WILKES-BARRE.

The Tribune has opened a branch office at No. 29, Laming building, Public Square, Wilkes-Barre, for the transaction of business. The publishers propose to extend the circulation of The Tribune in Wilkes-Barre and the surrounding towns, and to that end will present a very complete department of Luzerne county news. For success in this undertaking dependence is placed solely upon the superiority of The Tribune as a purveyor of all the news of the day-domestic, foreign, local, commercial and financial. The general interests of the people of Wilkes-Barre and the Wyoming valley will have in The Tribune an earnest advocate, editorially and otherwise, It is the purpose of the publishers to issue a newspaper as valuable the transactions. otherwise, It is the purpose of the pullishers to issue a newspaper as valuable to the general public as the metropolitan dailes, and deliver it to the people throughout northeastern Pennsylvania from three to five hours earlier than the Philadelphia and New York papers can reach them!

THE HENDRICKS TRIAL.

Important Witnesses on the Stand-Hendricks' Numerous Confessions.

Ray Boyer, the woman at whose house Hendricks lived, was again on the witsion, but if she tells the truth now, then Hendricks was undoubtedly one of the 1.150. Score: nsurderers of Barney Reick. She testifled that about 8 o'clock on the evening of the murder Hendricks and one of the others came to her house with their hands covered with blood, that after having washed themselves Hendricks drew a roll of bills from his pocket and the two sat down at a table and divided the money. They stated to her that they had robbed Barney Reick and Hendricks also admitted that he struck Reick harder than he intended to. One of the men gave her $10 of the money.

The next witness was Detective Simpson, who was largely instrumental in bringing Hendricks within reach of the law. Simpson detailed how he had assumed the role of a criminal and been lodged in the county jail in a cell adjoining that of Hendricks and won the latter's confidence. After Hendricks' discharge from jail Simpson managed to keep track of him and finally met him in Hoboken, New York and Brooklyn. Hendricks, supposing Simpson to be a fellow criminal, talked freely to him about the killing of Reick, as freely, in fact, as he had to the Boyer woman During the course of their interviews in New York and Hoboken Hendricks suggested other crimes; among them a plan for robbing an express car of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company. He also admitted that he knew all about the blowing up of the Italian boarding house on the mountain near Laurel Run, and that he had received a portion of the money secured from that robbery. The evidence of Detective Simpson was very much the same as that of the other detective who operated with him, and to whom Hendricks had also made admissions similar to those made to Simpson and to the woman.

The last witness examined yesterday was Mr. McSweeney, of the Barring & McSweeney detective agency. His evidence was merely corroborative of that of the two detectives, Simpson and Keighron. The witnesses for the prosecution have all been frightfully badgered by the counsel for the defense, their purpose evidently being to impress the jury with the idea that detectives have a financial interest in convicting the accused. Court adjourned at 6 o'clock with McSweeney still on the stand.

ANGRY HAZLETONIANS.

They Threaten Political Retaliation fo the Defeat of the Quay County Bill.

A number of the people of Hazleton are so angry over the defeat of the Quay county bill that they are threatening to retaliate on the Republican party of Luzerne. Senator Quay also comes under the displeasure of these angry people. It appears that an earnest appeal was made to the senator to go to Harrisburg and exert his influence in behalf of the new county that tor Dodson, Robert Tubbs, and Reighwas to be named in his honor. Evident- ter Gordon. ly the senator declined to do this and it is even now proposed to drop the name of Quay and return to the original Hazle. The Hazleton Sentinel says that resolved to send strong committees to effort to pass the bill before the present session of the legislature ends. Threats are thrown out that the Republicans of the lower end of the county will here after act independently in local politics and in this way inflict punishment on the party brethren at the county seat.

There is no question that the political revolution which has in recent years made Luzerne county Republican is in large measure attributable to the work of the Republicans in Hazleton and that section. There are good politicians in that end of the county, as is shown by the fact that they have wrested the state senatorship and the congressman from the Wilkes-Barre end. The Republicans of the county seat took this in good part and thought the lower end might remain content in the old county. There is no doubt that the Hazleton new county boomers will make one more desperate effort to reverse the action of the house in the new county bill, and unless the county seat oppor ents of division do something to resist the onslaught it may yet succeed.

The people of Wilkes-Barre are no by any means a unit in opposition to the new county project. There are many here who quietly sympathize with the lower end people and would not be at all sorry to see them set up for themselves. Politically the lower end is an uncertainty quantity, and the cutting off of that section would mak the balance of old Luzerne more as suredly Republican in ordinary campaigns. If the new county project fails and the lower end Republicans carry out their threats of retallation the party will have rough sledding in Luzerne next November.

