

Yesterday's rain throughout the country and caused a postponment of all the regular season National league base ball games as well as the exhibition games of the Eastern league and college clubs.

The game with Carbondale in this city had to be postponed, or, rather, declared off for all time. It was a sore disappointment to the cranks in each particularly to the Carbondalians who had arranged to come here in a special train and to root their lungs out for Marty Swift's club. Last week's extra game with the Binghamtons leaves an open date here today. Tomorrow a special train will leave the Ontario and Western depot at 2 o'clock and will land passengers at the Carbondale grounds, where the club of that city will meet the Scrantons.

HODSON TO BE RELEASED. The ex-Crack Pitcher of the Scrautous to

Be Set Down. An authoritive report comes from Boston that Hodson will be released. It is claimed that he has been unable to control the ball, and in recent trials has not showed even second-class form.

Hodson was considered the most promising twirler in last year's State league, and when Scranton went into the Eastern league was purchased for $500 by the Boston magnates. He pitched many games for Boston during the latter part of the National season and made as good an average, with one exception, as any of the five Boston

SPARRING AT MUSIC HALL. Lively Settos Between a Number of Local

Before a good-sized number of spectators at Music hall last night the boxing tournament under the auspices of Champion James Judge, of the South Side, was witnessed, Michael Keeley was the announcer of events; P. J. Hopkins, of the Excelsior Athletic club, was referee; the judges were John Mitchell and Councilman Morgan Sweeney, of the Twelfth ward, and James J. Coleman was timekeeper.

William Kane, of the Excelsior Athletic club, and Michael McGinnis, of the American Athletic club, went in the ring first and the exhibition they gave was an interesting one. The first round was the occason of hard hitting; the second round they hit harder, and the last was a slugging match. The punishment was evenly divided and the bout was declared a draw.

Philip Monahan, of the Excelsior Athletic club, and Michael McGinnis, of the Americans, were the next two opponents. It was announced that the best man would win, but neither of them showed any disposition to harm the other. Near the wind-up of the last round the boxers got angry and they threatened to do harm, but the gong sounded time and that ended the agony. One of the judges could not hand down an opinion, and Referee Hopkins decided the "battle" a draw.

The next number on the programme was a friendly exhibition between James McGoldrick and John Tighe, of the Excelsior Athletic club. They did some very clever sparring and were roundly applauded by the spectators. In the 135-pound class John Creedon and Thomas Williams next gave an exhibition. The former is from the National Athletic club, and the latter a member of the American Athletic club. It was hard to tell whether they were in earnest or not and Patrick Gilbride. of the South Side, arose several times from his settee and urged them to show themselves. The bout was decided, after an extra round had been fought, in in bed. favor of Williams. Next was a friendly exhibition between William Kane and having dropped out of base ball. Indoor Antony Gardner, both of the Excelsion

Announcer Keeley escorted Jack Gilbride into the ring and stated that John Hicks, who had been entered to meet Gibride, was not present. Mr Keeley said that Hcks had been in the fressing room five minutes before.

The exhibition wound up with a lively sparring match between Champion Judge and Richard Eavers, of the Exin Wichita for wearing a rational cos-tume while riding a wheel brought suit for damages against the town. In this attempt to gain justice she was unsuc-cessful, and the local paper regrets "she lost her suit in court."

A wheelman, fat and wheezy, was wabbling along a country road at about a mile-an-hour galt. Seeing a native scated on the roadside the cyclist said: "Is there time for me to catch the last train back to the city?" Carefully sizing him up, the languid native replied: "Waal, stranger, ye've got time enough, I reckon, but I'm blamed sure ye hain't got the speed in them legs!" Miss Edna Daisey Day, the Ann Arbor wheelwoman who wears bloomers, but has been forbidden to appear in them at the dinner table at the house of her landlady, Mrs. H. C. Ecames, is much aggrieved at the notoriety this action has occasioned. She says she did not wear bloomers to at-tract attention, but because it is the only hygienic comfortable costume she knows erbockers, only because she is being talked about so much. She will wear thanked about so much. She will wear them in stormy weather. Of course she will not transgress Mrs. Eames' order. Miss Day's home is in Orange, N. J., and she looks about 29 years old. She is a modest girl, and one would not suspect her of leading in dress reform. eading in dress reform.

