PERSONAL.

Dr. A. N. Leete is in Pittsburgh. Colonel Hitchcock and C. H. Pond left for Preston Park yesterday. E. A. Niven, secretary of the Wilkes-Barre board of trade, called on Scranton friends yesterday. Alderman Fuller will be absent from his office today, and will enjoy a day's fishing in Monroe county. M. H. Griffin and Alderman C. C. Donovan attended the Catholic Mutual Benefit association banquet at Carbondale last night. Mrs. August Robinson entertained a party of friends and celebrated her birthday yesterday afternoon at her home, 432 North Seventh street. J. W. Ferguson, of Paterson, N. J., was in the city yesterday arranging for the subletting of his contract for the erection of the new South Side silk works. Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Simpson and Miss Simpson, of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Payne and Miss Payne, of Kingston, who have been on a two weeks' trip in Europe and Egypt, are about the American liner New York, which is expected to reach port Saturday. At St. Mary's German Catholic church Tuesday morning Miss Margaret Lantz was married to Peter Snyder, of Ash street, by Rev. Peter Christ. Ignatz Imboden was best man and Miss Maggie Snyder bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Snyder left for Utica on a wedding tour. Senator Morgan B. Williams, his son Ben, his brother Daniel, of Scranton, and the latter's son, William, will leave for a three months' trip in Europe in June. They will spend most of the time in Wales from whence Senator Williams and his brother emigrated here thirty years ago.—Wilkes-Barre Times. With this issue of the Tribune, Mr. Emerson Owen assumes the position of West Side representative. He will act for the paper in matters both of news and business. Mr. Owen's qualifications as a newspaper worker have been already demonstrated in other fields of labor, and we are sure for him the kind offices of all our West Side friends.

BICYCLE CLUB'S RACE MEET.

Meeting Will Be Held Tonight to Consider the Matter. Tonight the members of the Scranton Bicycle club will meet and hear the report of a special committee upon the advisability of holding a racing meeting in June. It is understood that many of the club are opposed to the idea, and that the committee, while it favors a race meet, will report without recommendation pro or con. Last year the club did not make a profit from its races, although the meet was one of the best ever held in this section of the state and the attendance was larger than was anticipated. The supporters of racing for this year argue that the facilities and track at the Driving park will be better than ever before, and that there is no good reason why the club should lose money.

MAYOR REFUSES TO SIGN.

Ordinance Was Not Presented to Him in Time. Mayor Connell has returned without his approval of the ordinance providing for a sewer in the Eleventh ward, on Washington avenue, between Beech street and Stafford Meadow Brook. He declines to attach his signature because the ordinance was not presented to him until after the 18th council had adjourned sine die. The approximate estimate of the cost made by the city engineer is $175 per lineal foot, a total of $3,325.00.

Ladies' gold filled watches reduced from $15.00 to $12.75. Davidow Bros. We show samples of high grade printing in catalogues and booklets.—The Tribune Printing Department. Plain gold rings at Davidow Bros.

GRINDING OUT JUSTICE

Cases Called Up for Trial in Criminal Court Yesterday.

TIPLING HOUSE CASE HEARD

Verdict of Not Guilty Taken in Case Against Patrick Feeney and Wife. Miss Mulherin Plead Guilty. Jennings Found Not Guilty.

Orator George Fanning, of the North End, charged with larceny by bailment, was found not guilty. The jury returned its verdict when court convened yesterday morning. John Gordon was found guilty of stealing a mirror and a bed quilt from Mary L. Kenyon. He was acquitted of the receiving count in the indictment. In No. 2 court room, before Judge Edwards, the first case put on trial was against Herman Krichenbaum, charged by Louis Feldman with larceny by bailment. Attorney Nathan Vidaver assisted Mr. Harris in the prosecution of the case and the defendant had engaged the services of Attorney John P. Scragg. The prosecutor stated upon his oath that he entrusted the defendant with a quantity of leather with which to manufacture uppers for shoes, and that defendant proved faithless and kept the uppers. They live on Penn avenue and are engaged in the shoe repairing business. The jury found Krichenbaum not guilty. Antonio Voch, who attempted to carve an old man named Thomas Jenkins, was called to answer for his blood-christianity. Attorney Taylor and Assistant District Attorney John M. Harris was on the part of the commonwealth.

On the Bridge at Midnight. Jenkins was standing on the Lackawanna avenue bridge between 12 and 1 o'clock at night about four months ago, and was captured along in a drunken condition, and without any apparent provocation he drew a stiletto from his pocket and made a lunge at Jenkins. But before Voch could inflict serious wounds upon the old man some persons happened along and the Italian took to his heels. He was captured near the gas house by M. J. O'Toole, of the Republican, and J. R. Reese, of the firm of Reese & Long, bill posters. There was not much evidence in the case, and after the jury retired Judge Edwards remained Voch to the custody of the sheriff.

Voch was under bail, but Judge Edwards did not want to take any chances. The jury had not returned a verdict at adjournment, but it is impossible to see how other than a conviction can be rendered. William Walter Hammett, the young archer who was charged with stealing brass and copper wire from a Hobart & Co. dealer on the West Side, and selling it to another dealer, pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence till Saturday, when they will be sentenced to the reformatory.

