SETBACK TO PATRIOTISM

House Refuses to Pass the Landis Bill in Original Form.

DEBATES OF MORNING SESSION

The Andrews Bill Killed by a Very Decisive Vote. Judge Gordon Exonerated—Bills Passed by Ways and Means Committee.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Philadelphia, May 8.—The patriotic societies received their first setback today in the house by the refusal of that body to pass finally the Landis bill in its original form.

The sentiment of the house seems to be against the bill and its friends are fearful they cannot muster enough votes to put it through the final stage.

Almost the entire morning session was consumed in debating on this bill. It was on the calendar among the senate bills for third reading and was taken up soon after the opening of the session.

The country members objected to the proposition in its original form on the ground that it would impose a heavy expense upon the school districts in the purchase of flags.

Chairman Niles reported from the general judiciary committee a statement of its action on the petition of James W. M. Newlin, of Philadelphia, charging Judge Gordon with holding secret court in violation of the bill of rights, and asking that impeachment proceedings be instituted against the justice.

JAPAN'S PROBABLE COURSE

Eastern Dispatches Regarding Liaotung Are Doubtful at Washington.

ITO'S REPORTED RESIGNATION

The Count May Withdraw from the Cabinet of the Emperor—Domestic Security Will Be Endangered by a Backdown.

Washington, May 8.—All advices received here continue to throw doubt upon the statements made by European newspapers as to Japan having backed down at the last moment and modified the provisions of the treaty entered into with China.

The permanent occupation of Manchuria, upon which Japan at first insisted, was abandoned before the treaty was signed, and Japan also consented to reduce in the amount the war indemnity. As stated in the United Press dispatches several days ago, Japan has agreed to make certain concessions regarding her control of the Liaotung Peninsula, but that she has agreed to renounce all control over this territory is disbelieved, notwithstanding the dispatches from Europe and the far East.

It is said to be a probability that Count Ito may resign as the head of the emperor's cabinet as a result of the moderate concessions heretofore reported. An absolute backdown on the part of Japan would endanger the domestic security of the empire.

It is hoped that final and authoritative information as to the exact terms of the peace conditions ratified at Chefoo today will be received by tonight or tomorrow morning.

Lectures Young People for Looking at Them and They Do It Again.

Bytown Depot, L. L., May 8.—Rev. George Adams, of the Bytown Methodist church, surprised the young lady members of the Sunday school Sunday by reprimanding them for looking at the bicycles which were on display in the church the previous Sunday before the services closed to look at the hundred bicyclers who passed through the village on their century run.

It is generally thought the pastor will speak with greater severity to the young people. The latter do not appear to be discouraged, but they will leave the Sunday school again if they desire.

YOUNG WARRIORS FOILED.

American Boys Who Started to Free Cuba Brought Home in Disgrace.

New York, May 8.—On the Ward Line steamship Seneca, which arrived today from Havana, were Gordon Thomson and Travors Harman, students at the University of Virginia, who went to Cuba to join the insurgents. They left New York on the Yumuri on April 27, and were hardly outside Sandy Hook when their parents telegraphed to the department asking to have them arrested.

When the Yumuri reached Havana she was boarded by a file of Spanish soldiers and Mr. Dale, the United States consular representative, who says they were kept prisoners on the steamer until transferred to the Seneca. Neither set foot on Cuban soil.

DISCRIMINATING CLERK.

Conspires with an Elopement Couple, but Checks Love's Young Dream.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 8.—Miss Mary McLinden and William Nutt, of Greensburg, eloped and came to this city, they were married last night, says Miss McLinden said her parents objected to the marriage.

Samuel Lilley, a middle-aged farmer, with Ella Mountjoy, 16 years old, drove to this city from Marshall, Ill., today to be married, but the county clerk refused to issue a license.

The couple left saying they would go to some other county in search of a clerk who would overlook the would-be bride's youth.

KILLED IN THE MINE.

A Fatal Accident Brought to Light By a Dream.

Kittanning, Pa., May 8.—Two brothers named Hawk, who lived in a shanty near Madison, with two other men, went into the mine with them on Saturday morning to work. The brothers did not come out in the afternoon, and that night one of their companions dreamed that they had been killed.

He descended into the mine Sunday afternoon and found that his dream was true. Under a great pile of fallen slate he found the brothers, one dead and the other just expiring. The latter died soon after being brought out. He had been under the slate for nearly twenty-four hours.

ACTRESSES WITHOUT MONEY.

Say They Will Reach New York if They Have to Walk.

Pittsburg, May 8.—Marie Worthington and Fannie Hassel, two well-dressed actresses, called at the office of the department of charities and asked for transportation to New York. The superintendent said he was not authorized to issue the tickets.

The young ladies, after weeping, said they would get to New York if they had to walk every step of the way. The company they were with disbanded at Marietta, O.
