IN LOCAL THEATERS.

For one entire week, beginning Monday, April 29, the Bubb Comedy company, with full band and orchestra, will occupy the Academy of Music in a repertoire of popular comedy-dramas at popular prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents. A feature will be the popular priced matinee every day except Monday, when the price of admission will be 10 cents to all parts of the house. The opening bill is "A Kentucky Home;" Tuesday matinee, "East Lynne;" Tuesday evening, "Michael Strogoff." The Bath, Me., World says: "Excellent! That was the word used today in reference to the Bubb Comedy company, which made their initial appearance in this city at Columbia theater last evening in "Stars and Stripes." The parts were all admirably taken and the evening's performance went off with a 'snap' that called for repeated applause from the large audience. A pleasing feature of the evening was the first-class orchestra, led by James C. M. Fulton."

American dramatists and American dramas were never in such great demand as now. The wonderful success of such plays as "Shenandoah," "Alabama," "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and Bronson Howard's latest work, "Aristocracy," which is to be presented at the Frothingham Monday, April 29, has proved conclusively that we have all the material necessary for dramas of intense human interest right in our own country. The filthy and frothy French plays and the lurid English penny-dreadful melodrama has almost been driven from the field. "Aristocracy" will be warmly welcomed by fashionable audiences. It is probably Bronson Howard's most finished work. It will be presented with the original embellishments used during its long run at Palmer's theater and in Chicago, and with a brilliant company.

Stuart Robson and a company of carefully selected artists will present Bronson Howard's famous play, "Henrietta," at the Frothingham next Tuesday. Stuart Robson has a record of nearly forty years as a comedian, in which time he has been engaged in the labor of teaching and delighting at the same time, the most cultured and intelligent public in the world; yet, as Bertie, "the lamb," one would suppose that scarcely one-eighth that time had been given by the very youthful "Napoleon of Finance" to histrionic life. So immensely droll is he in this role that his very appearance evokes shouts of laughter from his audiences, whom, as Americans, are keenly alive to the humor of a thing, whether spoken or acted.

The Robinson Opera company will open a week's engagement at Davis' theater next Monday afternoon. This is one of the strongest comic opera combinations on the road, and is made up of such artists as Frank Deshon, Charles Meyer, John Young, Harry Dickeson, Lizzie Gonzalez, Laura Russell, Mattie Reeves, Harry Nelson and Frank French. The costumes are new and pretty and the company numbers twenty-five people.

Mr. and Mrs. John Holgate celebrated their fortieth anniversary at their pleasant home, Chinchilla, Thursday evening, April 25. The home was beautifully decorated with potted plants, and the number of invited friends all joined in a social good time and music. An elegant menu was served at 11.30. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Holgate assisted in waiting on the guests, which was done very creditably. They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, which showed the esteem in which they are held. Among some of the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Holgate, Lynn Holgate, Mabel Holgate, Bertha Holgate, of LaPlume; Miss E. E. Leach, of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Leach, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gernon, Mr. and Mrs. William Streater, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holgate, Mr. and Mrs. James Holgate, Mr. and Mrs. N. Mrs. Gardner, of 216 Larch street, entertained the members of her Sunday school class—No. 8 at the Penn Avenue Baptist church—at a supper last evening. A very pleasant time was spent by the company, who highly appreciated their teacher's kindness. The couple will leave today for Scranton, where they will reside.—Wednesday's Reading Herald.

Miss Kathryn Healey, of Wyoming avenue, and William J. Walsh, a hardware merchant, of Pittston, were wedded at St. Peter's Cathedral Wednesday morning. Miss Healey was attended by Miss Anna Wren, of Brooklyn. John McNamara, of Pittston, was groomsman. The ushers were John F. Regan and Peter Walsh, of Pittston. Rev. Father McHugh performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Walsh will reside on William street, Pittston.

Miss Belinda Culkin, of Main street, and James Maloney, of Phelps street, were married Wednesday noon in St. Paul's church, Green Ridge, by Rev. Father Dunn. Miss Belinda Roche, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and Patrick Grimes attended the groom. A reception at the bride's home was attended by only the immediate friends and relatives.