Walterfield Was Wanted. Daniel Walterfield, of the North End, against whom there are indictments of keeping a tippling house and selling liquor to minors, was not around when his name was called and a capias was issued and the sheriff sent out to bring him in. He is the man who ran the hole in the wall where Patrick Kenahigh had been, and was captured near the gas house by M. J. O'Toole, of the Republican, and J. R. Reese, of the firm of Reese & Long, bill posters. There was not much evidence in the case, and after the jury retired Judge Edwards remained Voch to the custody of the sheriff.

It was on St. Patrick's Day. The case on trial before Judge Gunter, where Thomas Thomas and John Kirby were before the bar of justice on account of selling liquor over a bar that had not been licensed by the court, went to the jury in the afternoon. Kirby was bartender for Thomas, who is an old man, very feeble and certainly over 50 years of age. The prosecutor, Albert Lepic, swore that he went to the defendant's hotel in Johnson's Patch, with five of his friends, on last St. Patrick's Day, and the crowd purchased seven gallons of beer and a quart of whisky and drank this amount of refreshment without it "knocking a feather out of them." Two little Polish girls swore that they rushed the growler several times between their father's house and the defendant's saloon. One of the girls refused to take the Bible in her hand and would not swear by it. Her mother had instructed her not to do it. The jury returned at 4:30 for instructions and what they wanted to know about was whether a bartender is as guilty as the proprietor. Judge Gunter said the bartender and proprietor are equally answerable before the law.

Miss Mulherin Was the Siren. The case of Patrick Feeney, Mrs. Patrick Feeney and Kate Mulherin, whose place on Tenth street was visited by Constable Timothy Jones, of the West Side, was called for trial. Strong evidence was produced to show that liquor had been sold illegally at the Feeney homestead. The commonwealth was satisfied with dismissing the cases against Mr. and Mrs. Feeney in return for a plan of guilty entered by Miss Mulherin. It would appear that the man and his wife had been made the dupe of Miss Mulherin, whose object in having Mr. and Mrs. Feeney sell liquor was to lure young men there. Miss Mulherin wore a blazing cravat and a seductive smile, but when she looked frankly at the court she realized that the prison is awaiting her, and her features blanched and even the decorations on her cheeks did not hide her nervousness.

John Jennings, Jr., and his father were down on the list charged with violating the Brown high license law, but Patrick O'Brien, the prosecutor, was not on hand to prosecute and he will be obliged to settle the costs. The cases against the Mulherins were dismissed. Mrs. Rodick's Watch. Not long before adjournment a jury was sworn and the case of Bridget Rodick against Louis Marino was begun in Judge Gunter's court. Mrs. Rodick is a tall, angular Polish woman, and last summer she had a place of residence somewhere in the fog end of Hyde Park. One balmy evening in August she led herself to Barbertown, in Old Forge, and called upon "friends." The evening was spent in sampling the beverages on tap in that vicinity and the ultimate and natural termination of the festivities was a free fight. Mr. Marino, the defendant, is charged with making hay while the sun was not shining by abstracting Mrs. Rodick's gold watch from her bosom.

IN LOCAL THEATERS. This afternoon at Davis' theater Mr. Toole and his excellent company that have just closed a three days' run of "Kilbarney and the Rhine" at the same house, will produce "Rip Van Winkle." Mr. Toole will be seen as Rip, a character he portrays with great faithfulness, and the scenery and costumes will be correct in every particular. "Rip Van Winkle" will hold the boards at Davis' for the remainder of the week.

Bronson Howard's famous play, "Aristocracy," will be presented at the Frothingham next Monday evening by a company from Charles Frohman's forces, and headed by Forrest Robinson. The scene in "Aristocracy" that will most deeply interest any student of human doings, and human character, is a masterly illustration of what has been termed hypotism. A woman possesses all the nobility, strength of character and self-will to aid her in battling against any temptation that might beset her path. Her husband is suddenly called to attend a meeting of railroad officials in Harrisburg. The woman realizes that she is to be left alone in her own house with the foreign vulture who would stoop to any method to accomplish his purpose. She reads his purpose in his fascinating eyes. She knows him to be a devil with noble ancestors, but feels that he also has the devil's power. It is one of the most delicately drawn and truly pictured incidents that has been presented in a play in years.

On Monday evening at the Academy of Music the Bubbl Comedy company, with a full band and orchestra, will open an engagement for one week by presenting "A Kentucky Home." The play is a comedy, in 2 acts, 20 and 20 cents. A 10-cent matinee will be given every day except Monday. The following is taken from the News, Salem, Mass.: "There is but little doubt that Mechanic hall would have been well filled yesterday afternoon and evening if the capacity of the house had been twice as large. Crowds of disappointed ones were turned away at each performance. In the afternoon a sensational drama of London life, entitled "Dad's Boy," was presented in a finished manner. The orchestra came in for a large share of well-merited applause for its special selections, a xylophone solo by Charles Lowe being a feature. The evening bill was "A Double Life," a strong drama, in five acts, which was enjoyed by an overworked house.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS. Night Secretary Brewer has just recovered from a severe illness. Mrs. Brewer is also suffering from diphtheria. George Sanborn, of the Rescue mission, addressed a large audience at the noon-day meeting at the machine shops yesterday.

