Then by back road to stone bridge, where they stopped for fifteen minutes. From the stone bridge they drove to Wyoming village, where the horse stumbled and broke a fore leg. Dr. Hayes was summoned and soon ended the misery of the suffering animal. The defence stated that they reached Wyoming between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The distance traveled was about twenty-two miles n six hours, not including stoppage of interlined with hair three hours. The prosecution claims hat the horse, from exhaustion, stumbled, from which it received its broken leg. As some important witnesses were not present the case was adjourned until Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. when the case was resumed. Sax, the only defendant present, was held under $200 ball for appearance in court.

A Victim of the Rail. At 3 o'clock Saturday morning trainmen of the local freight on the Lehigh Valley discovered the dead body of a man lying on the track just west of Wilkes-Barre, near Patterson & Co.'s lumber yard. On further examination it proved to be the remains of Andrew Cauley. Regular prices have been whose skull was smashed almost into york city. He leaves a mother and two brothers, James and John. An Early Morning Fire. An alarm of fire was rung in this morning at 2.15 from box 18, to which the Eagle and Niagara hose companie responded. The conflagration proved to be a barn belonging to Councilman John R. Connell and located in the rear of his hotel on North Main street. The building was totally destroyed, . The oss will probably reach $1,000, which was partially covered by insurance. The barn was occupied by Gallagher, the up-town grocer, who had stored therein a quantity of hay and grain. He also kept his horse and wagons in the barn. Nothing was saved. A shed nearby, which was used by Mr. Connell as a pig pen and chicken coop, was also destroyed. The fire had such a start when Mr. Connell was first notified, by George Bentley, that it was impossible to save any of his property, with the exception of his cow. The barn was located 150 feet from the railroad. When applying the key to box 26, which is located nearest the scene of the conflagration, the keyhole was found to be plugged with a piece of iron.

Pointed Musical Criticism. William Reese, of this city, went to Duryea on Saturday afternoon to draw his pay for some work done. After receiving his cash Williams entered one of Minooka Sunday. the tanglefoot distributing stations of the place, where a number of Italians had congregated and were indulging in a service of song. Reese, who claims to be a vocalist, attempted to take part in the musical exercises. His efforts. not being up to the Italian school, were not appreciated by the other singers and he was requested to observe a rest of an unlimited number of bars. Reese objected to the criticism of his upper register and a quarrel resulted. Dur ing the engagement Reese received several reminders from the stilletos carried by the critics, and blood flowed freely from his wounds. He managed to escape, however, before his voice had been entirely ruined, and came to his home in this city. At last reports his condition was such that it is safe to predict that he will live to sing another