ARCHITECT MEYERS AGAIN.

He Comes to Town and Has an Interview with the Commissioners.

Architect Meyers, the elder, came to town unheralded on Thursday and he had a private interview with the commissioners before it became generally known that he was here. He respectfully, but very decidedly, declined to be interviewed by the newspaper men, welu treated by the local press. It is unofficially announced that Mr. Meyers has brought his perfected plans for the million-dollar court house with him, but that he will not at this time make a peremptory demand for the payment under the provisions of his one-sided contract with the county commission-this stage of the game and neither do the commissioners. The fact that the county treasurer has announced his determination to refuse to pay the $10,000 unless ordered to do so by the court has had the effect of making all concerned more conservative. The relations existing between the architect and the commissioners are entirely har-monious, but the outside feeling against architect and commissioners is intensely hostile, and is growing more so every day. There probably is an understanding between the former and the commissioners by which the former will defer making a demand for the second instalment of $10,000, as such a demand yould only intensify the popular indignation at this time, when it is very desirable to allay and pacify public wrath.

WILKES-BARRE LOSES ONE. Nine Errors and Meckin's Poor Pitching

Did It. Wilkes-Barre deserved to lose yesterday's game for such erratic fielding as the team put up. The day's work in the box for the visitors was a shining conness stand during the morning session of the court. The woman admitted and Eagan put up great games, and having sworn falsely on a former occa-Griffin and Lytle made two star trast to that of Meekin. Both Moss catches. Weather, fine; attendance,

Young People Dance.

Last evening a very pleasant dance was given by Mrs. H. H. Derr for her son, Olin, and her three nieces, Marjorie Dow, Natilie Young and Ruth Goff. Oppenheim furnished the music and the young people enjoyed them selves immensely until about midnight. Those present were: Misses Natilie Young, Marjorie Dow, Ruth Goff, Guida Brotherhood, Laura Hand, Eleanor Murray, Grace Fogel, Grace Post, May Post, Ruth Morgan, Helen Dodge, Mol-lle Jordan, Alice Rhone, Arline Frantz, Dorothy Dickson, Bessle Leach, Nora Wood, Louise Stark, Ruth Struthers Fanny Asborne, Marjorle Scott, Alice Leavenworth, Ida Hansen, Jessie Betterly, Lydia Patten, Flora Martin, Lella Hemstreet, Edna Fregans, Kitty Frantz, Edith Powell, Mable Deemer, Clair Tubbs, and Louise Nugent, of Kingston, and Lena Mercur, of Pitts-ton; Messrs. Wilkes-Barre's Streets

Wilkes-Barre can be congratulated on its street-cleaning service. It may be questioned if any other city in the that section have held conferences and state can boast of cleaner or betterkept streets than are those in Wilkes-Barre. This refers, of course, to the asphalted ones, which are thoroughly swent daily and the accumulations carted away. There are several important streets that ought to be asphaked, notably South Main below South, North Main above Union, Washington and Canal their entire length, and Northampton between Main and Canal. If these streets were properly paved Wilkes-Barre would be able to poast of the best streets of any city in the state. The streets alluded to were some years ago covered either with cobbles or wooden blocks, and the property owners appear to be content to have them remain in their present wretched condition. As a consequence, these streets are avoided as much a possible, property is depreciated in value and they do not receive their proportion of business that would seek location there if they were properly

About 2 o'clock Friday morning an explosion occurred at the Schooley shaft, which is operated by the Butler Mine company, and by which five men were fearfully burned, and one, at least, may die from the effects of his injuries.

John Jenoski is most seriously burned and his condition is critical. Age about 26 years, George Belchus, burned, not so dangerously, about back, head, arms and hands; age about 26 years. Frank Pelrosti, burned less seriously about arms and back. His age is about 24. Joseph Koscensky, burned on back and hands. He is about 27 years of age. These four were taken to the hospital, but the other man, John Kilcullen, not quite so badly burned, was taken to his home in Exeter borough. mine chamber, about 700 feet from the perb quality. shaft, four of the men were working. Two were miners and two were labor ers.. This was not a gas explosion, but was a powder explosion. The best ex-planation obtainable is that the men were making cartridges and by some means let fire communicate with the powder. No other way can the disappearance of two kegs of powder that were known to have been in the mine be accounted for. Where gas might have accumulated no damage at all was done to the mine.
