Letter to Mayor of Baltimore. The correspondence between Secretary Atherton and the mayor of Baltimore is as follows:

Dear Sir-Will you please state by return mail what make of street car fender is being used in your city, how long it has been in use and if it is giving satisfaction or not. Thanking you in advance for your kindness, I am very truly,
D. B. Atherton,

Secretary Scranton Board of Trade, Scranton, April 11, 1895.

This is the reply: B. Atherton, Secretary Scranton Board of Trade.

Dear Sir-I have your letter of April 10. In Baltimore there are four different street railway companies, and all of these companies have a style of fender peculiar to themselves.

I send you herewith a copy of a report mode by the commission appointed by the city council of Baltimore to take this matter into consideration. After this report was sent to the council that body passed an ordinance directing the different street railway companies to supply themselves, within three months, with fenders that should comply substantially with the re-quirements set forth in the report. This was done, and since that time there has not been a fatal accident, while the lives of some thirty or forty persons have been saved by the use of the fenders.

A visit to our city would enable you to see the different styles of fenders that have been adopted by the railway com-panies and make your own selection as to which in your judgemnt you consider the best. Yours very respectfully, F. C. Latrobe, Mayor. Baltimore, April 11, 1895.

They were assisted by Mendes Cohen, one of the most competent civil engineers in the country, and reported their findings to the Baltimore ouncil Aug. 30 of last year.

The seventy fenders examined were divided into four classes-the pilot fenders, the scoop fender, the fender which is built beneath the car and in front of the wheels and a fender combining the principles of the first two named. Out of the seventy devices the commission pronounced two of the first class, two of the second class, three of the third class, and four of the fourth class worthy of adoption and recommended that any of the total twelve styles be adopted. This report and the fact that the Baltimore companies were obliged to adopt any one of the twelve styles and that between thirty and forty lives have been saved within six months seems to prove that in one city at least fenders will "fend,"

At the next meeting of the board of trade the following resolution will be introduced:

Whereas, During the past month two fatal accidents have occurred on the tralley roads of this city, and Whereas, The officials of the Scranton Traction company have made repeated promises to place safety fenders on their cars, and have as yet shown no disposi-tion to do so; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the city councils be reposted to at once pass an ordinance compelling the said traction company to place the best fender now on the market on each of their cars and to provide for a penalty should they fail to comply quirements of the ordinance within sixty days from passage of same.
