IMPROVEMENTS AT HOSPITAL

Concert by the Lyric Club of Scranton. Contract for the William A. Breaker. High Water Along the Susquebanna Bank.

Special to the Scranton Tribune

Pittston, Pa., April 10.-Many improvements are being made at the hospital grounds this spring. Seven young trees were planted on the grounds today. Superabundance of Adam's Ale.

The water in the Susquehanna river has continued to rise all day today. At port on the need of more lights or make the lower bridge water registered nineteen feet above the low water mark. The West Side electric cars have been compelled to cross the North street bridge at Wilkes-Barre since yesterday. For the Hospital.

The Lyric club of Scranton will, on Thursday evening, April 18, give an entertainment for the benefit of the Pittston hospital, at Music Hall. The citizens of Pittston, we believe, fully appreciate the philanthropic work of the Hospital association, and will show their interest in this most necessary work, which tends to ease the sufferings of the many who are injured when attending to their labors at the mines in this vicinity. The entertainment is to be one of a preliminary course given by the club prior to their anticipated tour through the old country.

Pleasing Conquerers.

Notwithstanding the unquestionable defeat of our Young Men's Christian ociation basket ball team at Willfamsport last evening, the boys are greatly pleased in the manner in which they were treated by the Williamsport team, during the game and after victory had beeen declared for the home team. The Pittston boys say that they could stand another defeat at the hands of the generous Williams-

The borough council held an inter esting meeting on Tuesday evening and transacted considerable business. President Lane presided and all the members, except Mr. Padden, were present. Mr. Kleinbauer, one of the committee apointed to confer with the Traction company relative to the open ditch on Dutch Hill, reported that the committee had gone to see the company as directed, but had not received any definite or satisfactory statement as to what the company intended to do. then given to Mr. Duncan, who stated that the company had misunderstood concerning the covering of the ditch. He said the company was willing to do what was fair in the matter and suggested that a committee be appointed to meet him on Thursday morning to student of law, has been in Montrose

After short discussion, in which Councilmen Jones, Blake, Lane and Wagner par ticipated, the president appointed Burgess Burke and Mr. Wagner a committee to confer with Mr. Duncan. Van Doren, of the board of Dr. health, presented his report for the ten months of the board's existence. The number of contagious diseases reported n that period was thirty-one, twentynine being scarlet fever and two diph theria. The number of deaths reported was forty-seven, and of births eighty. Eighty burial permits were granted. Van Doren made many suggestions which, if heeded, will make the sanitary condition of the borough even better than it has been. Mr. Blake called attention to the need of crosswalks, and Mr. Jones asked that four arc electric lights be placed on the Ridge. No definite action was taken on the former suggestion. It was decided that the light company should resuggestions as to changing some of those already fixed. Messrs. Behle, O'Boyle and Scanlon, of the board of trade, asked for permission to use the council rooms as a meeting place. It was granted. The bond of Treasurer E. F. Blake for $10,-000 was approved and the secretary was directed to issue an order for $239.13 in favor of Collector Philben, that being the amount he overpaid his tax account for 1894. Orders were also ordered drawn in favor of the following: John Farrell, $36; Citizen, $28; Scranton Tribune, $7; Crescent Electrict company, two months, $350; C. Kleinbauer, $2; S. The Tribune correspondent saw Cap-tain W. D. B. Ainey on Wednesday regarding the affairs of Company G, Thirteenth regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania. Mr. Ainey is exeedingly busy with matters pertainourt, as he is district attorney. for Susquehanna county. Nevertheless he sald: "Three years ago Company G was organized; those who then enlisted were unacquainted with military tacties. Notwithstanding this disadvantage the company has attained a very enviable place among the military companies of the state, and has certainly assisted by fair share in sustaining the high standing of the Thirteenth regiment. It would seem to me that this was the strongest test of endurance that could be made on the company. A number of enlistments expire May 5. 1895, but twenty or thirty will hold over. It is impossible for me to say what the future has for the company; but I see no reason why the young men and citizens of this vicinity should not continue to give the company their warmest support. My resignation is a matter of business necessity, and not choice. I shall still retain my interest and give the company my fullest support. I cannot feel that my resignation can in any way affect the future. The efficient service of Lieutenants McCausland and Jessup in the past is assurance for the future welfare of the company."

William Burdick and his brother
Michael wear their hair like Jim Corbett and they hall from Forest City. Last November, in company with two other brothers they attended a dance at Uniondale, For some unknown reason a feud exists between the two towns, and at 11 o'clock, while formset, the Burdick quartette were knocked down and generally given a hot reception at the hands of the young men from Uniondale. The Uniondale Nor. men claim the Forest City boys came there looking for trouble. The jury found Walter, William and Michael Burdick guilty of assault and battery, obstructing an officer and assaulting an officer. But Dell Burdick, a youth who claims with the rest that he was "thrown down," was not convicted. The Burdicks have several trials on this term of court, all emanating from the Uniondale "scrap." They are repesented by Attorney L. P. Wedeman and John M. Kelly. All but Dell Bur-dick were sentenced to pay on one