Engineer Sooley and Fireman Dewey, who were on train No. 18 in the Stroudsburg crash on Tuesday, escaped with slight injuries and are on deck again. The following appropriate verses have been handed to the citizens for publication by a local railroad man: I observed a locomotive in the railroad yards one day. It was waiting in the round-house, where the locomotive sits. It was waiting for the journey, it was coiled and fully manned, And it had a box the fireman was filling full of sand.

It appears that locomotives cannot always get a grip. On the slender iron pavement, cause the wheels are apt to slip; And when they reach the slippery spot, their tactics they command, And to get a grip upon the rail, they sprinkle it with sand. Its about this way with travel along life's slippery track. If your load is rather heavy and you're always sliding back; So, if a common locomotive you completely understand, You'll provide yourself in starting with a good supply of sand. If your track is steep and hilly, and you have a heavy grade, And if those who've come before you have the rails quite slippery made, If you ever reach the summit of the upper tableland, You'll find you'll have to do it with a liberal use of sand. That you're liable to slip on a heavy coat of frost, Then some prompt, decided action will be called into demand, And you'll slip way to the bottom if you haven't any sand. You can get to any station that is on life's schedule with the aid of ambition's strong machine. And you'd reach a place called Finisstown at a rate of speed that would be good for you if for all the slippery places you've a good supply of sand.

IT WAS FIREMEN'S NIGHT

They Saw the Production of Allatooona at the Frothingham.

AN ADDRESS BY CAPTAIN MOIR

Performance Was Given with Much Spirit and Dash—This Will Be Ladies' Night—Lyric Club Will Render Several Selections.

It was "Firemen's Night" at the Frothingham last night and a goodly number of the gallant fire fighters of the city were present to see the production of "Allatooona" by the clever amateurs who have so generously contributed their services to assist in swelling the fund for the new armory. The firemen were in uniform and were reinforced by many members of the city council fire department committees, who occupied seats in the boxes. Chief of the Fire Department H. F. Ferber was also seen in one of the boxes. The performance last night was given with much vim and spirit, and passed off very smoothly. There were no hitches of any kind, something so rare at amateur performances as to be worthy of note.

Miss Edith Norton, in the difficult role of the aristocratic southern woman, who loves the South and an Union officer at the same time, is winning golden opinions by the naturalness and finish of her acting. Eugene Ham, D. W. Seism, E. F. Kingsbury, Montrose Barnard, George B. Rice, F. A. Brandt, A. L. Wood, Larry Kerrick, and Miss Bertha Powell, Miss Frosia Harris and Miss Bessie Rice also show that they have a true conception of the requirements of the stage. Their intelligent, painstaking efforts result in a performance above the standard of many pretentious professional companies.

Captain Moir's Address. Between the second and third acts A. B. Holmes introduced Captain James Moir, who he said, was a warm friend of the firemen and would address them for a few minutes. In his introductory remarks Mr. Holmes apologized for the day afternoon and evening if the members of the firemen for the gallant work they do for the public and said that the members of the Thirtieth regiment felt under great obligation to them for the interest they have taken in the benefit.

This will be "Ladies' Night" at "Allatooona," and it is expected that the fair sex will be largely represented in the audience. Between the acts the Lyric Glee club, which is composed of the best singers in the valley, will render a number of selections. They will also sing on Friday night. The members of the club are T. G. Taylor, music director, tenors, Thomas Byron, W. D. Evans, Edwin Bowen, D. M. Davis; basses, John T. Watkins, P. H. Warren, R. J. Thomas, Moses P. Morgan and John W. Jones.

The generosity of William Connell in giving $2,000 to the fund has stimulated other Scrantonians to assist in a practical way the movement to secure a new armory for the Thirtieth regiment, which Governor Hastings described on Monday night as the first regiment of the state. Before the end of the week many other contributions will be announced.

Friday Benefit Matinee. On Friday afternoon "Ship Ahoy" will be given at the Academy of Music by the Aborn Opera company as a benefit for the armory fund. The diagram of reserved seats opens this morning at 3 o'clock at the Academy of Music box office.

The two little Lally children, who created such applause by their dancing in "The Brownies" and the recent Kirmess, will dance in every performance of "Allatooona" until its close. Souvenir photographs of Governor Hastings and his daughter are on sale at the performances of "Allatooona."

A Quick Cure for Headache. "My wife has used Hood's Pills, and says that they will cure her headache more quickly than anything else she knows of." T. M. Jenkins, care of Simpson Watkins, Carbondale, Pa.

HOOPER PILLS cure biliousness, indigestion. Reels, poles and hooks. Davidow Bros. For plumbing and electric bells telephone 232 to W. G. Doull & Co., 503 Lacka. ave. Cash paid for old gold and silver. Davidow Bros., 217 Lacka. ave.