STORY OF WALDENSES.

It Will Be Told by the Rev. F. Roston.

Rev. F. Rostan, of Italy, who represents the church of the Vaudois, will preach in this city tomorrow. In the morning he will preach at the Second Presbyterian church, and the First Presbyterian church in the evening.

The story of the Waldenses is one of thrilling interest, and Mr. Rostan, who is an eloquent Italian, will tell it in his discourses. It is of interest to note that he takes the place of the distinguished Mattes Prochet, who preached in Scranton last year.

NEWS OF THE RAILROADS.

F. W. Pearsall will preach at the New York Street Mission chapel tomorrow evening.

Engineer John H. Smith, of Washburn street, who was injured by falling from a gondola, will resume work today.

Tomorrow afternoon's meeting at the association rooms will be for men only, and will, as all testimony meetings are, be of unusual interest.

The funeral of William Hunter, late of the saw shops, will be held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, when funeral services will be held at St. Luke's church.

The Carbondale station of the Delaware and Hudson railroad is being renovated, but the residents suggest that a new building would be more acceptable.

J. Kistta, clerk at the Delaware and Hudson depot, who has been an invalid for some time, was able to take out-door exercise yesterday, and reported that he was gradually gaining strength.

A detective has been sent by the Central Jersey railroad from Mauch Chunk to collect evidence with regard to the death of Frank Gankowski, who was killed on Thursday on the tracks near Bellevue.

A regular meeting of the Ladies' auxiliary was held yesterday afternoon, when considerable routine business was transacted. A committee was appointed to call upon the afflicted family of the late John McDevett to offer any assistance that could be rendered.

It is probable that a Ladies' auxiliary will soon be organized in connection with the Moses Taylor lodge of Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Application has been made and the necessary information supplied, and there is every indication that a flourishing auxiliary will soon be in existence.

Sanitary improvements are being carried out at the Railroad Young Men's Christian association rooms, and no one will dispute their necessity. The condition of all the rooms was unbearable yesterday. Despite the opening of doors and windows, the ventilation was miserable, owing to the low ceilings.

Railroad men take a deep interest in the great coal war, and were rejoicing yesterday in the probability of a big boom on the local railroads next month. On the Delaware and Hudson prospects are much brighter as the lakes and canals will soon be open for navigation, and an improved trade is sure to follow.

During the week a large number of railroaders have discussed the question affecting the boycott on Hackett, Carhart & Co., and were unanimous in condemning the insinuation that John R. Troch and Cornelius Swartz, who acted as arbitrators, had either been "duped or bought." It is well known that the two engineers undertook the unpleasant duty as zealous labor men, and were loath in undertaking the office until it was pressed upon them. Their standing in Scranton is sufficient to refute the idea that they are men of character who can be bought, and are too shrewd to be duped. After the ungrateful manner in which their efforts were received, it is improbable that they will again attempt such an unthankful task.

Next fall the employes of the various railroads, who attended the air brake lectures given at the association rooms, will be subjected to an examination, with a view to being granted certificates of competency. As the matter has not been much discussed since the lectures were held, it is felt that there is a danger of the would-be candidates neglecting their studies, and postpone their preparations for the ordeal until near the time. The lectures demonstrated that the subject is full of difficult technicalities and embraced many points requiring intimate knowledge of the mechanism of the brake and valves, so that railroaders cannot afford to neglect the opportunity of preparing immediately. It is pointed out, by those who can speak with authority upon the matter, that those holding certificates will be in the front ranks for promotion and efficient service.

DANIEL'S BARREL OF ALE

Got It to Treat Friends When He Opened His Temperance House.

NEVER ACCEPTED MONEY FOR IT

Samuel Davis Charged with a Serious Assault on Mike Lach—Patrick O'Brien Enters a Plea of Guilty and Gets Four Months in the County Jail.

