnie at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning for Harrisburg. The Players Engaged.

One man only has been engaged for each position, excepting four extra pitchers and an extra catcher. Winkelman, the young right fielder, can be played in any position. Brown, who pitched last year for Baltimore, is the man most recently signed.

A complete list of the players is as follows: Pitchers, Quarels, Delaney, Fox, Brown, Johnson; catchers, Rogers and Patchen; first base, Clark; second, Ward; third, Whitehead; short stop, Sweeney; left field, Brady; center, Johnson; right, Winkelman.

The foregoing list is subject to change when the National league clubs disgorge their annual spring stock of overrated phenomens. The minor leagues always snap up some of this material, and it will not be surprising to see the Eastern organization get a few of them. At Harrisburg Manager Barnie and the four players who leave here with him will be joined by the others of the team. After two days' play with the senators they will go to Pottsville for games Friday and Saturday, and to Newark for a Sunday game, returning home for Monday's opening exhibition game with the Pottsvilees, the State April 29 the team will be at home, excepting an occasional trip to nearby cities. On April 29, the regular league season will be opened in this city by

Improvements at Grounds. Meanwhile improvements, too numerous to mention in detail, are being made at the Base Ball park. The ice has entirely disappeared from the field which is being graded, raked and

Not the least commendable work is the renovation of the grandstand, which will be so altered inside that last year's patrons will need a new introduction. During the coming season tough man will be tabooed, the grounds will be well policed and the attendance of women will be made a pleasure instead of a nightmare.

SOUTH SIDE NEWS.

Frank Watkins, of Brook street, sustained a very painful laceration of the face yesterday morning in a very peculiar manner. He was walking around in his yard and noticed a pin on the ground. He stoped to pick it up, and when about to resume an erect position again a sharp, rusty spike that protruded from a beam that stood against he fence, pierced the flesh under the eye. The sudden sensation caused him to spring back quickly, but the sharp ron had taken a hold and the force of his movement was such that a long deep, ragged gash was torn in the lesh across the cheek. Dr. Manley was sent for and found Mr. Watkins suffering intense pain. The physician found necessary to use ten stitches in sewing up the wound, and it was very difficult to bandage it. Blood poisoning s not feared by Dr. Manley, but he stated that it is a very dangerous injury. Neither is it thought that the sight of the eye will be affected. The depth of the cut and the ragged way in which it is torn are certain to leave very ugly scar on Mr. Watkins' face. Five weeks ago Mrs. John Kelley, of Birch street, was buried, and on Thursday following her son, Martin, became ill of pneumonio. He was a respected young man and his iliness was a source of much regret to all who knew him. Symptoms of pleurisy set in and he became dangerously ill. But a week ago he gained strength and grew well enough to be able to walk around the Saturday morning he was around as usual and ate a hearty breakfast. A half hour later he had to return to bed and took such a sudden change that he died in a half-hour The funeral will take place Tuesday.

In the now conspicuous case against Principal Hanyon, of the Waverly school, Attorney E. C. Newcombe, for the complainant, George Stevenson, yesterday presented to court a petition for an injunction to restrain Principal Hanyon from further reading of the Bible in the school.

Court refused to grant the injunction and explained that it would be well to let the matter rest until the case in court is ended.

FICKLE MRS. BRUSH.

Had Her Husband Arrested and Then Mrs. Charles M. Brush, of 19 Lacka-wanna avenue, accompanied by her lit-tle boy, was in the central police station yesterday afternoon and trying to se-cure the release of her husband, who only a few hours previous had been sentenced because of the woman's charge that he had abused her. Brush is a paper hanger and is 42 years old. Mrs. Brush, on Saturday, complained to Alderman Fuller that her husband had threatened to kill her and had abused her. A warrant was isued and Brush was arrested by Patrolman Boland. In the Sunday police court Brush was sentenced to procure a $500 bond that he would keep the peace. Because nobody could be found to become surely in so large a sum, the wife wanted Brush released. She had been unsuccessful up to a late hour last night.

PRAISE FOR THIS COUNTRY.

rofessor Bryce Tells Why It Is Destined to Be Very Great.

Professor James Bryce, in the new edition of his "American Commonwealth," says: "Nature has furnished the United States with resources for production ampler and more varied than can be found in any other country -an immense area of fertile soil, sunshine and moisture fit for all the growths of the temperature, and even a few of the torrid zone, a store of minerals so large as to seem inexhaustible. She has given it a climate in which the foremost races of mankind can thrive and (save in a few districts) labor, an air in most regions not only salubrious, but more stimulating than that of their ancient European seats. She has made communication easy by huge natural water courses and by the general openness and smoothness of so much of the continent as lies east of the Rocky Mountains.

the largest and richest region of the country to be the home of one nation. and one only. That the lands which lle east of this region, between the Alleghanies and the Atlantic, and those which lie west of it, between the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific, are also occupled by that one nation is due to the fact that before colonization of the central region had gone far means of communication were invented which made the Alleghanies cease to be a barrier. and that before the Pacific coast had been thickly settled the rest of the country was already so great in population, wealth and power that its attraction was as irresistible as the moon finds the attraction of the earth to be "Severing its home by a wide ocean from the old world of Europe on the east, and a still wider one from the half old, half new world of Asia and Australasia on the west, she has made the nation sovereign of its own fortunes. It need fear no attacks, nor even any pressure from the military and naval owers of the Eastern Hemisphere, and it has little temptation to dissipate its strength in contests with them. It has no doubt a strong neighbor on the north, but a friendly one, linked by many ties of interests, as well as kindred, and not likely to ever become threatening. It had on the south neighbors who might have been dangerous, but fortune favored it by making one of them hopelessly weak, and obliging the others, strong as she was, to quit possession at a critlcal moment. Thus it is left to itself as no great state has ever yet been in the world: thus its citizens enjoy an opportunity never before granted a nation, of making their country what they will to have it.

"These are unequalled advantages. They contain the elements of immense defensive strength, of immense material prosperity. They disclose an unrivalled field for the developement of an industrial civilization. Nevertheless, students of history, knowing how unpredictable is the action of what we call moral causes-that is to say, of emotional and intellectual influences as contrasted with those rooted in physical and economic facts-will not venture to base upon the most careful survey of the physical conditions of America any bolder prophesy than this-that not only will the state be powerful and the wealth of its citizens prodigious. but that the nation will probably remain one in its government, and still more probably one in speech, in character and in ideas."
