Ordinance for a Franchise Escaped Some Engle Eyes in Select Council-Company Means Business and Will Soon Begin Line Work.

A number of prominent Wilkes-Barre, Scranton and Carbondale business men have formed themselves into the Interstate Telephone company with the purpose of stringing telephone wires throughout the Lackawanna region and establishing a telephone system between Carbondale and Wilkes-Barre. The first step toward securing smooth sailing in this city was made last night in select council, but it evidently escaped the eagle eyes of the municipal legislators. No comment or inquiry was made when the clerk in the usual hurried manner read a briefly worded ordinance granting the Interstate Telephone company the privilege of maintaining an electric plant in the city and erecting poles and wires.

Mr. Finn's motion that the ordinance be referred to committee prevailed, and other business of the meeting was continued. The ordinance did not contain any provision for recompensing the city. Mr. Finn later declined to discuss the matter and referred a Tribune reporter to Attorney Horace E. Hand. From Mr. Hand the following facts were learned.

Officers of the Company. The officers of the company are: John Graham, of Wilkes-Barre, general manager of the Wilkes-Barre and Wyoming Valley Traction company, president; Timothy Burke, of Scranton, vice-president; Horace E. Hand, of Scranton, secretary and treasurer. J. R. Beetem, general manager of the Scranton Traction company, and Robert Reeves, superintendent of the Scranton Gas and Water company, as well as several prominent business men of Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Carbonent issue of Chester papers had the dale, are largely interested in the enter-

A month ago the charter was secured, and since then the Interstate company has secured facts and figures concerning the Bell, Drawbaugh and other high grade telephones and have negotiated for the use of poles up and down the valley. Contracts have already been made for the use of several lines of poles already erected in the vicinity of Scranton.

Mr. Hand said that the telephone scheme was more than a speculation on He had no hesitancy in declaring that line work will be started in this city and elsewhere as soon as franchises are secured.

As to a Franchise.

When asked whether the company anticipate being asked to pay for privileges granted by the city, Mr. Hand replied in the negative. He remarked that other electric companies had not been asked to pay for franchises in Scranton and he saw no reason why an exception should be made against the Interstate company.

The detailed plans of the company could not be ascertained last night. It was positively announced that a telephone exchange will be located soon in Scranton and that Wilkes-Barre and Carbondale and intervening towns will be connected within a comparatively brief period.

ALLATOONA NEXT WEEK.

Extensive Preparations That Are Being Made for Event. The drama "Allatoona," given principally by local talent, will be played each evening next week at the Frothingham for the benefit of the Thirteenth Regiment Armory fund. Governor Hastings and staff will attend on Monday evening, and the presence here of the gubernatorial party will lend an impetus to the project. Almost every organization in the city will be represented on some one of the nights, and doubtless there will be a friendly rivalry among the different societies as to which can dispose of the greatest number of tickets. Upon the financial success of the drama will depend largetaken towards the erection of a new armory, and Scranton people especially Elizabeth Davison, Miss Pyott, of their heartlest approval by filling the theater at each performance. The diagram of seats is now open at the Frothingham. Those desiring seats and Mrs. Eckman left for New York on for Monday evening must have them checked off immediately. There are a few good seats left. Among those who have engaged boxes and loges are: Boxes, E. N. Williard, William Connell, E. L. Fuller, H. P. Simpson, T. H. Watkins; loges,, A. E. Hunt, Colonel H. Elected by the Good Citizonship Longue Last Night. A meeting of the Good Citizenship league was held at the Albright Me-morial hall last night under the presidency of J. W. Browning. Secretary D. L. Morgan read the proposed by laws which, after slight amendment were adopted. The league will meet throughout the year on the second Friday in each month. The following permanent officers were elected: President, Samuel Hines; first vice president, J. W. Browning; second vice president,, Professor M. H. Jordan; recording secretary, Charles E. Daniels; corresponding secretary, Charles H. Chandler, treasurer, Professor D. A. Stone. The officers were authorized to prepare a list of committees to be elected at the next meeting. A committee |consisting of W. T. Hackett and Thomas Russell were appointed to notify the president-elect of his election. The officers of the committee were also authorized to secure a permanent place of meeting. A vote of thanks was tendered Librarian Car for the use of the hall.

VISIT OF GOVERNOR.

Arrangements That Are Being Made for His Reception. Governo Hastings and staff will ar rive here on the 5 o'clock Bloomsburg train Monday, and will witness the initial performance that evening in the Frothingham of the military drama "Allatoona," which will be given during the week for the benefit of the Thir brevity of his visit no arrangements can be made for his formal entertainment while in this city.

The regiment in light marching order to the Wyoming house, which will be his headquarters during his stay. Mrs. Hastings will be with him. Mrs. Willard, chairman of the ladies' "Allatoona" committee, is waiting a reply from a letter sent Mrs. Hastings and asking for her wishes relative to being tendered a formal reception.