"I had a barrel of ale at my place, but I got it to treat friends who called when I opened my temperance house at the Notch. I did not sell any of it." That is the story that Daniel Wallersfield told a jury in court yesterday morning. Daniel was accused of selling liquor to minors and without a license, and several witnesses swore that they drank intoxicants at his place, but never paid anything for it. At noon the jury retired, and when court adjourned was till struggling with the guilt or innocence of Mr. Wallersfield.

Samuel Davis was put on trial before Judge Gunster, in the main court room, charged with aggravated assault and battery on Mike Lach. The men worked in the Marvine shaft and it is alleged that Davis one day, while in a playful spirit, shied a large piece of coal at Lach, who was passing a car in which Davis was sitting. This occurred in the mine. The coal was thrown with such accuracy that it caught Lach between the lower portion of the ear and the collar and he was rendered unconscious. In court yesterday he exhibited an ugly scar, the result of the wound he received.

Davis Made a Denial.

The defendant was put upon the stand and denied that he threw the coal that hit Lach and he produced several witnesses who coroborated his story. At 3.30 the case was given to the jury, which agreed and sealed its verdict soon after court adjourned.

Patrick O'Brien pleaded guilty to having stabbed L. P. Moon in the arm with a file and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50, costs and spend four months in the county jail. Mr. Moon is an engine wiper in the Central Railroad of New Jersey roundhouse at Bellevue, and one night last February, O'Brien, who lived in that neighborhood, got on one of the engines and refused to leave when requested by Mr. Moon. The latter then ejected the intruder, who retaliated by stabbing him in the arm.

Stephen Howey was called to explain why he assaulted and battered John Jelinski, as charged in the indictment against him. The prosecution failed to put in an appearance and a verdict of not guilty was taken and the costs charged up to Mr. Jelinski.

Conrad Vernon, who was tried Thursday on a charge of forgery, was acquitted of that charge but convicted of the second count of the indictment, that of uttering and publishing an order for payment of money.

Mary Is Very Contrary.

Mary Snyder, the Pittston young woman who ran away from the Florence Mission last winter, taking a quantity of goods belonging to the institution with her, admitted her guilt, and was told by Judge Gunster that she could go back to the mission if she desired, but that if she refused to do so he would have to sentence her to a term of imprisonment in the county jail. She decided to go to jail and will be sentenced today.

Pleas of guilty were entered by Joseph Bedochas, Anthony Bunos and Motta Muskimas, who were charged with malicious mischief by Agnes Rostosky. The men are charged with wrecking the prosecutrix' house at the Ridge, near Archbald, on Sept. 23 last, during the disturbance that resulted in the murder of Joseph Clute by John Sylvester Rostosky. They were directed to pay fines of $1 and costs, and succeeded in getting discharged under the insolvency act.

George Combrazkus, John Dresh and John Schiduck were put on trail before Judge Edwards for feloniously wounding Alfred Banfield. The prosecutor testified that on Feb. 27 last about 10 o'clock in the morning the defendants interfered with workmen at the Rough and Ready breaker at Throop, and he ordered them away, whereupon they attacked and cruelly beat him.

Dresh Cut His Eye Out.

Mr. Hamilton, a watchman at the breaker, corroborated the story of Mr. Banfield, and swore that during the scrimmage John Dresh cut his eye out, and for a time his life was despared of. He recognized the defendants as the persons who committed the assault.

The defense was an abili and they produced several witnesses who testified that the three accused men were in their beds, sleeping the sleep of the innocent and peaceful, at the time the outrageous assault was committed. When court adjourned the jurors were deliberating on the case.

Patrick J. McHale Is Held in Bail for Selling Liquor Without a License.

Patrick J. McHale, of 346 First street, was arrested yesterday and brought before Alderman Fitzsimmons to answer to a charge of selling liquor without a license, and selling liquor on Sunday. The information was sworn by a Mrs. Collins, and after hearing the evidence the alderman dismissed the charge and placed the costs on the prosecutor.

In a short time, however, Constables Wilson and Byars arrested McHale upon a similar charge, and he was brought before Alderman O. B. Wright, who heard the evidence and held the prisoner in $500 bail on each charge to appear at court.
