MR. HYLAND OF DRIFTON. Forced to Use His Face for a Plough at Oliphant.

Thomas Hyland, of Drifton, Luzerne county, and two friends from Providence, went to Oliphant Sunday to visit friends, and about 2 p. m. Collins was preparing to board a street car for the return journey. The two Providence men mounted the platform without difficulty, but just as Hyland grasped the rail, he alleges that the motorman turned on the power, and he was dragged for about thirty yards in this position, and during the time he held on his face was bruised to such a degree that his eye was bugged up, and a serious cut inflicted on his head.

Logan, D.D., read the second part of his paper on "The Historic Relation of the Presbyterian Church to the Evangelization and Education of the Black Race in America" before the meeting of the Presbyterian pastors yesterday morning. The paper was listened to with the greatest interest by the pastors present, who joined in complimenting Dr. Logan upon the line of thought and the attacks upon the question, for which the reverend gentleman was thanked by his colleagues.

DEATH OF COLONEL LEWIS

He Was Very Active in Public Affairs During His Life.

BRILLIANT MILITARY RECORD Served During the War of the Rebellion and Was Afterward a Prominent Figure in National Guard of State—Member of Legislature.

Colonel T. D. Lewis died last night at 9 o'clock at his home at Main avenue and Putnam street, after an illness of over five years. For three years he had been confined to his home.

Some time ago he fell and dislocated his shoulder and last Thursday was seized with a paralytic stroke, which caused his death. He became unconscious Friday morning and, with the exception of a brief period Sunday morning, never recovered consciousness. He is survived by a wife and four children, Lemie, Jessie, Samuel and Wilfred.

Colonel Lewis was born in Wales Jan. 14, 1846, but was brought to this country by his parents when but two months old. They located in Minersville, Schuylkill county.

After receiving a common school education he was apprenticed to a drugist, but ran away and enlisted in Company F of the Forty-eighth regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers. He was then less than 18 years of age.

He served until the end of the war, and participated in many engagements, notably the Wilderness, Spottsylvania, Cold Harbor, and Petersburg. He was by order of Governor Geary placed in command of the provisional battalion during the Scranton riots of 1859, and retained this command until 1872. He became lieutenant colonel of the Ninth regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, in 1875, and was mustered out in 1878.

He was afterward major and commissary of the Third brigade, on the staff of General Sigfried. In suppression of the riotous in this city, Hazleton and Lehigh Valley, he figured prominently. He was commander of Lieutenant Ezra Griffin post, No. 139, Grand Army of the Republic.

Member of the legislature. Colonel Lewis was elected to the legislature from this district for the term of 1878-80. He was for many years a member of the board of control. With the North End section of the city he was especially identified, having conducted the Lewis street school for nearly five years, retiring from business about one year ago.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

FINE COMPANY OF ACTORS. Opened a Week's Engagement at the Academy of Music.

One of the best companies that ever appeared in a Scranton theater at popular prices opened a week's engagement last night in the Academy of Music.

The company is Bubbe's Comedy company and contains several artists of rare ability. Not the least, pleasing part of the attraction is a band and orchestra that will compare favorably with many excellent musical bodies that have appeared in this city.

A Kenton House was presented last night. Miss Ethel Fuller delighted the audience in her finished and true interpretation of Lucille Carlyle. Will C. Corbett as Victor Blanchard and John J. Tucker as Dudley Middleton were greeted with the applause and consideration given their two important parts.

Miss Mary Arkwright, Miss Mary Tucker, Miss Lillian Morrey, J. F. Kelley, H. W. Mitchell, G. Conant and H. Webb were the other members of the very creditable cast.

This afternoon "East Lynn" will be presented, and "Stars and Stripes" is announced for tonight. The matinee performance is 10 cents to any part of the house. For the night performances, 10, 20 and 30 cents is charged. No play will be presented a second time.

A WEEK OF MUSIC. Robinson Opera Company Appeared at the Davis Theater Yesterday.

Manager Davis has reserved one of the best attractions of the entire season until this week and there is no doubt that the Robinson Opera company will attract the crowded houses which their performances merit.

