He Told the Story of His Crime to Pear to fear in the least the outcome His Detective Cell-Mate.

NOW PUT ON TRIAL FOR HIS LIFE

Ex-General Master Workman Powderly Opened Case for Commonwealth to . Jury-Revolver Found Where Rosa Told His Cell-mate He Hid Tt.

Leonard Rosa, of Dunmore, was put on trial in the main court room before Judge Edwards yesterday for the murder of Vito Lauisso on Willow street, Dunmore, on the morning of Feb. 27. The accused is a heavy built, swarthy Italian, 26 years of age. His cheek bones are high, giving the cheeks a sunken appearance, and his large mouth is partially shaded by a small, light brown moustache, the ends of which he occupies himself almost constantly in twisting. Black hair that falls over the low forehead covers his head, and his attire corresponds to the careless condition in which he wears his hair. Ex-General Master Workman T. V. Powderly made his first appearance in court as a trial lawyer, assisting District Attorney John R. Jones in presenting the case to the jury for the commonwealth. Mr. Powderly made the opening address to the jury for the prosecution. The defendant is repreby ex-Judge Ward, Attorney John G. McAskie and James J. H. Ham-

At 10 o'clock the task of securing a jury was taken up and at 3 o'clock In the afternoon the necessary twelve good men and true had been secured to pass upon the law and the evidence in the case. The jurors are: James P. Sampson, agent, Jermyn; J. E. Mc Williams, clerk, Scranton; C. M. Cook, farmer, Benton; William Buntz, cigarmaker, Scranton; Ira C. Atherton, farmer, Taylor; C. M. Coon, farmer, North Abington; Elias Davis, miner, Scranton; W. W. Snyder, Carpenter, Carbondale; John Berry, superintend-ent, Scranton; William P. Coons, clerk, South Abington; David E. Hughes, clerk, Scranton; Harrison Finch, yeoman, Roaring Brook. While endeavoring to secure a jury forty-one jurors were called, nine of whom were stood aside by the commonwealth, ten were challenged for cause, and twelve were sworn. After Iron and Steel company's shops, was given the jury had been secured Attorney a hearing last evening and held in $300 Hamilton asked that the witnesses be the jury had been secured Attorney excluded from the court room during the progress of the trial that they might have no apportunity of fixing up their stories from what they heard in court. The request will be complied Opening for the Prosecution. Mr. Powderly then opened the case for the commonwealth and reviewed the facts leading up to the killing. He said that the prosecution would be able to show that on the night of the murder Lauisso was called from his boarding house at a late hour to join in a revel. When last seen alive he was in company with Rosa, whom the murdered man owed $40. A few hours later the body of Lauisso was found lying in the street with bullet holes in it.

The district attorney, continued Mr. Powderly, secured the services of a deant a confession that he killed Lauisso and then hid the revolver, with which the crime had been committed on the top of the cellar wall in the house in which he boarded. The county detective and chief of police of Dunmore went to the place directed and found the revolver with particles of dirt clinging to the muzzle where it had dried into the blood of the murdered man

Would Corroborate this Confession.

The commonwealth, the speaker said, would be able to put witnesses on the stand whose testimony will be in line with this confession. This testimony the jurors would be asked to pass upon fairly and impartially and return a verdict strictly in accordance with the facts. Mr. Powderly's opening address was a plain, forceful presentation of the facts in the case from the commonwealth's point of view without any attempt at oratorical embellishment. It was listened to by a large number of attorneys who were present to hear Mr. Powderly's maiden effort befor a Nicotora's family had gone to bed when they arrived at his home but they succeeded in awakening him and entered the house. Nicotora, to show his appreciation of the call, sent Rosa to purchase two pints of beer with which to treat the crowd. They drank the beer and also two more pints that were sent for, and when they were about to leave Vito Laulsso, who boarded with Nicotora, said he would go with them as far the saloon and get a glass of They told him he could stay beer. where he was-that they had enough of

TEN-FOOT PRIVILEGE

Engages the Definite Attention of the Board of Trade.

BOARD WANTS CAR FENDERS

And Decided to Push the Matter in Councils-J. M. Kemmerer Will Endeavor to Have the Local Stock Ouotations Abolished.

The board of trade at its meeting last night adopted the important recommendations of two committees. The first pertained to the much discussed Duet, "Wanderer's Night Song," 10-foot reservation, and the other concerned a movement to compel the Scranton Traction company to place fenders on its cars. The report concerning the 10-foot reservation was made by the streets and highways committee, and was signed by Chairman C. H. Pond. It was drafted by City Solicitor Torrey, who has given considerable attention to the intricate subject. His opinion is, in substance, that neither the court nor city can force property owners not to use the 10-foot reservation, but that affected property owners have a vested interest which will be recognized and supported by courts of equity.

The conclusion of the report is as follows: "Your committee, in view of the public interests involved, recommend that it be declared as the sense of this board, first, that all property owners in the city, as well for their own protection, as for the public interests, insist upon a rigid adherence to the terms of all conveyences restraining the use of the front part of lots in the neighborhood of their property; second, that upon streets where a bay window privilege is enjoyed by all the owners, is is recommended that, in so far as practicable, voluntary agreements be entered into between all the owners upon such block, in which they shall, in legal form, establish some definite building line beyond which no portion of their present or any future buildings shall be permitted to extend." The recommendations of the report were adopted. About Wagon Tires. Concerning the wide wagon tire tax exemption ordinance the following report was made by the same committee and was adopted: "Your committee would further report that we have interviewed several members of the councils relative to the wide tire ordinance that was referred to the judiciary committee of the old councils. We have found no opposition to its passage, and have taken the preliminary steps toward having it again introduced, and believe we can assure you that it will be passed without any necessary delay."

For the public safety committee Secretary Atherton read the letter from Mayor Latrobe, of Baltimore, and which was printed in Saturday's Tribune. The letter stated that each of the four street railway companies in Baltimore has a distinctive type of fender and that between thirty and forty lives have been saved by their use in less than six months.

The committee's recommendation was adopted as follows: "That the city councils be requested to at once pass an ordinance compelling the said Traction company to place the best fender now on the market on each of their cars and to provide for a penalty should they

The meet ing will probably be held in the Young Men's Christian association building. The invitation was accepted.

John M. Kemmerer's announcement that at the next meeting he would in troduce a resolution to abolish the board's stock exchange system and board, was received with surprise by all and with disapproval by many although no formal remarks were made in the matter. Mr. Kemmerer stated that the exchange board was used to generally for the purpose of rejuvenat ing debilitated stocks, and also served to impair the credit of promising concerns which are temporarily unfortu-