Lieutenant Governor Lyon will also be here and may possibly be accompanied by Mrs. Lyon. He will be entertained by Lieutenant Governo Watres, of this city. In deference to the prominence and position of the governor and his party, It has been requested that at Monday night's performance ladles will appear without bonnets and in evening dress. ST. ALOYSIUS SOCIETY.

Business Transacted at the Meeting Last Night. A regular meeting of the St. Aloysius society was held at St. Thomas' hall last night, when various suggestions were made with a view to increasing the scope of the organization. One object of the discussion was to promote an increased interest in the society among the business men of the city, and the names of many leading citizens were suggested for president and vicepresident. A committee of six was appointed to wait on those mentioned with a view of imparting more information as to the object of the society and to ask them for their interest in its behalf. A committee of three members was also appointed to write to New York, Toronto and Philadelphia for information as to kindred organizations. Many suggestions were made as to which part of the gymnasium work should be first adopted, and the athletic department was favored by the majority. A committee of three was appointed to secure a suitable building in the city. It was resolved that the society meet every Thursday evening until the organization is perfected.

Good Fighting at the Excelsion

Athletic Club's Tournament. M'GOLDRICK WAS NO PARMER

Took His Man Unawares and Put Him to Sleep with Nentness and Dispatch. Details of the Various Events That Were Decided.

At the Frothingham theater last night the annual spring tournament of the Excelsior Athletic club teenth regiment. Governor Hastings was the attraction. The programme will be obliged to leave early the next morning for Harrisburg. Owing to the Duffy, of Trenton; the timekeeper James J. Coleman, of the Scranton Times; and the judges John T. Brown, and James May. John J. Collins, secre will meet Governor Hastings at the tary of the club, was announcer. The Lackawanna depot, and will escort him judges were empowered to award the victory, but if they disagreed the refered had the deciding vote. A bout that was not on the pro-gramme occurred after the last event closed. There was a rush to the stage to greet John Tighe for the manner in which he walloped his opponent, and Christopher T. Boland, of the South Side, the well-known contractor, and William Boland, equally as well known, met and the latter received a blow or the left eye.

The first event of the evening was in he 115-pound class between Bartley Mangan, of Bellevue, a member of the Excelsior Athletic club, and Charles Patterson, of the Lexington Athletic club, of New York. The youth from the metropolic showed the better training of the two, and also exhibited more skill in giving and avoiding blows. In the first round Mangan started out to finish his man, but he got a bloody nos for his ambition. The other two rounds were in favor slightly of Patterson, and when the bell sounded time, it saved Mangan from the punishment that his oppnent was just beginning to inflict. The judges awarded the decision to Patterson.

The 115 Pound Class. Next on the bills was the other pro liminary bout in the 115-pound class. John Boland, of the Excelsior Athletic club, and Thomas O'Neill, of the Cale donia club of New York, were the principals. These two were as supple a cats and neither of them punished the other to any extent. Both were extremely clever. At the end of the third round the judges could not agree upon the winner. One of the judges, Mr. Brown, decided that Boland had the best of the "go." Mr. May could not see his way clear to award the fight to either of them, and when the referee was asked about it, he ordered another round. Boland had a little the best of the extra round and the judges awarded the fight to him. Anthony Gordon, the clever athlete of the Excelsiors, and John Loftus, of New York, next donned the mittens. They were gladiators of the 125-pound class. Gordon showed a desire to do some fighting, and his oppnent manifested as much of a desire to avoid it. It was this way throughout the three rounds and there was not the sign of a scratch on either when the gong sounded time. The judges coincided in their opinion that Gordon should receive the palm. The clown act of the evening was the one that it would be hardly fair to dignify by the title of a fight. It was in the 135 pound class between John Waldron and John Mack, both from audience, of "Sic him," "Go at him Tiger," etc., etc. They had not struck each other a single clean blow during the three rounds, and an extra round was inflicted on the audience. The palm was awarded to Waldron by one judge and the referee. The other judge, Mr. May, thought that Mack had the best of it. He Would Fix the Farmer. Excitement reigned supreme for 'ew minutes while the 145-pound "go" tween James McGoldrick, of the Excelsiors, and Thomas Williams, of Philadelphia, was on. Williams was heard to remark when he entered the ring that he would fix the farmer. They Every Store. We Have Them, However, had not been in the ring a minute be fore the men had to be separated by the referee. Williams, after being separated, was not on his guard and he got a thump from McGoldrick that almost set him to sleep, and before he recovered from his astonishment he got another rap on the jaw that felled him to the floor. His seconds shouted "foul, foul!" and Williams was dragged unconscious across the floor to his corner.

The referee allowed a foul, but the rules were produced and it was shown to the referee that he had erred in his decision; that McGoldrick was perfectly justified in striking his man while both were on their feet and separated. The referee withdrew his decision, but Williams had got such a smasher that he was not able to resume the battle and gave it up. The referee then awarded the fight to McGoldrick. In the finals Patterson defeated Boland; Gordon defeated McDermott; and Tighe defeated Waldron. Tighe swung out and struck his man such a