CHANGES AT SOUTH WORKS

New Mechanical Devices That Have Been Put in Operation.

THEY SIMPLIFY RAIL-MAKING New Device for Carrying Rails from the Rolls That is Working Successfully—Improved Method of Loading Rails on Cars.

Recent changes at the South works of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company, in the mechanical arrangements, have, by the substitution of machinery for manual labor, increased the capacity of the mill 25 per cent.

Three weeks ago the mill shut down for a week for repairs and when work was resumed a change was observed in the handling of the hot rails at the rolls. The workmen were amazed at the simplicity and ease that the rail traveled from one station to the other, doing away with the necessity of using heavy bars to give it a momentum and heavier bars to lift it from one bed to the other. The changes were made at the finishing rolls and the rail no longer slipped along on the apron or "slummers" rollers that were worked by the speed of the rail as it emerged from the rolls. It now moves on live rollers, operated by a small stationary engine. There are three horizontal sets of live rollers, where there used to be inclined planes. When the rail comes through the rolls, it is used to come with sufficient speed to carry the lead rolls along with it up the incline, and on the rollers the rail would roll down the plane by the force of gravity and carry the rail back to the rolls.

One Trouble Obliterated. The trouble that the live rollers obliterated is that which had to be met by the workmen in pushing the dead rolls up the incline in order to give the new rail that came from the rough rolls an impetus. Sometimes the workmen would not have to do this because another set of rollers might have rolled the spools up the incline simultaneously with the coming of a fresh rail from the other rolls. But if both rails did not meet the workmen would have to roll the spools up like a schoolboy would roll a snowball up against grade, and that operation caused a good deal of lost time.

The live rollers are level and the speed of the rail coming from the rolls does not vary. If the rollers are reversed in carrying a new rail to the rolls. Reduced to a nutshell it is this, a boy sits in a nook and watches the coming of the rail; he has his hands on two levers, and without any exertion moves these big, hot bars at will, and does the work that a half dozen brassy artisans formerly spent energy and lost much sweat to accomplish.

Narrow Escape of a Child. The life of a little girl about 6 years of age was not worth much for a few seconds yesterday evening. She attempted to cross Pittston avenue at Elm street ahead of an approaching street car bound toward the central city and she fell on the track. A man on his way from work saw the danger of the child and rushed instantly to her assistance, with one sweep of his arm catching her up and removing her from the path of the wheels.

News in Brier Form. Miss Lizzie Hillz, of Pittston avenue, has returned from a visit to Tunkhannock.

The meeting last night of the South Scranton Building and Loan association was a most important one to the organization. Every member was present and the treasurer was busy receiving the monthly payments. The treasury had been almost depleted owing to the rush made for loans by the stockholders who are preparing to build.

James Donovan, well known on the South side, died at the Hillside Home Sunday, and the funeral was held yesterday afternoon, interment being made in Hyde Park Catholic cemetery. Ten years ago Donovan was one of the best workmen at the South steel mill. One fine morning after another followed until, finally, about eight months ago, he landed in the insane department of the Hillside Home.

NEWS OF THE SOUTH SIDE

Funeral of Patrick E. Roach, of Pittston Avenue—Sermon by Father Moffitt. Death of James Donovan, Formerly of the South Side—Little Girl Who Ran in Front of an Electric Car.

A very large concourse of the friends and acquaintances attended the funeral of the late Patrick E. Roach, of Pittston avenue, yesterday morning. The remains were borne to St. John's church on Pitt street, and at 9:30 a high mass of requiem was begun by Rev. Father Moffitt, the end of which was presided a beautiful sermon from the text, "We know not the day nor the hour, for death comes like a thief in the night." After preaching on the shortness of time and the length of eternity, he urged Moffitt toward the upright life of the deceased.

Branch 85, Catholic Mutual Benefit association, attended the funeral, and from that organization the pall-bearers were selected, as follows: Matthew Roche, John O'Boyle, James P. Lavelle and Charles Brown. From among the employees of the Scranton Axle works, where the deceased was employed, Edward Mahar and James Humford were selected. The flower bearers were Martin Brown and James Lavelle. The remains were interred in Hyde Park Catholic cemetery.
