

The Scranton Tribune

Published at Scranton, Pa., by The Tribune Publishing Company, 115 North Third Street, Scranton, Pa.

Entered at the Postoffice at Scranton, Pa., as Second-Class Matter.

Printers Ink: The recognized journal for advertising in the Scranton Tribune is the best advertising medium in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

The Weekly Tribune, issued every Saturday, contains twelve handsome pages, with an abundance of news, fiction, and well-edited miscellany.

The Scranton of Today: Come and inspect our city. Elevation above the tide, 740 feet. Extremely healthy.

Estimated population, 1895, 103,000. Registered voters, 30,500. Value of school property, $300,000. Number of school children, 12,000. Average amount of bank deposits, $10,000,000.

The season of congressional seed planting has returned, we are told. What will the harvest be?

The People May Be Trusted. It is perhaps less unfortunate than would at first thought appear that such purely scientific questions as the tariff and the currency should have to be settled through the medium of general, partisan discussion.

Points on Bimetallism. James Dobson, the eminent Philadelphia manufacturer, says that in the past twelve years we in this country have lost in the material wealth, the product of the soil, from which the wealth of the country is derived, $12,000,000,000—a sum so large that it would purchase all the railroad stocks, watered or unwatered, besides leaving a surplus.

Why Not a Pennsylvanian? The Pittsburg Commercial-Gazette is of the opinion that "Pennsylvania has no conspicuous presidential candidate to present to the next national Republican convention; no one who would start in with even a remote chance of winning."

Also Wants Gold Monometallism. In the relations of gold and silver there can be but one honest money standard—that which has been established by this government and by all other great commercial nations.

It is estimated that $3,000,000,000 worth of American securities are held abroad, in the form of collaterals on low-interest loans made to Americans by foreigners.

It is the opinion of many experienced politicians that the next national Republican convention will select as the party's standard-bearer, not one of the now foremost candidates, but a more or less "dark horse."

is sustained by numerous precedents and is certainly plausible. Pennsylvania is as well entitled to the presidency as is any other state.

Is there enough gold in this country with which to do the business of the country? If so, and if silver is to be wholly discarded, what is to become of the $500,000,000 (in round numbers) worth of silver now used as money in the United States?

Income Tax Points. There is apparently every probability that the income tax will yet be declared utterly unconstitutional, should it come before the full Supreme court on a rehearing, as now seems probable.

Those who hope for a speedy return to honest bimetallism in this country have much to be thankful for in the fact that Colonel Alexander McClure has begun to call them names.

Some persons, says the Rochester Post-Express, ought to study American history a little more. Those who call bimetallism a "fad" and a "craze," if they will read the constitution of the United States, will find bimetallism in it.

Elsewhere we present excerpts from the utterances of leading Democratic speakers and journals showing that Mr. Cleveland's object is to force gold monometallism upon his party.

From the Lancaster Intelligencer. "The good sense of the country will hold its political preachers and prophets to their declarations in favor of bimetallism; and no party will dare to inaugurate, or if inaugurated, to maintain and pursue a policy that will drive gold out of circulation and make our money less valuable than the money of the world."

How Many Persons Believe This? From the Washington Star. "W. L. Trenholm, who was controller of the currency during President Cleveland's first term, closes a recent paper as follows: 'Gold monometallism is the unavoidable destiny of this country; the sooner we recognize this and fix it in our laws, the sooner will we reap the fruits; the longer we defer the recognition, the more we impede and postpone its establishment; the longer we wait, our industries are hampered and all our business deranged by financial unrest and commercial apprehension.'"

Referred to Mr. Hogan. From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

urally have to be conservative, so as not to frighten these foreign bondholders. But, at the same time, it is not a misfortune that the richest nation on earth, in material resources, should be, with respect to the per capita volume of its currency, one of the poorest—no poor, in fact, that it has to borrow money of lend? Must this poverty be intensified by the further limiting of our coinage to gold alone, of which we have less than $10 per capita, as against more than $40 of gold and silver per capita in bimetallic France?

The Philadelphia Record is correct in its assertion that "if every owner of silver bullion should be permitted to take it to the United States mint, and there have a dollar stamp put on every 50 cents worth, it would at once become a legal tender for the payment of a dollar of indebtedness, and the whole people of the United States would be contributing to the silver kings."

The railroad committee of the New York board of alderman has recommended that an ordinance be adopted compelling all surface cars to use fenders and wheel guards. That is what ought to be done in every other wide-awake city, not excepting Scranton.

Those who hope for a speedy return to honest bimetallism in this country have much to be thankful for in the fact that Colonel Alexander McClure has begun to call them names.

Some persons, says the Rochester Post-Express, ought to study American history a little more. Those who call bimetallism a "fad" and a "craze," if they will read the constitution of the United States, will find bimetallism in it.

Elsewhere we present excerpts from the utterances of leading Democratic speakers and journals showing that Mr. Cleveland's object is to force gold monometallism upon his party.