The only drawback to a match race be tween Zimmerman and Houben is the refusal of the former to race for a purse less than $5,000. The recent victory of Houben over Maurice Farman, the French crack, has resulted in increasing the confidence of the foreigners in Houben's abilities. Houben's friends are still trying to raise the necessary money to meet Zimmerman. It is likely that if agreeable terms could be arranged for a race between the two men to take place in this country that Houben would come over at once, and everal parties are now at work with this object in view. Housen has addressed a etter to the Sporting Life signifying his desire to race Zimmerman, either in England or America. He says he will race if only for the honor.

INDUSTRIAL TOPICS.

Shipments of anthracite coal for the week ended April 13 were: 618,562 tons, against 664,019 tons for the preceding week and 999,199 tons for the last week of March Restriction last week, compared with the preceding week, was confined to the Wy-oming and Lehigh regions, the Schuylkill region making a slight increase in output over the preceding week. Shipments for the last thirteen days of April were about 1,233,173 tons, a daily average of 94,859 tons Should this average be maintained throughout the month the April production will amount to 2,845,770 tons, or about 245,000 tons more than the agree glutted market and much needed repair have caused the VanWickle Coleraine col leries and the Evans colliery at Beaver Meadow to shut down. This move on th part of Mr. VanWickle, it is said, has bee contemplated for some time, but no actio was taken earlier because it was hope that something would be done by the pres-idents of the anthracite coal carrying com panies which would be of benefit to the trade. As there have been several meet-ings of the presidents and the situation, nstead of improving, has been growing worse, it was decided upon to shut down the above named colliery until there should be more of an inducement offered for the mining of coal. The Coleraine colliery is one of the oldest and best known capacity of from 1,000 to 1,200 tons daily although considerable more than this could be gotten out if there was any demand for it. The closing of this colliery will mean enforced idleness for 300 men and boys. While the shut-down lasts a number of repairs will be made. In talk ing of the shutting down of this mine one individual operator said to a Hazleton Standard reporter: "The whole trouble standard reporter. The whole trouble is that there is a lack of confidence in the trade. We have something which we can't duplicate and it does not pay to mine coal and give it away. The individual operators are willing to curtail production, but no assistance is rendered by the railroad companies. The railroad ompanies have a chance to make up on the freight, but the individual operators have nothing back of them. If the officers of the railroad companies were dealing with their own money, a great many pro-ducers of coal are of the opinion that they would soon fix the matter up, and some people wonder that the stockholders do not take the management of their properties in their own hands." The Evans collery at Beaver Meadow is apparently shut down until further orders. The Cross Creek colliery have had orders probably to the same effect as their original intention to work three days this week has been

STOCKS AND BONDS.

New York, April 22 .- A period of hesitation characterized the opening dealings at the stock exchange. There was a turn for the better soon after 11 o'clock, the sudden jump in the price of cereals and the reports from Fall river that the manufacturing interest at that centre had agreed to restore the basis of wages existing prior to August 20, 1894, having created a demand for the prominent issues. The anthracite coalers, however, were the special bull card and reports from Philadelphia that the railroad officials were in conference had a good effect and stocks scored material gains. Delaware and Hudson moved up 3¼; Lackawanna, 2; Jersey Central, 24; Reading 1%. In the general list New England got up to 40%. Chicago Gas was the feature of the industrials and rose nearly 2 points. Speculation closed firm with prices generally % to 1% per cent. higher. The anthracite coalers were exceptions, and Delaware and Hudson gained 2%. Total