From the Lancaster Intelligencer. "The good sense of the country will hold its political preachers and prophets to their declarations in favor of bimetallism; and no party will dare to inaugurate, or if inaugurated, to maintain and pursue a policy that will drive gold out of circulation and make our money less valuable than the money of the world."

How Many Persons Believe This? From the Washington Star. "W. L. Trenholm, who was controller of the currency during President Cleveland's first term, closes a recent paper as follows: 'Gold monometallism is the unavoidable destiny of this country; the sooner we recognize this and fix it in our laws, the sooner will we reap the fruits; the longer we defer the recognition, the more we impede and postpone its establishment; the longer we wait, our industries are hampered and all our business deranged by financial unrest and commercial apprehension.'"

Referred to Mr. Hogan. From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

ance as to strong drink. The wholesale inhibition of one brand of liquor will hardly effect a cure for the drinking of another brand, nor will the cause of intemperance in one department be helped by intemperance in another.

TOLD BY THE STARS. Daily Horoscope Drawn by Ajacchus, The Tribune Astrologer. Astrological cast: 3:00 a. m. for Thursday, April 18, 1895.

A child born on this day will wonder when it will be the editor's turn to receive benefits from Pennsylvania's civil pension bureau. In fact the burden of his thoughts will be "What next?"

Those who hope for a speedy return to honest bimetallism in this country have much to be thankful for in the fact that Colonel Alexander McClure has begun to call them names.

Some persons, says the Rochester Post-Express, ought to study American history a little more. Those who call bimetallism a "fad" and a "craze," if they will read the constitution of the United States, will find bimetallism in it.

Elsewhere we present excerpts from the utterances of leading Democratic speakers and journals showing that Mr. Cleveland's object is to force gold monometallism upon his party.

From the Lancaster Intelligencer. "The good sense of the country will hold its political preachers and prophets to their declarations in favor of bimetallism; and no party will dare to inaugurate, or if inaugurated, to maintain and pursue a policy that will drive gold out of circulation and make our money less valuable than the money of the world."

How Many Persons Believe This? From the Washington Star. "W. L. Trenholm, who was controller of the currency during President Cleveland's first term, closes a recent paper as follows: 'Gold monometallism is the unavoidable destiny of this country; the sooner we recognize this and fix it in our laws, the sooner will we reap the fruits; the longer we defer the recognition, the more we impede and postpone its establishment; the longer we wait, our industries are hampered and all our business deranged by financial unrest and commercial apprehension.'"

Referred to Mr. Hogan. From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

From the Wisconsin Leader. "The friends of the Third party have yet to be convinced that intemperance in speech and action, malice and bitterness are going to advance the cause of temperance."

GOLDSMITH'S BAZAAR. Summer Draperies.

Light silk and cotton draperies naturally take precedence of the heavier lines at this season of the year. Silken and drapery satins, cretonnes, denims, etc., are in demand in all shades and qualities.

SEE THESE NEW DRAPERIES. Carpets, Mattings, Linoleums, Rugs and other floor coverings are certainly the topic of conversation, and the theme of nearly every housekeeper's thoughts just now.

WALL PAPER.

Another carload just received. We knew when we opened up this department, and our prices were made familiar to the public, that we would do a big business in the Wall Paper line.

GRATIFYING INDEED!

The change we made locating our Children's Department on ground floor became popular at once. We always sold the bulk of Children's Clothes—now we are doing more—easier of access—larger quarters—greater stock—more help.

Child's Jersey Suits at $1.50. Double Breasted Blouse Suits at $1.75. Braided Reffer Suits at $2.50.

Parlor Furniture

Our Stock of Fine, Up-to-Date Parlor Furniture is simply immense and prices at which a parlor can now be furnished by us are remarkably low.

SPALDING'S BICYCLES ARE THE BEST COASTERS.

Consequently they must run easier than any other wheel. Call and examine them.

AYLESWORTH'S MEAT MARKET

The latest improved furnishings and apparatus for keeping meat, butter and eggs.

DR. HILL & SON ALBANY DENTISTS.

Set teeth $5.00; best set $8; for gold caps and teeth without plates, called crown and bridge work, call for prices and references.

THE WEBER PIANO

Guernsey Bros. 224 WYOMING AVE.

Fine Stationery

Blank Books, Office Supplies, EDISON'S MIMEOGRAPH And Supplies, TYPE WRITERS' SUPPLIES

REYNOLDS BROS., Stationers and Engravers,

317 LACKAWANNA AVE. April 18, 1895.

We Have Moved to No. 121 North Washington Avenue, Next First Presbyterian Church

HULL & CO. FURNITURE DEALERS.

NEW STORE, NEW STYLES, NEW PRICES, and We Want You for a New Customer.

DR. HILL & SON ALBANY DENTISTS.

Set teeth $5.00; best set $8; for gold caps and teeth without plates, called crown and bridge work, call for prices and references.

THE WEBER PIANO

Guernsey Bros. 224 WYOMING AVE.